REGULATIONS UNDER "THE QUARANTINE AND PREVENTION OF DISEASES ORDINANCE, 1897."

[Extract from the Ceylon Government Gazette of November 30, 1900.]

The following regulations in supersession of those dated August 6, 1900, and published in Ceylon Government Gazette Extraordinary, No. 5709 of August 11, 1900, made by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council under the provisions of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897, are published for general information.

NOTE 1.—The term "proper authority" in the following regulations shall mean—

(a) Wherever there shall be established a Municipality, the Chairman of the Municipal Council, or the Principal Civil Medical Officer, or the Colonial Surgeon of the Province, or the Health Officer of the Municipality, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.

(b) Wherever there shall be established a Local Board, the Chairman of the Local Board, or the Assistant Government Agent of the District, or the District Judge, or the Police Magistrate, or the Chief Medical Officer resident within the Local Board limits, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.

(c) Wherever there shall be no Municipality or Local Board established, the Government Agent of the Province, or the Assistant Government Agent of the district, or the Police Magistrate of the division, or the Colonial Surgeon of the Province, or the Chief Medical Officer of the district or place, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.

NOTE 2.—The term "health officer" shall mean any person appointed by the Governor to exercise authority in regard to sanitary matters in any port, or, where no such person has been appointed, the medical officer of the district or place.

NOTE 3.—The term "coasting vessel" shall mean a vessel coming from any one part of the Island of Ceylon to any other part thereof, or from any place on the east coast of India south of Madras, or from Mangalore or any place on the west coast of India south of Mangalore.

NOTE 4.—The term "goods" shall mean goods, wares and merchandise, furniture, packets, packages, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or any other article whatsoever, and shall include animals.

NOTE 5.—The term "disease" shall mean any disease of a contagious, infectious, or epidemic nature.

NOTE 6.—The term "diseased" shall mean infected or suspected of being infected with "disease."

PART I.

Regulations with regard to all Diseases of a Contagious, Infectious or Epidemic Nature.

1. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat in which there shall have been any disease before departure from the original port of clearance or during the voyage, or which shall have come from any port or place in which at the time of her leaving there was disease, or on which there shall be any person affected with disease, or which shall have communicated otherwise than by signal with any vessel, boat, or place in which disease existed or might be reasonably supposed to have existed, shall not enter any port or harbour, and shall not allow any person to land from such vessel or boat, or to leave such vessel or boat, save by the order in writing of the proper authority.

2. The master or person in charge of such a vessel or boat shall, before entering the port or harbour, hoist at the fore by day a yellow flag, and by night a red light over a white light six feet apart, hoisted well up where best seen; and after the hoisting of such flag or light such vessel or boat shall be deemed in quarantine.

3. The master or person in charge of such a vessel or boat shall anchor or moor such vessel at such place as shall be pointed out by the Master Attendant or some person acting on his behalf, and shall not leave such place without the permission in writing of the Master Attendant or some person acting on his behalf; and until the master or person in charge of such vessel or boat has received such permission such vessel or boat shall be deemed in quarantine.

4. If at any time a case of disease shall occur on board a vessel or boat in any port or harbour, or during the period a vessel or boat is in quarantine under regulations 2 and 3, the said vessel or boat shall be placed in quarantine or remain in quarantine from the date of such case for a period of ten days should the disease be plague, for a period of five days should the disease be cholera, and for any other disease for such period as the Principal Civil Medical Officer shall fix, and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in regulations 3 and 5.

5. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat in quarantine shall keep a yellow flag constantly flying at the foremast of such vessel or boat, or in some conspicuous place on such vessel or boat, from sunrise to sunset, and from sunset to sunrise shall exhibit a red light over a white light six feet apart, hoisted well up where best seen. The display of such flag and such light shall be sufficient notice that such vessel or boat and the land or sea surrounding the same to a distance of fifty yards are in quarantine.

6. The health officer shall go on board of every vessel or boat entering any port or harbour, and shall grant pratique to such vessel or boat, subject always to the limitations contained in these regulations.

7. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat, and every person on board such vessel or boat, shall answer truly every question put to him by the health officer.

8. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat and, if there be a surgeon on board such vessel or boat, the surgeon shall, before the pilot or health officer shall come on board such vessel or boat, truly and fully inform such pilot or health officer if there shall have been any disease on board such vessel or boat before departure from the original port of clearance or during the voyage, or if such vessel or boat shall have come from any port or place in which there was disease, or if there be any person affected with disease on board such vessel or boat, or if such vessel or boat shall have communicated otherwise than by signal with any vessel, boat, or place in which disease existed or might be reasonably supposed to have existed.

9. The master or person in charge of a vessel shall not allow any boat of such vessel to be lowered, or any boat whatsoever to lie alongside such vessel, before such vessel shall have obtained pratique, except for the purpose of saving life or for the purpose of mooring such vessel. The master or person in charge of a vessel which has lowered a boat for the purpose of having life or of mooring such vessel shall cause such boat to be hoisted up immediately thereafter.

10. No person shall approach within fifty yards of a vessel or boat not admitted to pratique. No person shall leave any vessel or boat not admitted to pratique, nor shall any person transmit or receive any article or thing from any vessel not admitted to pratique, without the permission of the proper authority.

11. No goods shall be removed from any vessel in quarantine, save to such place and under such restrictions and subject to such detention and disinfection as shall be prescribed by the Principal Officer of Customs of the port.

12. The proper authority may order the destruction of any prohibited goods or goods believed to be contaminated brought from any vessel in quarantine. No compensation shall in such case be paid to any person. The owner and consignee of the goods and the master or person in charge of the vessel by which they were carried shall pay the cost of the destruction thereof.

13. A diseased person may, in the discretion of the health officer, be removed from any vessel to a quarantine station or hospital.

14. The Principal Civil Medical Officer shall fix the number of days during which a vessel shall remain in quarantine, subject to the limitations contained in these regulations.

15. No person shall approach within fifty yards of a vessel in quarantine, and no person shall leave a vessel in quarantine, save with the permission in writing of the health officer and under such restrictions as shall be by him prescribed.

16. The proper authority shall, wherever expedient, establish a quarantine station, a hospital, and a place of observation, and shall affix thereto a notice setting out that the same is a quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation. Such place shall thereafter be deemed to be a quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation, as the case may be, within the meaning of these regulations.

17. No person shall approach within one hundred yards of any quarantine station or hospital so established. Any person approaching within one hundred yards of any quarantine station or hospital, or of any vessel or boat in quarantine, may be removed to a quarantine station, in addition to any penalty imposed for a breach of the regulations.

18. The conveyance of passengers from any place in India to any place not being a Customs port is prohibited.

19. The conveyance of passengers to any place in this Island from any place in India in any vessel or boat not having a bill of health is prohibited.

20. Any vessel or boat in which passengers are conveyed in breach of the preceding regulations shall be forfeited.

21. No person or goods coming in or brought by a coasting vessel from any port or place in India shall land or be landed anywhere on the coast of the Northern Province of this Island or on any island adjacent thereto or on the west coast of this Island between Colombo and the southern limit of the Northern Province or on any island adjacent to such west coast; provided that nothing in this regulation shall be taken as prohibiting the landing of goods from any such vessel or boat at the port of Kayts.

Any goods landed in contravention of the provisions of this regulation, and any vessel or boat from which any person or goods may land or be landed in contravention of the provisions of this regulation, shall be liable to forfeiture and may be seized by any Police or Customs Officer, and may be destroyed or otherwise disposed of as the Principal Collector of Customs shall direct.

22. Whenever upon the arrival of any coasting vessel at any place in Ceylon there are found on board—

(a) Persons who are unable to satisfy the health officer as to their place of origin, it shall be lawful for the proper authority to remove such persons from the vessel and to place them under observation at any place of observation for a period not exceeding ten days;

(b) Persons coming from a place within an area in which epidemic disease exists, it shall be lawful for the proper authority to remove such persons from the vessel and to place them under observation at any place of observation for a period of ten days should the disease be plague, for a period of five days should the disease be cholera, and in the case of other epidemic disease for such period as the Principal Civil Medical Officer shall fix.

23. Any Asiatic or African passenger coming to any place in Ceylon in a vessel coming from any place in this Island, or from any place in India where an officer of the Ceylon Government is stationed for the purpose of regulating immigration, and who shall not hold a permit to land in Ceylon granted by the said officer of the Ceylon Government, shall be liable to the restrictions imposed by rule 22 (a) in the same manner as for persons who are unable to satisfy the health officer as to their place of origin.

24. Any medical practitioner, or person professing to treat disease, attending any diseased person shall within three hours of such attendance give information in writing to the proper authority, stating the name of the diseased person, his residence, and the nature of his disease.

Every occupant of any building in which there shall be any person affected with any serious illness shall forthwith inform the proper authority thereof.

25. No person shall, without the written permission of the proper authority, enter or go away from any quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation.

26. Whenever it shall appear to him expedient, the proper authority shall give notice by beat of tom-tom and by affixing written notice in conspicuous places, requiring that the walls of any building in any town, village, or place shall be whitewashed and cleaned and disinfected, and the drains, sewers, pits, and cesspits cleaned and disinfected. The owner and occupant of any building and of any land upon which there shall be any building drains, sewers, pits, or cesspits shall whitewash, clean, and disinfect the same within forty-eight hours of the giving of such notice.

27. Whenever it shall appear expedient, the proper authority may give notice to the owner or occupant of any land to fill up or disinfect any well upon such land. The owner or occupant of such land shall thereupon fill up or disinfect, as the case may be, such well.

28. Whenever there shall be found at any time to be in any building a larger number of persons than should in the opinion of the proper authority be found to be dwelling there, it shall be lawful for such authority to order the departure from such building of the number of persons in excess of the number which in the opinion of such authority should be found dwelling there; and if at any time after the giving of such order there shall be found in any such building any number of persons in excess of the number who should be found dwelling there, the owner of such building shall be guilty of an offence.

29. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to cause persons diseased, or suspected to be diseased, with plague, cholera, or small-pox, in any house or place hereunder described to be removed to some public hospital or other place provided by Government,—

(1) In any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale.
(2) In any house or place of public resort.
(3) In any building in which there are no means of isolating such persons from the other inmates, or in any building where the retention of such persons is likely to prove a source of danger to others:

Provided that it shall be competent for the proper authority in case the removal of any person so diseased, or suspected to be diseased, in any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale, is objected to, and the house or place is not otherwise open to objection, to allow such person to be retained, on condition, however, that the sale of goods shall not be carried on in such house or place until the proper authority shall grant permission:

Provided further, that it shall be lawful for the proper authority to allow any person so diseased, or suspected to be diseased, to be removed to any locality which such person or his or her friends may choose, and to which the medical authorities of the town or place, if any, do not object, instead of to the public hospital or place provided by Government.

It shall be lawful for the proper authority to cause any persons found in an infected locality to be removed to a place of observation set apart for the purpose.

30. Except as provided by these regulations, and except as provided by the Ordinance No. 8 of 1866, it shall not be lawful for any person to remove or assist in removing any person suffering from cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease from the house or place in which such person shall be to any other house or place, without the sanction in writing of the proper authority.

31. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to prohibit the removal from any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale, or from any house or place of public resort, or from any building in which cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease may have occurred, of any articles of merchandise or trade or goods of any kind, until such time as such building or place is declared to be free from infection by the medical authorities of the town or place in which such building is situated.

Provided that it shall be lawful for the proper authority to permit any goods from an infected house or place in which goods are exposed for sale, or from any house or place of public resort, or from any building in which cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease may have occurred, to be removed to any other locality which the owner or occupier of such building may choose, and to which removal the medical authorities of the town or place do not object.

32. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to prohibit the removal for interment or cremation of corpses of persons who have died of plague, cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease along any particular thoroughfare, and to prescribe the thoroughfares leading to the place of interment or cremation along which such corpses shall be carried, and to direct the disinfection of corpses before removal. Information of such prohibition shall be given by notice in writing under the hand of the proper authority, which shall be posted in two or more conspicuous places in the prohibited thoroughfare and by publication in such other way as may be deemed necessary by such proper authority.

PART II.

Regulations with regard to Vessels infected with Plague or arriving from Ports infected with Plague.

1. The following terms shall in the regulations made under this heading (Part II) have the meanings in this section assigned to them:—

The term "infected port" shall include a port where plague exists and a place in an area declared by a notification in the Government Gazette to be infected with plague.

The term "vessel" shall mean any steamer, sailing ship, buggalow, boat or native craft.

The term "healthy vessel" shall mean any vessel which, although coming from an infected port, has had no death from plague or a case of plague on board either before departure, during the voyage, or on arrival.

The term "suspected vessel" shall mean any vessel on board of which there has been a case of plague at the time of departure or during the voyage, but on which there has been no case of plague during the twelve days immediately preceding her arrival.

The term "infected vessel" shall mean any vessel having any person affected with plague on board, or on board which there has been any person affected with plague within twelve days of her arrival.

The term "observation" shall mean segregation either on board a vessel or in an isolation camp or place.

2. On the arrival of a vessel from an infected port, the health officer shall as soon as possible visit it and make such inquiries as he may think necessary, and shall then class the vessel as "healthy," "suspected," or "infected".

8. A vessel classed as "healthy" shall be granted free pratique forthwith, provided—

(1) That in the case of a healthy vessel which has been out from an infected port more than ten days, the health officer may—

(a) Medically inspect the passengers and crew.

(b) Disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, the soiled linen of the persons on board and such other effects as may in his opinion be contaminated.

(2) That in the case of a healthy vessel which has been in an infected port within ten days of arrival the health officer may—

(a) Medically inspect the persons on board.

(b) Disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, the soiled linen of the persons on board and such other effects as may in his opinion be contaminated.

(c) Watch or cause to be watched the health of the passengers and crew on board until ten days shall have elapsed from the departure of the vessel from the infected port.

4. Members of the crew of a healthy vessel from an infected port shall not be permitted to land except on duty, and subject to such precautions as the health officer may deem necessary.

5. On the arrival of a suspected vessel or of a healthy vessel within ten days of departure from an infected port, the health officer shall permit any passenger to land, after such disinfection as shall seem proper to such officer: provided that such passenger shall inform the proper authority at the port of landing of his intended place or places of residence, and shall, during the ten days immediately succeeding his landing at any port in Ceylon, daily report himself to such medical officer as the proper authority at the port shall direct. Provided, further, that it shall be lawful for the proper authority to place under observation any person whom he may consider to be in any way likely to carry the infection of plague for the period necessary to complete ten days from the date of the vessel's departure from the infected port last visited, or in the case of a suspected vessel, ten days from the date of the vessel's arrival at the port.

6. Every infected vessel shall, until she shall have obtained pratique, continue and remain at the port of Point de Galle and at no other place. The master of any such vessel shall, upon being thereto directed by the health officer of any port, proceed to the port of Point de Galle, provided however that any such vessel shall be free to put back to sea.

7. The proper authority shall permit the landing of cargo and mails from a healthy vessel and the transhipment of cargo and mails and passengers from a healthy vessel, under such conditions and restrictions as shall appear necessary to such authority.

8. Whenever a suspected vessel shall arrive at any port in the Island, it shall be the duty of the health officer—

(1) To medically inspect or cause to be medically inspected the persons on board.

(2) To disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, the soiled linen and personal effects of the persons on board.

(3) To disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, all parts of the vessel in which plague patients may have been located, and if necessary to order more thorough disinfection.

(4) To watch the health of the persons on board until the expiry of ten days from the date of the vessel's arrival at the port.

9. Whenever an infected vessel shall arrive at any port in the Island, it shall be the duty of the health officer—

(1) To medically inspect all persons on board the vessel.

(2) To watch the health of the persons on board until ten days shall have elapsed from the date of the existence of any case of plague on board the vessel.

(3) To disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, the soiled linen and effects of the persons on board the vessel.

(4) To disinfect or cause to be disinfected, or direct the person in charge of the vessel to disinfect, as often as he shall deem necessary, all parts of the vessel in which plague patients may have been located, and to order more thorough disinfection when necessary.

10. The health officer of the port of Point de Galle shall, unless an infected vessel shall immediately put to sea, caused to be removed every person affected with plague from such vessel to some building or vessel set apart as a hospital.

11. No person shall without the permission of the health officer enter or g away from an infected vessel.

12. The health officer of the port of Point de Galle may permit the remova to a place of observation, after such disinfection as shall seem proper to suc officer, from an infected vessel, of any person, provided that no person shall g away from such place of observation without the written permission of the pr per authority, and until ten full days shall have elapsed from the day of suc removal.

13. The health officer, when sending persons to be kept under observatio shall, in writing, inform the medical officer in charge of the place appointed f such purpose (if he himself be not in charge thereof) the period for which su person should be kept under observation.

14. All persons sent to hospital or kept under observation shall obey a conform to the rules, regulations, and orders for the time being in force at su hospital or other place appointed for the purpose, and shall bear and pay such charges for food as for the time being may, by sanction of the Governme be made against them.

15. Free pratique shall not be granted to a suspected or infected ve until all the requirements of these regulations have been complied with; nor, the case of an infected vessel, until ten days shall have elapsed from the d of the last case of plague which has occurred on board; nor, if the per attacked has been treated on board, until ten days from the death or reco of such person.

16. It shall be the duty of the master or person in charge of any ve arriving from an infected port to cause the bilge water to be pumped after disinfection before the vessel enters the port, and pass fresh sea water the parts that have been in contact with the bilge water. And in all when the vessel is infected or suspected, and in the case of a healthy v when ordered to do so by the health officer, to pump out the drinking w after disinfection, and to substitute pure drinking water.

17. It shall be the duty of every officer granting a bill of health to vessel to set out in such bill of health the inspection and quarantine under by such vessel.

18. The landing at any place in this Island of the following goods, shi at an infected port, or transhipped to any vessel from any vessel which have conveyed such goods from an infected port, is prohibited:—

(1) Used body linen, clothes, bedding, and other personal effects.

(2) Rags, including rags compressed by hydraulic pressure and transported in bales as merchandise.

(3) Used sacking or bags, carpets, and old embroidery.

(4) Green and untanned hides and skins.

(5) Animal refuse, bones crushed or uncrushed, claws, hoofs, horse hair, hair of animals generally, raw silk, and wool.

(6) Human hair.

The transhipment within any port in this Island of such prohibited om one vessel to another is prohibited.

20. The Principal Officer of Customs at any place at which any landing or transhipment shall take place of such prohibited goods shall, unless the Governor shall otherwise direct, cause the destruction of such goods. The cost of effecting such destruction shall be paid by the owner and consignee of such goods and by the master of the vessel by which such goods were carried. No compensation for such destruction shall be paid to any person.

21. Any vessel having on board any such prohibited goods shall, so long as she shall have any such goods on board, be deemed in quarantine, and such vessel and all persons and goods shall in respect of such vessel be subject to the regulations relating to vessels in quarantine.

22. The foregoing regulations 18, 19, 20, and 21 shall not apply to used body linen, clothes, bedding, and other personal effects, being the personal effects accompanying any person, provided that such personal effects shall have been disinfected to the satisfaction of the health officer.

23. Crowded vessels, vessels carrying emigrants, and vessels which appear to be in an insanitary state may, at the discretion of the health officer, be treated as suspected or healthy vessels.

24. Any mails or cargo that may be brought by any vessel subject to these regulations may be landed under such precautions as the health officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

25. It shall be the duty of the Chief Officer of Customs of the port to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels detained under these regulations of mails and of such supplies of provisions, stores, or other articles as may be required by those on board. Such mails and supplies shall be placed on the boats of the vessel to be subsequently removed by the crew.

26. All vessels arriving at any port of Ceylon which may have communicated with vessels coming from an infected port shall be subjected to the same rules as vessels arriving from an infected port.

PART III.

Plague Regulations relating to Villages and Places outside Municipalities and Local Boards.

1. The symptoms of plague are fever of recent commencement, violent headache, severe pain in the back and limbs, and lassitude. The glands in the groin, or in the armpit or neck, are generally swollen and tender. Cough and pain in the lungs are frequently observed, and delirium often comes on early in the disease. Death often occurs in two or three days.

2. If in any house a person becomes ill or dies with symptoms similar to those described above, it shall be the duty of the occupier of such house and of every male resident therein above the age of 18 years to report to the headman of the village or, in his absence, to the headman of the adjoining village (1) the illness of any person in such house, or (2) the death of any person in such house, immediately such illness is apparent or death occurs; and any person who shall fail to make such report as is hereby required will be liable, on conviction, to imprisonment for six months and to a fine of Rs1,000, under sections 6 and 7 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1897.

3. The headman having satisfied himself by inquiry, but without entering the house, that the case is one of bubonic plague, or that the symptoms are such as give rise to a reasonable suspicion that the case may be one of plague, shall at once station two guards at a distance of about ten yards from the door of the house occupied by the person believed to be suffering from plague, with instructions to prevent persons from entering or leaving the house; and any person who shall enter or leave such house without the sanction of the Government Agent, or Assistant Government Agent, or the Medical Officer, will be liable, on conviction, to imprisonment for six months and to a fine of Rs1,000, under sections 6 and 7 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1897. He shall also forthwith report the occurrence to—

(a) The Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent.

(c) The Police Magistrate.

(d) The Chief Headman of the district.

4. In case of illness the headman shall select an isolated house, as far as sible removed from other houses in the village, and not less than thirty yards, ant from any other residence, and shall require the occupants of such house to vacate it within six hours of notice given, and shall make arrangements for the transfer thereto of the sick person. He shall also notify to the owners or occupants of such house that they will be paid compensation at the rate of R5 per diem for so long as the house may be required for plague purposes. Should the owner or occupier of any such house fail or refuse to give up possession when required, he will be liable, under sections 6 and 7 of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897, to imprisonment for six months and to a fine of R1,000.

5. On the house being vacated, the person believed to be suffering from plague may be removed thereto with such of his friends and relatives or occupants of his residence as may have been in attendance on him, but this removal must not take place before the arrival on the scene of the Chief Headman of the district, the Government Agent, the Assistant Government Agent, or the Medical Officer.

6. The headman shall prepare a list of all persons who may have been in the house occupied by the sick person for any considerable time during the preceding week.

7. The headman must arrange to supply the inmates of the infected house with food, fuel, and all other reasonable requirements, the articles required being deposited at a distance of about twenty yards from the house, and one of the inmates being called to remove them to the house.

The vessels, mats, or leaves in which the articles are delivered shall be destroyed by the person in charge of the house. No articles of any kind shall be allowed to be removed from the infected house before the arrival of the Chief Headman of the district, the Government Agent, the Assistant Government Agent, or the Medical Officer.

8. In case of death the headman shall have a grave dug at least 6 ft. in depth, but the corpse shall not be buried till the arrival of the Chief Headman of the district, the Government Agent, the Assistant Government Agent, or the Medical Officer. The place of burial shall be isolated, well away from habitations and sources of water-supply.

9. The Chief Headman of the district, or the Medical Officer, or the Government Agent, or the Assistant Government Agent may, for the purposes of these regulations, enter upon any lands or demand the use of any cart, horses, or bullocks; and any person opposing such entry or refusing to comply with such demand will be liable, under sections 6 and 7 of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897, to imprisonment for six months and to a fine of R1,000.

10. The headman, when he has reason to believe that a case of plague has occurred in his village, shall immediately send word to the headmen of surrounding villages, directing them to prohibit the inhabitants of their villages from entering or having dealings with the infected village, and to impress upon their villagers the danger of allowing residents in the infected village to enter other villages. No person shall communicate with the infected village till the disease has completely disappeared. Any person acting contrary to this regulation will be liable, on conviction, to imprisonment for six months and to a fine of R1,000, under sections 6 and 7 of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897.

11. Whenever deaths in any village are more numerous than usual, and especially sudden deaths attributed to fever, or when there occurs unusual sickness accompanied by fever, the headman of the village shall make a special report of the same to the Chief Headman of the district or to the Government Agent without delay.

12. Every headman shall report any excessive mortality or sickness among rats or monkeys that may come to his notice.

13. Registrars shall also make careful inquiry in the case of all deaths attributed to fever to ascertain whether other symptoms of plague, more particularly whether buboes or swellings in the groin or armpit, were present, and shall note on the death register whether or not such inquiry has been made. In the event of his being informed of the presence of these symptoms, the Registrar shall at once report the matter to the nearest Medical Officer, to the Government Agent, or the Assistant Government Agent direct, and to the Chief Headman of the district.

14. The Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent, on receiving a report of the existence of a case of plague or suspected plague in any village, shall forward a copy thereof to the Principal Civil Medical Officer, and shall himself proceed, with as little delay as possible, to the spot, taking with him a Medical Officer unless the latter shall have preceded him.

On arrival the Government Agent or Assistant Agent will assume entire control and responsibility, being guided, as far as possible, by the advice of the Medical Officer, and shall make the best arrangements that the circumstances will permit for dealing with the case on the lines approved by Government. But should the Principal Civil Medical Officer be present, he will assume the control of all operations and make such arrangements as circumstances may appear to require.

15. The Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent shall be authorized to issue such orders as he may consider necessary in the circumstances to officers of the Public Service, and all such officers shall be held responsible for the prompt and satisfactory execution of the orders so issued. The Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent may issue his orders to the officer directly, and not through Heads of Departments. Such necessary expenditure as the Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent may incur in the carrying out of the measures directed by him shall be drawn on personal vouchers, to be supported subsequently by under receipts when such are readily obtainable, or by certificates on honour when receipts are not procurable.

16. On receiving a report of the occurrence of a case of plague or suspected plague, the Medical Officer and (or) the Chief Headman of the district shall forward copies immediately to the Principal Civil Medical Officer and to the Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent, together with a report stating what action has been taken and what is proposed to be taken. In forwarding their reports the Medical Officer and the Chief Headman must make use of the most expeditious means at their command. If a letter sent by special messenger would arrive more quickly than by post, the former mode of despatch must be used; but when possible, the telegraph should be employed in preference to either post or messenger, the telegraphic message sent being as full and complete as a written report.

17. Pending the arrival of the Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent, the Medical Officer shall take charge of the operations; and pending the arrival of the Medical Officer, the Chief Headman of the district. These officers shall, while so occupied, have powers and duties similar to those of the Government Agent.

The Chief Headman shall not, except upon orders from the Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent, allow the removal of a patient or the burial of a corpse before the arrival of the Medical Officer, who will prescribe the measures to be adopted.

18. Whenever a report is made to the Police Magistrate, he will forthwith send copies thereof to the Principal Civil Medical Officer and to the Government Agent or Assistant Government Agent, and shall satisfy himself by personal inquiry that the Medical Officer has started for the place where the case is reported as having occurred, or shall require him to start immediately and shall see that he does so.

Should the Medical Officer be absent from the station, the Police Magistrate shall communicate by telegraph with the Government Agent or the Assistant Government Agent and the Principal Civil Medical Officer, till such time as he shall have received an assurance that a Medical Officer has started.

Regulations applicable to Estates.

The duties imposed on headmen in the case of villages shall, in the case f estates, devolve on Superintendents, Assistant Superintendents, managers, onductors, and (or) other persons in actual charge of the estates.

The Chief Headman of the district shall, on receiving a report of the occurence of a case of plague or suspected plague, at once make arrangements for placing at the disposal of the Medical Officer such supplies and materials as are likely to be wanted. He will also assemble the headmen of the neighbourhood and be in readiness to furnish whatever help may be required. He will not however, take any active steps unless requested to do so by the Superintendent, or other person in charge, to whom he must furnish all reasonable assistance.

The duties of the Government Agent and of the Medical Officer are the same with respect to estates as to villages.

N.B.—The penalty under sections 6 and 7 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1897 for breach of any of these regulations is imprisonment for a period of six months or a fine of R1,000, or both.

The penalty for obstructing or impeding any police officer (including village headman) in the execution of any provision of the Ordinance or of any regulation made thereunder is imprisonment for a period of six months or a fine of R1,000, or both. (See sections 6, 7, and 8 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1897.)

NOTICES.

All communications relating to Act V (the Inventions and Designs Act) of 1888 should be addressed to the "Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA."

The Office of the Secretary under the Act is open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy respectively.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 19th October, 1895, in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitor's room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified; or, if the tenth day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

S. C. HILL,

Designs Act, 1888.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 22nd May, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR THE TROOPS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

No. 9.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

Until further notice, State and Private telegrams in plain language addressed to persons serving with the Field Force in South Africa will be accepted at Sender's risk, and charged for at the rate of R1-8 per word from offices in India or Burma. Telegrams in Code or Cypher cannot be accepted at this reduced rate. The address should consist of the following :—

(1) The name, or number, or both of the person to whom the telegram is addressed (in the case of officers the rank may be omitted, and in the case of telegrams for Non-Commissioned Officers and men the name may, in like manner, be omitted if the number is given. Such omissions, however, add to the risk of the telegram going astray, more especially when addressed to Non-Commissioned Officers and men), and

(2) The Regiment (this will be counted and charged for as one word irrespective of the number of words used).

These telegrams should be addressed "Bombay for South Africa" (which words will be signalled free), and not to any particular Telegraph Office in South Africa. The Bombay Telegraph Office will forward them to the Officer Commanding at Capetown, who will deliver them to the Addressees at whatever place in South Africa they may be stationed.

Senders of telegrams should accurately describe the Regiment, Battalion, Battery or Corps, to which the Addressees are attached, as it appears in the "Army List." For example: the address of an Officer or Private in the "Rifles" should give the number of the Battalion, and make it quite clear whether it is a Battalion of the "Rifle Brigade," the "King's Royal Rifle Corps," the "Royal Irish Rifles," or the "Scottish Rifles (Cameronians)."

The reduced rate will also apply to telegrams addressed to members of the Nursing Staff serving in South Africa, and any telegrams addressed to a Nurse will be treated in the same way as those intended for soldiers and sailors.

Telegrams for officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men in South Africa who are known to be suffering from wounds or sickness may be addressed to them as if they were with their regiment or corps. Such telegrams, on arrival at the place where the regiment or corps is stationed, will be redirected to the proper hospital.

When, however, the name of the hospital is known to the sender of the message, he may address the telegram direct to that hospital, e.g., "Field Hospital, 1st Cavalry Brigade," or to "No. 2 General Hospital" or to "Mooi River Hospital."

In any case, the telegram should, as already stated, be addressed by the sender to "Bombay for South Africa," which words will not be charged for.

The following are given as examples of addresses and counting :—

"Captain Armstrong, 64th Royal Field Artillery, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "Captain Armstrong, Wynberg Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303 Murphy, 2nd Battalion, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303, Mooi River Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (two words).

II. Notification No. 5, dated the 8th May, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 22nd November, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE BRITISH AND INDIAN FORCES IN CHINA.

No. 34.—The following revised Notification is issued for general information :—

Until further notice, private telegrams, in plain language, for members of the British or Indian Military and Naval Forces in China, from their friends in India or Burma will be accepted at sender's risk and at the reduced rates mentioned below to the three following stations only, viâ Madras :—

1. To Shanghai at R 0-15-0 per word.
2. „ Weihaiwei „ 1-3-0 „
3. „ Taku „ 1-4-0 „

In the official instructions the words "Reduced Rates" should be inserted, and will be signalled free.

Telegrams intended for Military or Naval members stationed at Hongkong should be addressed to Shanghai, and those for members stationed at Tientsin or Pekin should be addressed to Taku. These reduced rates will also apply to telegrams for Civilians in Military or Naval employ in China.

II. Notification No. 32, dated the 6th of November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 5th December, 1900.

No. 37.—The British Government announces that the transmission of Private telegrams for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, vid Cape Colony and Natal, is now suspended.

Telegrams for Pretoria, Johannesburg, Vereeniging, Germiston, Middelburg, Heidelberg, and Standerton are, meanwhile, being accepted for transmission, viâ Lourenco Marques, at the usual rates. These telegrams should be written in plain English, and will be accepted only at the risk of the sender. They are also subject to censorship and to delay in transmission.

Calcutta, the 13th December, 1900.

No. 39.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

The Post Master General, London, announces that the British Government have decided to suspend at Aden and the Cape of G

Hope the transmission of all telegrams in code or cipher, whether of foreign Governments or private persons, to or from British Central Africa, St. Helena and Ascension. Telegrams in plain language are subject to censorship, and can only be accepted at the risk of the sender.

Code messages for the following places, viz., Cape Colony, Natal, Rhodesia, Zanzibar, Seychelles, Mauritius, Madagascar, British and German East Africa, Mozambique and Lourenço Marques may, however, be accepted, if the words used are in one, or other, of the following Code Books, which have been deposited with the authorities at Aden, viz. :—

(1) A B C (4th edition).
(2) A Z.
(3) Scott's (9th edition).
(4) A 1.
(5) Telegraphenschlüessel of W. Staudt and O. Hundius (published by Julius Springer at Berlin).
(6) The Mercuur Code (2nd edition), enlarged and revised, with the First Supplement.
(7) Broomhall's Comprehensive Cipher Code.
(8) Western Union Telegraphic Code and International Cable Directory, Universal Edition, 1900.
(9) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1898.
(10) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1900.
(11) Watkins' Telegraphic Code with Appendix (7th edition), 1900.
(12) International Mercantile Telegraph Code (Meyer), 1880.
(13) The General, Commercial and Mining Telegram Code, 1897, by C. A. Moreium and F. C. McCutcheon.

Telegrams should be endorsed to the effect that the words used actually represent the corresponding expressions given in the abovenamed Code Books.

As delays occur at Aden in consequence of the difficulty of determining which code has been employed, senders of telegrams to the abovenamed places in East Africa should write on the message draft the name of the code employed. For instance A B C; A Z; Scott's; A 1; Staudt; Mercuur; Broomhall's; Directory; Atlantic, 1898; Atlantic, 1900; Watkins; Meyer; or McCutcheon. This information will be included in the "Official Instructions" and transmitted free of charge.

II. Notification No. 36, dated the 29th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

No. 39-A.—In the event of the establishment in British India of a censorship over telegrams, the first twelve Code Books mentioned in Notification No. 39, dated the 13th of December 1900, will be used in India for purposes similar to that for which they are employed in Aden.

The public are recommended to provide themselves with such of the codes as may appear suited to their requirements.

H. A. KIRK,
Director, Traffic Branch.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876 :—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

Remittances to be forwarded to the Accountant and Treasurer, Bengal Secretariat, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta.

All the wanting parts of the INDIAN LAW REPORTS (complete series) having now been reprinted, the complete Reports from 1876 to 1893 may be purchased for all the years, or for any particular year, on application to the Officer in charge of the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt.

The subscription, R22-8 per annum, should be remitted in advance to the Accountant and Treasurer, Bengal Secretariat.

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that subscriptions to the complete series of the Indian Law Reports should be registered during the first three months of each calendar year. Subscribers are therefore requested to send in their subscriptions of the complete series before the 31st March in each year. Those who register their names after that date will understand that copies will be supplied only if available.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th January, 1901 :—

NO. 1 OF 1901.

A Bill to amend the law relating to the admission of Native Military Lunatics into Asylums.

WHEREAS it is expedient to repeal certain provisions of the law now in force with regard to the admission of native military lunatics into asylums ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Repeal of certain enactments.

1. The enactments mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed are repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof.

Saving of certain detentions.

2. The repeal by this Act of any enactment shall not affect any native military lunatic who, at the commencement of this Act, is detained in an asylum in pursuance of an order under section 6 of the Military Lunatics Act, 1877. XI of 1877.

THE SCHEDULE.

(See section 1.)

REPEAL OF ENACTMENTS.

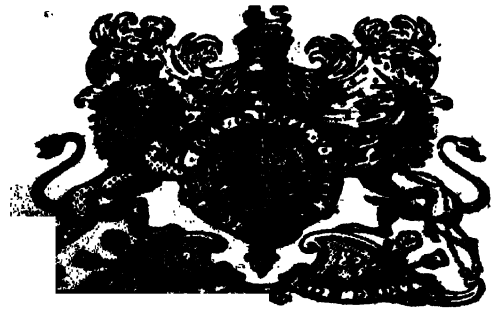
Year.	No.	Short title or subject.	Extent of repeal.
1869	V	Indian Articles of War.	In article 179, the words from such allowance to the end.
1877	XI	Military Lunatics.	In the preamble, the words and to amend the law now in force with regard to the admission thereto of native military lunatics. Sections 4, 5 and 6. In sections 7 and 8 the words whether European or native.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.



EXPERIENCE gathered since the passing of the Military Lunatics Act, 1877, has proved the expediency of following, in regard to persons subject to the Indian Articles of War, the practice, now well established in the British Army, of treating declared insanity as a ground for discharge. The powers to discharge, conferred by articles 3 and 4, will be exercised, as usual, in accordance with Army Regulations on the subject; and it is proposed that, for the future, Native military lunatics should, in consequence of discharge, be governed by the general law affecting the civil population. For this purpose, however, it will be necessary to relieve the military authosities of certain statutory obligations which were imposed by the Military Lunatics Act, 1877. The case of European military lunatics, with reference to whom no alteration of the law is contemplated, stands on an entirely different footing, inasmuch as it is rarely possible to make them over to the custody of friends or relatives in this country. With regard to Natives detained in asylums at the date on which the Act now proposed comes into force, the Government are of opinion that, to avoid the inconvenience of taking fresh proceedings against them as civilians and any hardship arising from stoppage of the allowance at present payable under article 179 of the Indian Articles of War, they should continue to be governed by the procedure now applying to them.

EDWIN H. H. COLLEN, Major-General.

Secretary to the Government of India.

MILITARY LUNATICS ACT, 1877, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDWIN COLLEN moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the law relating to the admission of Native Military Lunatics into Asylums. He said :—"The practice under the Military Lunatics Act of 1877 and the regulations hitherto in force is that a Native soldier who is discharged from an asylum rejoins his regiment if considered fit, or is entrusted to the care of his friends. Experience has, however, shown that it is better to adopt the home practice and to discharge from the army any soldier declared to be insane, and not to allow him to bear arms again after being discharged from the asylum. With this object certain amendments are proposed in the Act of 1877 and in the Articles of War."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDWIN COLLEN introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDWIN COLLEN moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 22nd December, 1900.

Rain fell in three areas during the past week. A few light showers were reported from Burma on Sunday. On Monday showers were more numerous in this region and light rain was fairly general in Upper and Central Burma, but it fell off in amount on Tuesday and with the exception of very light showers at Bhamo on Friday and Saturday no more rain was reported from stations in Burma during the remainder of the week. The showers at Bhamo at the end of the week were due to a depression over the Eastern Himalayas which also gave light showers at Sibsagar and Darjeeling and probably snow in the inner ranges.

A brisk increase of pressure occurred on Monday over Burma and North-East India, and pressure was in moderate to considerable excess over this area while it continued normal or in only slight excess in the south of the Peninsula and Tenasserim. Gradients were in consequence steeper than usual over the Bay and the increase in gradients was accompanied by an increase in the force of the winds on the Madras Coast where at the majority of stations they were blowing from the north-north east. Conditions were thus established favourable for rain in the south of the Peninsula and showers were reported on Tuesday from South Madras and Ceylon and showery weather continued on Wednesday and Thursday, the most important falls reported during this period being 2·12 inches at Cuddalore and 1·53 inches at Colombo on Tuesday; 1·50 inches at Cuddalore and 1·15 inches at Trincomalee on Wednesday; and 1·24 inches at Trincomalee and 1·09 inches at Trichinopoly on Thursday. On Thursday a brisk to rapid fall of the barometer in North-East India reduced pressure considerably to largely below the normal along the Eastern Himalayas and gradients were in consequence unusually slight over the Bay and winds decreased in strength and steadiness on the Madras Coast. Rain almost ceased in the south and only a few light showers were reported from South India and Ceylon on Friday and Saturday.

On Saturday, the 15th December, cloudy skies and light showers in Persia showed that weather was slightly unsettled over this region. As the disturbance advanced eastward it began affecting the weather in Baluchistan and North-West India, and though it did not enter India till Wednesday light falls of rain and snow were reported from Baluchistan and the North-West Himalayas on Monday and Tuesday and light rain in Upper Sind and the West and North Punjab on Tuesday. On Wednesday the disturbance had entered India and was shown as an ill-defined depression lying over South-East Rajputana and the adjacent districts in which pressure was in moderate defect. Light rain had been fairly general in Baluchistan and the Upper India plains and rain and snow in the North-West Himalayas. A few very light showers were reported from parts of the North-Western Provinces on Thursday but the depression had practically filled up and fine weather prevailed in North-West India during the remainder of the week. Conditions were, however, again disturbed on Thursday in Persia and the disturbance travelling eastward gave light showers in Baluchistan on Saturday.

Rain—The small normal rainfall of the week has been exceeded in Lower, Central and Upper Burma, Arakan, Assam, the West Division of the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab (except the south and hills) divisions, Sind and Baluchistan and the amount received in East Rajputana and Central India (West) has been equal to the normal. The rainfall of the week has exceeded an inch in Baluchistan but the amounts received in Northern India and Burma have all been small.

In the Peninsula rain has fallen in Madras, Malabar and Mysore, but the only divisions in which it has exceeded the normal are South and South-Central Madras.

The largest amounts received at individual stations during the week are :—

	Cuddalore	4·05
	Mayavaram	3·96
	Jayankondasolapuram	3·13
	Ambasamudram	2·63

The last three columns of the table at the end show that the rainfall of the period, October 14th to December 22nd, has been in defect in all divisions except the following :—Tenasserim, the Central, West and West Submontane divisions of the North-Western Provinces, the South-East Punjab, Baluchistan Hills, West Rajputana, Malabar and South Madras.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 29th December, 1900.

Madras.—The rainfall was moderate in Tanjore, light in south Arcot, Madura, Tinnevelly, the Nilgiris and in parts of the central districts, and elsewhere nil. Water supplies are generally adequate, except in parts of the Deccan, the Carnatic and the central districts. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting are in progress Standing crops are generally in fair condition, but more rain is urgently needed in parts of the Deccan. the Carnatic and the central districts. Harvesting of early crops continues with fair outturn. Pasture is becoming scanty and fodder insufficient in parts. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are slightly easier or stationary generally, though still high. Prospects generally are fair.

Bombay.—Very slight rain fell during the week in parts of Shikarpur and the Upper Sindh frontier. Rain is urgently wanted for late-sown autumn crops and for spring crops throughout Gujarat, the Deccan, and the Karnatak. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly completed in Nasik and Satara and is progressing in parts of Sindh, the Karnatak and Kanara. Threshing is in progress in parts of Sindh, Kaira, Surat, Kolaba, Nasik, and Poona. Agricultural prospects are good in Sindh, fair to good in the Konkan and in parts of Khandesh, Nasik, Surat, and Broach, and are generally moderate to poor elsewhere. Young spring crops have been damaged by locusts, or other insects, in parts of Sindh, Ahmedabad and Poona, and by disease in parts of Ahmednagar, and are suffering from want of rain generally, except in irrigated tracts. The water supply is scanty in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and the Karnatak. The fodder supply is sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition, but is deteriorating in parts of Bijapur and Belgaum. Prices have fallen in eight districts, risen in two districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is slightly over the normal, but is easier than in 1899. The price of bajri is below the normal in Gujarat, over the normal in the Deccan, and about double the normal in the Konkan and the Karnatak. Compared with 1899, it is easier in the Deccan, the Konkan and the Karnatak and is considerably lower in Gujarat. The price of juar is about the normal in Gujarat and double the normal elsewhere, but is easier than in 1899. The price of wheat is over the normal in Gujarat and the Konkan, about double the normal in the Deccan and the Karnatak, and is about the same as in 1899.

Daily average numbers on relief—British districts—on relief works 125,999; dependants 24,908; total on relief works 150,907. In poor-houses 4,174; on village relief 32,330; total on gratuitous relief 36,504. Figures for Ahmedabad, Khandesh and Satara are incomplete. Native States—on relief works 10,946; dependants 3,835; total on relief works 14,781. In poor-houses 1,624; on village relief 841; total on gratuitous relief 2,465. Figures for Baroda are incomplete. Grand total 204,657.

Bengal—There was some rain during the week almost in all districts of the Burdwan Division, Bihar and Chota Nagpur, as well as in Nadia, Jessore, Darjeeling, Dacca and Cuttack. The rain has been beneficial to the spring crops in Bihar. More rain is, however, needed in Nadia and Cuttack. It is also badly wanted in Murshidabad, Pabna and Malda. The harvesting of winter rice is being completed. Spring crops are generally in good condition except in Murshidabad. In Bihar, the poppy crop is doing well. The pressing of sugarcane is in progress. Fodder generally is sufficient. The price of common rice has fallen in 11 districts, risen in 14, and is stationary in the rest (21).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather has been unsettled and rain has fallen throughout the provinces. The rainfall averaged about two inches in the Himalayan districts, over one inch in the western submontane, and between half and three-fourths of an inch in the upper, central and lower Doab and north, central, central submontane, south Oudh and south-eastern districts. In the Bundelkhand and eastern submontane districts the falls varied from a quarter of an inch to 42 cents. The rain has been very beneficial to spring crops, the condition and prospects of which are reported to be good. Some damage is reported to have been caused to crops in Barabanki by prevalence of thick mist. The pressing of sugarcane is in progress. Supplies are adequate and fodder is abundant. Prices continue to be generally stationary.

Punjab.—Rain has fallen all over the province. The price of wheat is rising in Amritsar, Sialkote and Shahpur, falling in Rawalpindi and is unchanged elsewhere. The prices of other food grains are also unsettled. Wheat is selling from 10½ to 12½ seers, barley 16, gram 9¾ to 12, maize 16 to 24, great millet 25 and bulrush millet 15⅓ to 25 seers per rupee. The price of rice is unchanged in Sialkote. Harvesting of autumn crops is over. Sugarcane pressing and cotton picking continue in some districts. Owing to the recent rainfall, further sowings of wheat and gram are being made in Ferozepur, of barley in Sialkote and of wheat and barley in Shahpur. The recent rain has greatly benefited the standing crops throughout the province. Crop prospects generally are good. Sunshine is now needed for the standing crops in Umballa. The outturn of autumn crops is said to be above normal in Sialkote. Cotton has been partially damaged by insects in Multan. Cattle are generally in good condition. Pasturage fodder is sufficient in all districts, except in parts of Multan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Reaping of paddy is progressing. Crop prospects are unchanged. UPPER BURMA.—Reaping of paddy and other wet weather crops continues. Dry weather paddy is being sown and the planting of miscellaneous crops on alluvial land continues. The state of standing crops remains the same in the irrigated tract. In Minbu the outturn is estimated at one-third below normal The price of paddy has fallen in four districts.

Central Provinces.—The weather was generally cloudy and unsettled with some showers of rain in the north of the provinces, in the plateau districts and in Bilaspur. The fall has been very light in Saugor, Damoh, Betul and Seoni, but Mandla received over an inch, Narsinghpur one inch, Chhindwara and Jabalpur about three-fourths, Bilaspur and Hoshangabad one-third of an inch. Some hail fell in Saugor and Chhindwara, but no damage is reported. The prospects of the spring crops have improved where rain has fallen, but in the south of the provinces some showers are wanted. Owing to cloudy weather, insects continue to cause appreciable damage all over the provinces to pulse and linseed. Cotton picking, threshing of rice and reaping of juar continue. Fodder and water are sufficient. The prices of wheat and gram are still above the normal and will probably continue so until the spring harvest. Juar is fairly cheap, but the price of rice shows a tendency to rise in response to the export demand. The cheapest prices are—wheat 13, gram 15, rice 17½, and juar 25 seers per rupee. The dearest prices are—wheat 8, gram 8, rice 8¾, juar 15 seers per rupee. The number on famine relief has fallen from 4,839 in the previous week to 3,432. Gratuitous relief—poor-houses—adults 2, children 34; otherwise relieved—adults 2,493, children 903, total 3,432; of whom 3,396 are in Chanda.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Harvesting of late rice, gathering of pulses, pressing of sugarcane and pruning of tea are in progress. The prospects of sugarcane are generally fair, those of late rice, pulses and mustard fair in Sibsagar and Lakhimpur, and bad in other districts. Fodder is scarce in Cachar, Khasi and Jaintia hills, and in parts of Sylhet and Kamrup. Water is insufficient in Khasi and Jaintia hills and in parts of Sylhet. Prices—common rice—Silchar 10 to 11, Sylhet 12½, Dhubri 10, Gauhati, Tezpur, and Sibsagar 13, and Nowgong and Dibrugarh 11 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—No rain fell in the civil and military station. More rain is required in parts of Shimoga, Chittaldrug and Tumkur. Standing crops are in good condition in Mysore, Kolar, Kadur, Shimoga, Hassan and Tumkur, and unfavourable in other parts of Chittaldrug and Hassan. Prospects are good in Bangalore and Kolar and favourable in Hassan. Prices have fallen slightly in Bangalore, Hassan and Tumkur and have risen slightly in Kolar, Kadur, Chittaldrug and other parts of Tumkur. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Paddy, ragi and horse gram have been harvested in parts and paddy, ragi and Bengal gram are being sown.

COORG.—Rice harvest and coffee picking continue. Prices of food grains are falling. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather is cool and cloudy. Cutting of juar and picking of cotton are well advanced. The winter crops require more moisture. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices—Akola 18, Amraoti 17¼, Basim 15½, Buldana 14, Ellichpur 19, Wun 18 seers per rupee.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. The total from 1st January has been 22 inches 28 cents. The much needed rain for the standing spring crops of the major portion of the Aurangabad division still holds off, and agricultural prospects there shew no sign of improvement. Winter rice sowing is progressing. The water-supply, with few exceptions, is adequate to wants. Pasture is freely available for cattle. Prices of grain are steady. Total persons on relief works, including dependants, 1,993; gratuitously relieved 1,232. Prices—wheat 5, coarse rice 6¾, and juar 10½ seers per hali sicca rupee.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was in Bikaner 4, Marwar 29, Bharatpur 18, and Dholpur 27 cents. Agricultural operations are in progress. Standing crops are in good condition. Some damage is reported from two parganas of Marwar owing to cold winds. Agricultural live stock is in good condition. Pasturage and fodder are sufficient. Prices are falling in six States and Ajmer-Merwara, rising in one, and steady elsewhere. Numbers on relief—Native States—on works 47, on gratuitous relief 507, against 142 and 857 last week. Reports from Alwar and Haraoti and Tonk have not been received.

Central India.—The rainfall at the Gwalior Residency was one inch 31 cents, at Bundelkhand one inch 49 cents, and more elsewhere. Agricultural operations are in progress everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition, and the probable outturn is estimated to be good. Crops have been damaged in parts of Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock and pasturage are in good condition. Prices of food grains are steady in Gwalior, high in Bhopal and Malwa, normal in Bundelkhand, above the average in Baghelkhand, and stationary in Indore. The condition of opium is good in Gwalior and Bhopal and is being sown in Malwa, Bhopawar and Indore. Average prices—in Gwalior 16 to 24½; Bundelkhand 13¾ to 15½; Malwa 16; Bhopawar 12½ to 16 and Indore 7 to 16 seers per rupee. On gratuitous relief—Jaora, 32.

Baroda.—Spring sowing is completed. Standing spring crops are in fair and agricultural stock in satisfactory condition. Prices—bajri 31, juar 21, wheat 18, rice, superior, 13, inferior 18 pounds per British rupee. Average number on relief works—Baroda territory 7,774, and on gratuitous relief—5,603.

Kashmir.—The weather was snowy during the week. Prices are normal, rice being 26 seers the rupee. JUMMU PROVINCE.—The rainfall was good. Prices generally are stationary, wheat being from 12 to 16 and maize 17 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient.

Nepal.—The rainfall was slight. The weather is frosty and cold. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee.

Forecast of the cold weather rains in Northern and Central India, December 1900 to February 1901.

The following is a statement of the meteorology and rainfall of India during the past six months and of the conditions which will perhaps be more or less influential in determining the character and distribution of the cold weather rainfall of the next three months (December to February) and a forecast of the cold weather precipitation in the Persian area and Northern and Central India.

It was stated in the south-west monsoon forecast, published in the Gazette of India for the 5th of June 1900, that the meteorological conditions in India immediately antecedent to the monsoon were, on the whole, favourable over the greater part of India, but that the reports from the Seychelles, Zanzibar and Mauritius indicated that the conditions over the sea area to the south were less favourable, and were such as accompany a considerable delay in the commencement of the monsoon or a partial failure of the monsoon rains.

The general conclusions in the forecast based on the indications were that the rainfall over the Indian area during the south-west monsoon of 1900 would, on the average of the whole area, probably be about the normal; and, that it would probably be in slight to moderate excess in Hyderabad, the Central Provinces, Lower and Central Burma, East and South-West Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Central India and normal in the Bombay Deccan and the West Cost, and normal or in slight defect in Berar, Khandesh, Bihar and Chota Nagpur, Assam, North Bengal and Upper Burma and probably in defect in the Punjab and Rajputana, the deficiency being relatively greater in the western than the eastern districts.

The anticipations were, on the whole, verified.

The Bombay branch of the south-west monsoon current of the present year was feeble in June and July, but was stronger and streadier than usual in August and September, and withdrew from Upper India and the north of the Arabian Sea somewhat later than usual.

The south-west monsoon rains commenced considerably later than usual on the Malabar Coast on the 11th and 12th June and extended to the Konkan on the 13th and 14th, but were feeble for some time in that area. They began earlier than usual but somewhat unsteadily in North-Eastern India. A moderate cyclonic storm formed in the Bay on the 10th and 11th and passed by a curved path through Orissa, the eastern districts of the Central Provinces and Chota Nagpur into North Bengal. Bengal and Assam received their first general rain from the Bay current on the 12th and Bihar on the 14th.

The first burst of monsoon winds in the Arabian Sea gave showers in the Deccan and Central Provinces on the 13th June and moderate to heavy rain in the coast districts during the next fortnight, when the rainfall was almost restricted to the coast districts and the West Deccan. The monsoon current in the Arabian Sea strengthened in the last week of the month, and heavy rain fell in the Konkan on the 26th and following days. This burst of rain extended into the interior in the first week of July, the Central Provinces and Central India receiving their first general rain on the 6th July and the North-Western Provinces on the 6th and 7th.

The rainfall of the month of June was, on the whole, favourable in Burma and North-Eastern India or in the areas dependent on the Bay current, but was in large defect in North-Western and Central India, the Central Provinces, Berar and the North and East Deccan.

The Bombay or Arabian Sea current was below its normal strength throughout the greater part of July, indicated chiefly by the delay in its advance towards Upper India and by the sporadic character of the rainfall in the Deccan and Central India. Gujarat and West and Central Rajputana had moderate to heavy rain for the first time in the second week of the month. The current, however, fell off rapidly in strength on the 18th and 19th and the rainfall was light and sporadic in Western India during the next week. Fortunately, conditions changed in the sea areas to the south of India on the 26th and 27th, antecedent to, and initiating, a strong and persistent advance of monsoon winds. Heavy rain again began to fall in the West coast districts on the 27th July and extended to the Deccan and Gujarat on the 28th. Moderate to heavy rain fell in Gujarat, Kathiawar, the Centeral Provinces and Rajputana during the next week and also extended into the Punjab as heavy local showers.

The Bengal current was unsteady during the month of July and a succession of four storms formed in the north-west of the Bay. These storms advanced landwards along west and north-westerly tracks giving bursts of moderate to heavy rain in the areas in North-Eastern India traversed by them.

The rainfall of the month of July was generally above the normal over Bengal and Assam and the southern half of the Peninsula and was in moderate to largish defect in the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, Rajputana, Central India, North Bombay, Berar and the Central Provinces.

The conditions in August were very similar to those initiated during the last week of July. The Arabian Sea current was stronger and steadier than usual throughout the month and extended to its furthest limits in the Punjab during the greater part of the month. A succession of three storms formed in the north of the Bay, two of which advanced west-north-westwards through the Central Provinces and Central India into Rajputana and the third through Chota Nagpur and the eastern districts of the Central Provinces into the North-Western Provinces. These storms gave heavy rain to the areas they traversed, and the indraught to them diminished the rainfall in Assam, East Bengal and Burma and also in the West coast districts and the Deccan.

The rainfall of the month was in slight to moderate excess in Burma but was more or less below the normal in Assam and the greater part of Bengal, Bihar, and the North-Western Provinces. It was in slight to large excess in the Punjab, Berar, the Central Provinces, Central India, Gujarat and Kathiawar and normal in the West Coast and the South and Central Deccan.

The conditions in September were similar to those which obtained in August. A moderately strong and steady monsoon obtained in the Arabian Sea and a normal but somewhat unsteady monsoon in the Bay. Three cyclonic storms formed in the Bay and advanced into the North-Western Provinces, determining heavy rain to the areas in and near their tracks and diminishing the rainfall in the arears to the north and east outside the storms.

The first storm was feeble but gave a heavy burst of rain in Berar, the Central Provinces, Rajputana and Gujarat from the 5th to the 7th. The second disturbance of the month was the most remarkable of the year. Two cyclonic storms apparently followed each other across the Orissa Coast at an interval of two days. The second of these storms was absorbed by the first in the Central Provinces and the combined disturbances intensified and was almost stationary for some days in that area. It finally advanced slowly into the North-Western Provinces and filled up in that area on the 28th. It gave an extraordinarily heavy downpour of rain in parts of South and West Bengal. Calcutta obtained a total of 40·35 inches during the week ending 8 A.M. of 25th September or 13·44 inches greater than the heaviest total rainfall hitherto recorded in any month (viz., 26·91 inches in August 1844).

The rainfall of the month of September was hence very partially and irregularly distributed. The districts affected directly by the storms, including Lower Bengal, Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the Central Provinces, the North-Western Provinces, Central India and parts of Rajputana and the Punjab, obtained much heavier rain than usual. In Assam, the Deccan and Gujarat the rainfall of the month was, on the other hand, more or less below the average. Madras and Mysore had more frequent rain than usual.

The following table (1) gives the mean rainfall data of the south-west monsoon proper for ten large provinces :—

The rainfall of the monsoon period of 1900 was slightly above the normal on the mean of the whole of India. It was more than 10 per cent. in excess in the Punjab (+29 per cent.) and the Central Provinces (+17 per cent.) and more than 10 per cent. in defect in one area, viz., North Bombay. The variations were less than 10 per cent. in seven of the large political divisions.

The following comparative data (Tables II to V) show more fully the distribution of the rainfall of the past monsoon as far as amount only is concerned.

The rainfall of the period was more than 20 per cent. in defect in seven divisions, includiug three in Bengal and Assam, one in the Punjab and three in Bombay. It was in slight to large defect in Upper Burma, Assam, North and East Bengal, due to the large indraught of the Bay monsoon current in August and September to Upper India. It was also in moderate to large defect in a part of the Bombay Presidency, including Gujarat, Sind, and Baluchistan and in the West Punjab, due to abnormal pressure conditions, the existence of which was noted in the June forecast.

The data of Tables II, III, IV and V show that the rainfall of the monsoon period of 1900 was above the normal in 26 divisions and below the normal in 28 out of 54 divisions of the Empire. The deficiency was 20 per cent. or less in 21 divisions, between 20 and 50 per cent. in six divisions and exceeded 50 per cent. in one division only. The area of greatest percentage deficiency included Baluchistan, the West Punjab, Sind and Gujarat in which it averaged 40 per cent.

The meteorology of October and November has been slightly abnormal, the chief feature being the early withdrawal of the retreating south-west monsoon current from the Bay. The Arabian sea current apparently held steadily and strongly until nearly the end of September, but withdrew rapidly from its northern limits in the beginning of October and hence later than usual.

A storm formed in the centre of the Bay and passed by a curved path through the Central Provinces into Chota Nagpur and Bihar in the second week of October. It gave light to moderate rain in parts of the Central Provinces and North-Eastern India. Numerous showers fell in the south and centre of the Peninsula in the third week of the month.

A second and more severe storm formed in the Bay in the last week of the month and passed slowly westwards across the Coromandel Coast, near Madras, into the Peninsula. The course of this storm and the character of the rainfall indicated that the south-west monsoon was retreating much more rapidly southwards than usual.

The total rainfall of the month of October was in moderate to considerable defect in Burma, Bengal, Assam, Berar, the Central Provinces, the Konkan, the Bombay Deccan and in excess only in the south of the Peninsula. The deficiency was largish in North-Eastern India, the Konkan, the Deccan and North Madras and affected the rice crops to some extent.

The Bay monsoon current withdrew unusually early in November. Practically no rain fell in North-Eastern India, Burma, Assam and the Peninsula (except the extreme south) during the month. The rainfall of the month was hence exceptionally small in these areas and the deficiency was serious in some parts of the Deccan, affecting the crops very considerably. The rainfall of the month was in considerable to large defect in actual amount in the Coromandel Coast districts and in Central and South-Central Madras. Temperature hence fell much less rapidly than usual and was in moderate to large excess over the whole of North-Western and Central India and the Deccan area. Several feeble disturbances affected the Persian area, Upper India and the Kashmir and Punjab Himalayas in October and November. They gave much cloud and occasional snow in Persia, Baluchistan, and Afghanistan. The precipitation was apparently heavier than usual in the Western Himalayas and Baluchistan, but was small in actual amount in Persia.

The following table gives data of rainfall in the larger provinces of India from the 30th September to the 24th November 1900:—

Bombay	1·01	5·89	—4·88	—83
Madras	8·79	11·85	—3·06	—26

The data of the preceding table show that practically no rain fell during the retreating south-west monsoon in the months of October and November over Berar and North Bombay, and very light rain in the Punjab, Rajputana, Central India and Bombay, and also that the rainfall of the period was in more or less serious defect over the whole of India. The deficiency was greatest absolutely as well as relatively to the normal in Berar (—100) and Bombay (—83).

The rainfall in the Madras Presidency was very unequally distributed, as is shown by the following statement:—

The preceding tables and discussion have given the chief features of the weather in India during the past six months.

The following are the more important known features in the meteorology of India which have to be taken into consideration in forecasting the character of the cold weather rains and winter snowfall of 1900-1901 :—

1st.—The character of the past south-west monsoon, more especially the contrast between the early arrival and unsteadiness of the Bengal current and the delay in the establishment but subsequent steadiness of the Bombay current.

2nd.—The delay in the full establishment of the rains over the area usually supplied by the Bombay current which was due to causes outside India. These causes apparently ceased to be operative after July as a stronger and steadier monsoon current than usual prevailed in August and September in the Arabian Sea.

3rd.—The later termination of the rains than usual over a large part of the area subject to the Bomboy monsoon current. This feature was most marked in North Bombay, Rajputana, and the Punjab.

4th.—The character of the rains in North-Eastern India and Burma where they were much more irregularly and partially distributed than usual.

5th.—The early withdrawal of the monsoon current from the Bay in November with which was associated scanty rainfall in the Deccan and North and Central Madras and moderate rain in South Madras and Mysore in October and November.

6th.—The abnormal pressure conditions in India during the past three or four months. Pressure averaged ·028″ in excess in September, ·040″ in excess in October, and ·004″ in defect in November. The local variations were not large nor very important. In September the chief features were, moderate excess in Northern India and moderate to considerable deficiency over the Peninsula, greatest in the Central Provinces. The local variations in October were on the whole similar to those which obtained in September. Pressure was in slight to moderate local excess in North-Western and Central India and Bengal and in slight to moderate defect in the southern half of the Peninsula and in Lower Burma. In November pressure was in moderate relative defect in North-Western India and in moderate relative excess in the Peninsula, the excess being greatest in the Coromandel Coast districts.

These local variations of pressure are of comparatively little importance as cold weather rainfall indications and were related to the actual distribution of the retreating south-west monsoon rainfall. The excess pressure in the Peninsula in November is such as usually accompanies the early withdrawal of the retreating monsoon current from the Bay. Similar conditions obtained in November 1889, 1891, 1892, 1895, 1896, 1897, and 1899.

7th.—The abnormal temperature, humidity and cloud conditions of the month of November, the most noteworthy feature of which was a large excess of temperature due to deficient rainfall over the whole of North-Western, Western, and Central India. The weather in these areas was, as might be expected, characterized by unusual dryness of the air and freedom from cloud and also by abnormally high temperature for the season. The excess of temperature in November was large and marked in the area including the Punjab, Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, Kathiawar, Central India, Berar, the western and central districts of the Central Provinces and the West Deccan.

The following gives the variations of the mean temperature from the normal for each month from September to November for these areas :—

West Deccan	+1·7	+1·4	+2·9

Similar temperature conditions obtained in the following periods :—November 1877, 1895, 1896, 1898 and 1899.

8th.—The character and distribution of the early winter snowfall in the Upper India hills. Occasional snow has fallen on the higher elevations in Kashmir, Garhwal, Chitral and the Punjab Himalayas in October and November. The chief periods were the 1st to the 3rd, the 21st to the 23rd and the 28th October and the 21st to the 23rd November. The falls were generally reported to be moderately heavy but melted rapidly. The precipitation of this period was considerably below the normal in the outer ranges of the Himalayas, but was in moderate excess in the higher ranges and also in Baluchistan. It was also in slight excess in Persia. The snow accumulation is at present (1st December) probably smaller than usual at this period of the year in the Western Himalayas and the Hindu Kush, but to a less extent than was the case twelve months ago. The snowline on the ranges near Leh during the last fortnight of October was at an elevation of 14,000 feet. It was at an elevation of about 11,000 feet on the snowy ranges to the north of Simla and of the Kashmir Valley at the end of November and was hence about normal. So far as can be judged, there is hence no tendency to an earlier and more severe winter than usual.

A consideration of the previous, more especially in connection with the years in which similar conditions obtained, shows that all, with the exception of perhaps (2), are not favourable to abundant winter rains; (3) and (5) are of very little importance as indications; (4) is slightly favourable; (6) and (7) are slightly very unfavourable; and (8) is, on the other hand, slightly favourable.

Three other elements or factors require to be taken into consideration. These are :—

(1) the vertical pressure anomalies in Northern India during the past three months;

(2) the phase of the long-period oscillation at present in progress; and

(3) the remarkably persistent conditions accompanying and giving rise to the partial failure of the winter rains during the past five seasons in the large area including Upper India, the Western Himalayas, Afghanistan, Baluchistan, Persia, Asiatic Turkey and perhaps South Russia.

The following is a statement of these conditions and their values as indications of the approaching cold weather rains :—

(1) The vertical pressure anomalies.

The following gives the vertical pressure anomalies for September, October and November, as determined from ten pairs of stations :—

Pair of Stations.	Actual vertical pressure anomaly.

Pachmarhi—Hoshangabad	—·022	—·025	—·009

The variations of pressure during the months of September and October at the level of the hills, as compared with the plains, have been such as to show a very slight excess at the level of the hills in Baluchistan and the Punjab and the Kumaon and Kashmir Himalayas, a slight excess in the Sikkim Himalayas, and a slight deficiency in Rajputana and in Southern India. There was, on the other hand, a large excess in November, and hence to employ the technical expression, the vertical pressure anomalies of the period were positive in Baluchistan and Upper India and were also increasing in amount with the advance of the season. They were largish in amount in November. They are hence of considerable significance.

The following gives comparative data (in thousandths of an inch) of the mean vertical pressure anomalies of October and November for 1900 and the previous seven years for six pairs of stations :—

Pair of Stations.	Vertical pressure anomaly in thousandths of an inch.
	1893.	1894.	1895.	1896.	1897.	1898.	1899.	1900.

Ranikhet—Bareilly	P	+14	+17	+25	+28	+15	+19	+22

The data show that the vertical pressure anomalies were positive and moderate to considerable in amount for each year from 1895, and that they are similar in character in the present year and the preceding five years and strongly resemble those of 1899.

This is a strong indication of the probability that the general character of the approaching winter rains in the Persian area and North-Western India will be similar to that of the past five cold weathers, and more especially to that of the cold weather of 1899-1900, and that the precipitation of the period will hence be probably in slight to moderate general defect in North-Western India.

(2) The present phase of the long period oscillation in progress is almost unique but slightly resembles the corresponding phases in October and November of the years 1885 and 1893. The resemblance is most marked between the present season and the corresponding season of 1885.

The cold weather rains in 1885-86 were in considerable excess in that year. There is a very slight probability from this indication of increased rainfall in North-West India during the approaching cold-weather period.

(3) The prolonged abnormal meteorological conditions associated with the emarkable deficiency of the winter rains in the past five years over the large area, including North-Western India, the Western Himalayan region, Baluchistan, Afghanistan, Persia, Asiatic Turkey and probably also a large portion of Central Asia and perhaps South-East Russia.

The persistent deficiency of the winter rains during the past five cold weather seasons in these areas is indicated by the following data for stations in t he areas affected for which reliable rainfall means have been obtained :—

The data indicate that the deficiency was, on the whole, most pronounced and general in the winter of 1898-99 and is now probably approaching the end of this cyclical variation.

Considering the large extent and the position of the areas affected by these unfavourable and scanty winter rains, it is evident that this feature cannot be due to local conditions in India, but must be due to general variations of the air movement (more especially in the upper and middle strata), and hence also of the pressure conditions over probably the whole of Central and Southern Asia and perhaps the adjacent seas to the south and in South-East Europe. No information has yet been obtained for these areas, excluding India, which would throw any light on the causes of this persistent partial failure of the winter rains; and it is hence not possible to decide whether they continue to act with the same intensity as during the past five years, or whether they are beginning to give way either slowly or rapidly.

It may, however, be noted that this feature may perhaps be connected with peculiar conditions in the sun, one of which is protracted high temperature as indicated by spectroscopic and other observations. This began in 1894-95 and has continued steadily up to the present time and there are as yet no indications shown by the observations of the early termination of these abnormal conditions. The high temperature was for some time normal in its occurrence at and for some time after the maximum of the sun periodicity (in 1893). This condition should have, according to the normal course, terminated in 1896 and before the minimum of the period. The latter has, however, not yet occurred and the solar conditions are hence at present, as they have been, since 1896 very abnormal.

The known meteorological conditions of India in October and November of the present year most closely resemble those of the corresponding months of the years 1885, 1896, and 1899 and more especially those of 1899.

The following forecast of the probable distribution of the cold-weather rainfall in Northern India and the Persian area is based upon the preceding data :—

(1) The winter precipitation in Persia will very probably be below the normal to a moderate extent and in Baluchistan to a slight extent.

(2) The snowfall in the Punjab Himalayas and the Afghan mountains will very probably not be above the normal and will probably be in slight to moderate defect over the greater part of the area. If the vertical pressure anomalies for Leh are correct, the indications would make it, on the whole, probable that the snowfall on the higher ranges of the Western Himalayas will be above the normal to a slight extent.

(3) The large positive vertical anomalies at Darjeeling (if correct) probably indicate that the snowfall over the Eastern Himalayas during the next three months will be considerably less than usual.

(4) The winter rains in Upper India, i. e., the Punjab, Sind and Rajputana (from December to February) will very probably not be above the normal and probably be in slight to moderate defect.

(5) It is very probable that the winter precipitation in the Gangetic Plain will be in moderate defect.

(6) It is, on the whole, probable the rainfall from December to March in Central India and the Central Provinces and in perhaps the adjacent districts of Chota Nagpur and the North-Western Provinces, as indicated by the temperature and pressure conditions in November, will be above the small normal of the period.

(7) The probability of an early commencement of the winter rains in the plains of Upper or Central India is very slight, and it is very probable they will not commence before the fourth week of December.

(8) As a corollary of the preceding inferences it is probable the spring rainfall will commence somewhat earlier than usual in Assam and perhaps Bengal and be at least normal and probably slightly above it.

These probabilities are based on known conditions and on the continuance of the abnormal unknown conditions in the Persian and Upper Indian areas (and probably the adjacent countries to the north) and of the probable persistence of the solar conditions which appear to be related to these conditions. As noted above, they are synchronous with an abnormal feature in the solar conditions which has not yet terminated. It is not possible to take the solar conditions in the present state of our knowledge into actual account in the estimate of probabilities. The chief chance of the occurrence of more favourable rain than is anticipated from the known conditions lies in the early terminations of these unknown conditions and actions, of which, however, there is at present no indication.

STATISTICS OF THE TRADE OF INDIA WITH CHINESE AND RUSSIAN TURKISTAN AND TIBET FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1900.

No. 381, dated Leh, the 10th August 1900.

From—Captain R. L. Kennion, Assistant to the Resident in Kashmir for Leh, Ladakh,

To—Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Adelbert Talbot, K.C.I.E., Resident in Kashmir, Srinagar.

I have the honour to submit herewith, for favour of transmission to the Government of India, the statistics of the trade of India with Chinese and Russian Turkistan and Tibet for the year ending 31st March 1900.

2. The total value of trade which passed through Leh during the year under report amounts to Rs. 36,50,131-13-0 against Rs. 39,75,168-4-0 in the previous year, a decrease of Rs. 3,25,036-7-0.

3. The subjoined table gives the figures for the past ten years :—

4. The schedule below gives the value and direction of the trade for the past two years between India, Chinese Turkistan, and Tibet :—

5. The following notes show the fluctuations in the trade in some of the principal commodities :—

(A)—Piece Goods.

The exports to Turkistan of English and Continental piece goods amounted to Rs. 4,32,062-8 against Rs. 4,88,250 in the previous year, that of Indian manufactured cotton to Rs. 3,000 against Rs. 3,510 in the previous year.

Exports to Tibet of English and Continental goods Rs. 2,500 against Rs. 2,000 in the previous year, and of Indian goods Rs. 7,260 against Rs. 1,920.

(B)—Drugs and Medicines.

The import figures of charas for the last four years in maunds are as follows :—

	Mds. Srs. ch.	Rs.	a.	p.
1896-97	4,663 22 0=3,03,130		12	0
1897-98	4,020 16 4=2,21,122		5	6
1898-99	5,191 8 4=1,24,588		15	0
1899-1900	3,920 1 4=	66,640	8	6

The price of charas in Leh last year was lower than it has ever been hitherto, averaging Rs. 17 per maund.

As a pony-load of 2 maunds 32 seers would thus only realise Rs. 47-8 in Leh and a pony-hire from Yarkand to Leh is about Rs. 18 to Rs. 30, it is clear that to bring charas last year to Leh for sale was not a profitable transaction.

(C)—Dyeing Material.

The following figures show the value of indigo exported to Turkistan during the past four years :—

	Rs.
1896-97	27,160
1897-98	68,640
1898-99	35,880
1899-1900	11,562

(D)—Hides and Skins.

The following figures show the value of hides exported to Turkistan during the past four years :—

	Rs.
1896-97	61,980
1897-98	52,892
1898-99	48,504

(E)—Leather.

The export of leather to Turkistan shows a decrease in value of Rs. 48,485 in the year under report.

Prices, however, have fallen in Leh from Rs. 35 to Rs. 30 per score, which accounts to some extent for the lower figure.

(F)—Carpets and Namdahs.

The trade in namdahs shows an increase of Rs. 3,098 over last year.

The following figures show the number of namdahs, rates of sale, and total values for the past five years :—

	Quantity.	Rate. Rs. a.	Value. Rs.
1895-96	12,972	2 8	27,844
1896-97	9,168	2 8	23,550
1897-98	10,950	2 0	27,375
1898-99	14,621	2 0	29,242

(G)—Precious Metals.

The amount of both gold and silver brought into Leh during the year under report shows an increase of Rs. 45,680.

This is partly due to the chief export from Turkistan, charas, being no longer a profitable investment and many traders preferring in consequence to carry but cash and specie to India, but it is also due to the very large number of Hajis that passed through Leh from Central Asia during the year under report, each of whom carried a certain amount of coin or "yamba

The following are the figures for the past five years :—

	Gold.	Silver.
	Rs.	Rs.
1895-96	3,25,925	6,17,524
1896-97	3,48,339	5,82,347
1897-98	2,48,161	2,18,412
1898-99	2,59,710	2,76,640
1899-1900	2,24,362	3,57,668

(H)—Silk, Raw.

Raw silk to the value of Rs. 70,370-2 was imported during the year as against Rs. 65,494 worth imported in the previous year, an increase of Rs. 4,876.

The figures for the previous four years are as follows :—

	Rs.
1896-97	84,050
1897-98	15,570
1898-99	65,494
1899-1900	70,370

As in the case of namdahs, with silk also the effect of the increased importation has been to lower prices, which fell from Rs. 260 to Rs. 245 per maund.

(I)—Spices.

The following figures show the value of spices exported to Turkistan during the year :—

	Rs.
1895-96	86,225
1896-97	58,590
1897-98	22,060
1898-99	16,850
1899-1900	19,325

(J)—Precious Stones.

Turquoises and Corals.

The trade in coral shows a decrease of Rs. 37,779 as compared with that of last year.

Dealings under the head of turquoises show an increase of Rs. 11,524 over that of the previous year.

The figures for the last ten years are attached :—

	Rs.
1890-91	45,532
1891-92	56,286
1892-93	56,288
1893-94	1,47,030
1894-95	2,43,262
1895-96	2,48,045
1896-97	1,86,405
1897-98	1,56,440
1898-99	1,31,649
1899-1900	93,870

(K)—Indian Tea.

The Indian tea brought into Leh this year shows an increase in value of Rs. 1,105, but this is mainly due to a rise in the bazar rate.

The figures for the last ten years are as subjoined :—

	Rs.
1890-91	32,947
1891-92	37,220
1892-93	39,060
1893-94	45,700
1894-95	57,280
1895-96	72,315
1896-97	73,025
1897-98	43,180
1898-99	28,970
1899-1900

The following figures show the export to Turkistan of Indian tea for the past five years :—

	Mds.	Srs.	Value. Rs.	a.
1895-96	1,054	0	36,890	0
1896-97	1,594	0	39,850	0
1897-98	960	0	19,600	0
1898-99	711	20	14,230	8

(L)—LHASSA BRICK TEA.

The figures showing value of Lhassa brick tea imported into Leh for the last ten years are as follows :—

	Rs.
1890-91	24,640
1891-92	46,980
1892-93	39,285
1893-94	18,447
1894-95	45,448
1895-96	22,320
1896-97	21,881
1897-98	20,100
1898-99	14,052
1899-1900	18,312

(M)—WOOL.

Unmanufactured.

Imported from Tibet and sent to Kashmir.

The trade under this head shows an increase of Rs. 10,275 over that of previous year.

The figures showing maundage and value of wool imported in Leh for the past four years are as follows :—

	Mds.	Srs.	Value Rs.
1896-97	1,904	20	=34,182
1897-98	963	0	=15,408
1898-99	726	0	=14,520
1899-1900	1,618	0	=24,795

These figures show a proportion only of the trade in wool that passes through Ladakh. A very large quantity of wool goes direct from the Rudok district of Tibet to Kulu without passing through Leh, and thus escapes registration. Rates have dropped from Rs. 20 to Rs. 15 owing to the increased supply.

(N)—PASHM.

The following figures show the value of pashm brought into Leh from Turkistan and Tibet respectively during past four years :—

	YARKAND.		TIBET.			TOTAL.
	Mds.	Value. Rs.	Mds.	srs.	Value. Rs. a.	Mds.	srs.	Value. Rs. a.

GENERAL REMARKS.

3. The total value of the trade passing through Leh has again dropped by about 3½ lakhs. This result is universally ascribed to the charas trade being no longer profitable owing to the imposition of the tax of Rs. 80 per maund on imports of charas into the Punjab. The effect of this tax appears to have been to at once diminish the consumption of the drug and to curtail the profits of those engaged in the wholsale * trade. About 75 per cent. of the capital sunk in the trade between India and Central Asia is found by Hindus of the Punjab, the others engaged in the trade being for the most part Yarkandi Muhammadans. The latter generally speaking travel as far as Leh only, where they get rid of their goods by sale or barter.

* Note.—This, of course, re-acts on the export trade from India also.

R. L. K.

For these the year under report was a disastrous one as the price of charas ruled so low in Leh that their expenses were not covered. The Hindu traders who bought in Yarkand or Leh and sold in the Punjab, on the other hand, made a small margin of profit but insufficient to induce them to operate on a larger scale this year. The bulk of whatever profits were realised in the trade went apparently to a ring of Punjabi Hindus who bought up all the charas in the Government warehouses and have combined to keep up the price at which it is sold to contractors.

This year the profits will probably be more equally divided, but they are not large enough for there to be any hopes of a general revival of the trade.

7. There do appear, however, to be signs that the trade has at length begun to adjust itself to these new conditions, and it is possible that after this year equilibrium will be restored and a normal level reached. These are that instead of pouring charas down in increased quantities in payment for British Indian goods as was done in the preceding year, thus still further depressing prices already sufficiently low, traders have during the year under report sought other media than charas for conveying to India the capital realised by the sale of their British Indian goods in Yarkand. Wool, namdahs, and silk were all brought down in larger quantities than heretofore; but the increased supply had the inevitable effect of lowering prices, and the profits on this class of goods was certainly not large. The future of the trade depends on the extent to which these and other commodities will, in the next few years, prove a profitable substitute for charas.

Note.—As it is not easy for traders to at once find a profitable substitute for charas, notes and specie were taken to India to a much greater extent than heretofore.

R. L. K.

8. I reported last year that thirty-one mules had been purchased in Leh for the Government of India. During the year under report fifty-two mules were bought by me at a cost of Rs. 7,207, many of these being up to the ordnance standard. It is hoped that this trade will slowly increase.

9. The barter trade in salt and grain between Tibet and the neighbouring Kashmir districts was very brisk during the year; but as this does not pass through Leh, it is not registered.

The figures recording the export of wool from Tibet are also very far from representing the actual trade.

The greater part of this Tibetan export passes through the Rukshu district of Ladakh to Kulu and the Punjab and so escapes registration in this office.

The wool and pashm produced in Tibet is, perhaps, the finest in the world, and there can be no question that the trade has a future before it as the supply is practically unlimited.

R. L. KENNION, Captain,
Assistant to the Resident in Kashmir for Leh.

Report on the Trade, vid Ladakh, between India and Chinese Turkistan ending the 31st March 1900.

My Trade Report for 1898-99 was far from encouraging in tone. That for 1899-1900 must, I fear, partake of the same character. In the absence of the Leh statistics for the present year it would be impossible to make any accurate comparison between this and previous year's traffic; but there is reason to think that a further general decline has taken place, and that, since 1895-96, the present year's trade may prove to be the lowest on record in value.

2. Many causes have already been alluded to in former reports on the Ladakh trade; but as the traffic of 1899-1900, as well as that of recent years, has been submitted to their influence, they may, without redundancy, be here recapitulated.

3. (a) Dislocation of trade consequent on the imposition in India of a duty on charas.

It is noteworthy that, despite the taxation initiated in 1895-96, the subsequent yearly export of charas has not materially diminished in quantity, in comparison with the export of, say, 1894-95, which year may, perhaps, be taken as typical for showing what the charas trade, but for taxation, might have developed to. That year's export, according to the Ladakh Trade Returns, was 4,151 maunds; and as the market price of the drug in the Punjab was then Rs. 60 per maund, its total value would have been about Rs. 2,49,060. In the present year, the export, despite taxation, appears to have been not less than 4,000 maunds; but the price, hitherto realized in the Punjab by traders, seems to have been only about Rs. 24 per maund, or 60 per cent. less than that of 1894-95.

Charas was bought in Yarkand during the spring of 1899 at an average rate of Rs. 12 per maund; and with an additional outlay, say, of Rs. 17 for package and transport, the actual cost of that quantity, on arrival in India, should have been Rs. 29. As the total export is estimated at 4,000 maunds, the capital transferred to India during 1899-1900, by means of charas, may be estimated to be Rs. 1,16,000, an amount which is about 53 per cent. less than that conveyed through the same medium in the year 1894-95. This reduction of value is undoubtedly attributable to Government taxation.

It would have been desirable that, in proportion as the charas traffic declined in profitableness, traders could have diverted their capital to some other substitutional article of export. But hitherto this has not taken place on any large scale.

The export trade may, therefore, be considered to have actually lost by the amount represented by the diminished value of charas in India. This loss has, of course, also re-acted detrimentally on the import trade.

4. (b) The fictitious value of the rupee.—Kashgaria being a silver-using country, prices are necessarily fixed according to a silver basis. As the rupee has attained a value over 50 per cent. higher than that of the silver represented by it, a tendency has set in to increase the prices in Yarkand of Indian merchandize. It is estimated that in goods, wherein there is no foreign competition, a general rise of from 10 to 15 per cent. has taken place in recent years. This undoubtedly has had a doubly detrimental effect on trade, for the rise has diminished demand, whilst it has been insufficient to traders, as a compensation on account of the enhanced silver value of the rupee.

5. (c) Russian, Chinese, and local competition.—The subjoined list will show how the sale of goods imported vid Ladakh is affected by these causes :—

Country of production or manufacture.	List of Imports affected by the trade competition of
	Russia.	China.	Yarkand.
England	Longcloth. Cotton prints. Handkerchiefs. Gumtis. Alpaca. Threads.
Germany and France.	Velvet. Flannel. Broadcloth.
Germany	Dyes. Needles. Cutlery.
India	Sugar Lungis	Tea Opium	Goat-skins. Lungis.

6. Of the Russian trade of the present year, no statistics are available. But judging from its general appearance of prosperity one cannot but think that it compares favourably with that of previous years, and that it is, in those goods which are imported alike from Russia and India, competing with the Indian trade with ever-increasing severity.

It is worthy of note that, since my report for the year ending the 31st March 1898 was prepared, some reductions in freights between European Russia and Kashgar has taken place, through the increased facilities for transport brought about by the opening to traffic of the Siberian and Samarkand-Andijan Railways. In 1898 the cost of the carriage of one pood or 0·44 maund of goods from Moscow to Kashgar was estimated at Rubles 3-65.

At present goods for Kashgar appear to be chiefly from Nishni Novgorod; and transport per pood from that town is stated as follows :—

	Ruble.
Nishni to Tokmak (by rail to Petropavlovsk, and thence by cart vid Akmolinsk to Tokmak	1-80
Tokmak to Kashgar (by pony or camel)	0-40
TOTAL	2-20

N. B.—This route, apparently newly opened, is said to be 1,500 versts shorter than that vid Semipalatinsk and Verneie, which was in use in 1898.

(2) Vid RUSSIAN TURKISTAN.

	Ruble.
Nishni to Andijan (by boat and rail)	2-20
Andijan to Kashgar (by pony)	1-25
TOTAL	3-45

Average cost per pood = Rubles 2-82½ = Rs. 4-6-0.

7. The Chinese competition affects the Indian trade in two classes of goods only, viz., tea and opium.

Tea from India is, as is well known, officially speaking, prohibited in Chinese Turkistan.

Of the total amount of tea consumed in Kashgaria, 80 per cent. is said to be Chinese, and 20 per cent. Indian. The Indian share of this trade appears to be somewhat small when the distances between Hunan and Yarkand and between Kangra and Yarkand are compared.

The trade in Kashmir opium, formerly considerable, has been all but extinguished by Chinese competition.

The subjoined table contains some details regarding prices, etc.:—

Locality at which the opium is produced.	Percentage of adulteration.	Price per liang (=3⅓ tola).
		In native currency.	In Indian currency.
			Rs. a. p.
China Proper .	20 per cent.	Tengas 3	0 6 10
Ili . .	Ditto	Ditto	0 6 10
Karakul (Russian)	30 per cent.	Tengas 2	0 4 6
Ushturfan .	Ditto	Ditto	0 4 6
Badakhshan	20 per cent.	Tengas 3	0 6 10
Kishtwar (Kashmir)	30 per cent.	Tengas 2	0 4 6

8. With regard to native competition, it may be mentioned that lungis, which formerly were exclusively imported from India, are now manufactured in Yarkand, and that the native cloth is interfering with the sale of the Indian. The tanning of goat-skins seems also to have made considerable progress in the same town; so much so that possibly to this fact may be ascribed the reason that the Indian trade in goat-skins during 1899-1900 has, as compared with that of the previous year, fallen off by about Rs. 70,000.

9. (d) Competition of Russian and Indian merchants as purchasers in the wool markets.

This naturally tends to enhance the prices of native produces, which are in demand alike in Russia and in India. Pashm, wool, felts, carpets, chakman (coarse native cotton cloth), and raw silk are exported to both countries.

10. As regards the exports to India, charas will, doubtless, still occupy a prominent place, despite taxation in the Punjab and North-Western Provinces. This drug, owing to the peculiar circumstance of its production, is possessed of considerable commercial vitality. No special ground is ever allotted by cultivators to the hemp plant, which is invariably grown along the border of irrigation-canals or on the edges of fields, more or less as a protection for crops occupying the central space. It is extremely hardy and needs no care. Its fibres are employed in the making of ropes, and its seed furnishes an oil useful for lighting and cooking purposes. Even, therefore, if the hemp plant did not possess the substance necessary for the preparation of the drug known as charas, its utility would still justify its cultivation. Evidently, it is by reason of this circumstance that the restraint, placed by taxation on the consumption of charas in India, has not perceptibly discouraged the growth of hemp in this country, and that a lowering of the local prices of charas has been possible, without a diminution of supply. Traders are of opinion that, so long as charas is exported each year in a moderate quantity, fair profits, even under present conditions, may be realised in India. One maund of charas now costs in Yarkand about Rs. 7; and as its carriage to Punjab and packing amount to Rs. 18, the total cost on arrival may be estimated at Rs. 25. But in order that the wholesale price in India may be kept somewhat above that figure, it is thought that the yearly export ought not to exceed 1,000 pony-loads, or about 3,000 maunds.

Some hope is entertained that as the charas trade declines in profitableness, traders will give their attention to developing a traffic in mules, a class of animals which is required by the Government of India for Mountain Batteries, and for the Commissariat Department. How far this hope is to be realised, time alone will show. But in the meantime it may be pointed out that a trade in mules is hampered by many difficulties. These animals mostly come from the distant provinces of Kansu, Shen-si, and Shan-si, and are by no means numerous in the south-western portion of the New Dominion. Again, their purchase in any number by individual traders necessitates large capital, and the sending out of agents, for their collection, to far-off districts like Urumtchi and Kuchar. Despite, however, these adverse circumstances, it is satisfactory to note that about 120 mules were sent to Ladakh during the year under report, a number which appears to be higher than that of preceding years since 1896, when the mule trade was initiated.

KASHGAR AGENCY;
The 26th June 1900.

GEORGE MACARTNEY,
Special Assistant for Chinese Affairs to the Resident in Kashmir.

Table showing the imports from India, viâ Ladakh, and their proportional consumption in different parts of Chinese Turkistan during the year 1899-1900.

Description of goods.	Percentage of consumption.				Remarks.
	Khotan.	Aksu.	Kashgar.	Yarkand.
1. COTTON, MANUFACTURED—
(a) European— Longcloth	37	37	...	26	As compared with 1898-99, the import of long-cloth during year under report has somewhat improved. The increase in quantity is due to the good prices realized on the 1898-99 stock, which was a small one. Russian competition is yearly increasing in severity, and is depressing prices so much that the present Indian stock is almost selling at a loss.
Muslin	25	25	25	25	Import increased by about Rs. 21,000 as compared with that of the previous year. Present stock selling remarkably well. No Russian competition.
Nainu and Sainu Gauzes	12	12	50	26	Import has decreased as compared with that of the previous year. No Russian competition in the specific articles; although a Russian material known as "Yumshak chint", which resembles the Sainu gauze in texture and colour, is interfering with the latter's sale.
Cotton prints (chints)	...	...	25	75	Import less than that of previous year. With the exception of a material known as "Gulabi," English prints are selling badly. Severest Russian competition.
Dhotis	12	50	13	25	Import has decreased by about Rs. 3,000 as compared with that of the previous twelve-month; but as present prices are good, an improvement is expected in 1900-01. During the last two years the fashion has come in for women to wear dhotis as a cloth for the head.
Handkerchiefs	13	25	50	12	Quantity imported has somewhat increased as compared with that of the previous year. It has become the usage in Kashgar for guests to present handkerchiefs on marriage occasions. Handkerchiefs are also imported from Russia; but the Russian material, owing to its superior texture, is more expensive than the English.
Gumti	50	25	...	25	Import has increased by about Rs. 1,800 in comparison with that of previous year.
Alwan Khaisi	13	12	25	50	Import, diminished by about Rs. 4,500, owing to enhanced price in India.
Cotton threads	25	25	...	50	Value estimated at Rs. 800. Imported for the first time, and selling fairly well.
Double zin	37	25	13	25	This appears to be a sort of unbleached long cloth. Value of import about Rs. 1,400. Selling well.
Nainsuk	50	13	25	12	Demand small.
(b) Indian— Lungis	13	37	25	26	Import will probably show a slight increase as compared with that of previous year. Selling fairly well. Small native competition.

Description of goods.	Percentage of consumption.				Remarks.
	Ist.			Yarkand.
2. Drugs and Spices	38	37	13	12	All of Indian production. Value as compared with that of last year would appear to have increased by about Rs. 3,000. Market at present good. The import of Kashmir opium has practically ceased.
3. Dyeing material—
Indigo	12	25	50	13	Import decreased owing to the large stock remaining over from the 1897-98 and 1898-99 seasons.
European colours	50			50	These colours are used in the preparation of Khotan and Yarkand carpets. But their importation has been practically diverted off the Ladakh route on to that viâ Russia.
4. Hides and skins—
Goat-skins	19	19	31	31	Import decreased by Rs. 17,000 owing partly to the 1898-99 stock not having been exhausted, and partly to the progress made in the native tanning industry in Yarkand, Kashgar, and Aksu.
Other skins		25	50	25	Import decreased by about Rs. 14,000 on account of dearness in India.
5. Silk, manufactured—
(a) Brocade of Benares		13	63	13	Import rather diminished; the use of this brocade having gone out of fashion. No Russian competition.
(b) Brocade of Surat (real and imitation).	13	25	50	12	Import increased by about Rs. 16,000. Present prices good. No Russian competition.
(c) Brocades, European		25	50	19	These are chiefly French. Import appears to be less than that of the previous year. Not in demand.
(d) Velvet	13	25	38	24	Import slightly decreased on account of Russian competition.
(e) Atlas (satin)	50			50	Value of import about Rs. 1,800. Russian competition.
6. Coral (Italian)	13	25	50	12	Import diminished by about Rs. 17,000, owing to the previous year's stock not having been exhausted. Export from Kashgar to Russian Turkistan has suffered considerably on account of the stringency of the Russian customs.
7. Sweetmeats—
(a) Sugar, Indian	50	13		37	Total value about Rs. 3,100. The import of Indian sugar likely to cease in the face of the present severe Russian competition.
(b) Jams and sweetmeats (Indian)	25	50	13	12	Value of total import, about Rs. 800.
8. Teas—
Kangra Valley	25	25	25	25	Import diminished by about Rs. 9,000. Selling fairly well.
Chinese tea viâ Bombay	25	25	25	25	Value of import about Rs. 1,200.
9. Wool, manufactured—
Broadcloth	13	12	25	50	Import somewhat diminished owing to falling off of demand. The goods are chiefly of French and German manufacture.
10. Needles	25	37	10	19	Import decreased owing to dearness in India and to Russian competition. Value of total import about Rs. 660.

Table showing the proportional exports from different parts of Chinese Turkistan to India viâ Ladakh, during the year 1899-1900.

	Khotan District.	Aksu District.	Kashgar District.	Yarkand District.
Charas	...	...	30	70	The charas exported to India in 1899-1900 was bought locally at an average price of Rs. 12 per maund.
Carpets	100	...	...	...	Quantity exported during the year under report has somewhat decreased, owing to enhanced prices in Khotan and to the competition consequent on the manufacture of carpets in Kashmir and the Punjab. Carpets largely exported to Russia.
Gold	90	...	...	10	Export estimated at 28 Indian seers. The falling off, as compared with the quantity sent to India during 1898-99, is probably due to the prohibition imposed by the Chinese authorities on the free sale of gold in Khotan. Present ratio in Khotan of gold to silver, 1 to 32.
Silver	...	...	...	100	The quantity of silver exported, estimated at Rs. 1,65,000. The increase, as compared with previous year's export, is partly due to the difficulty of purchasing gold in Khotan.
Russian Roubles	...	...	100	...	Owing to the fall in Kashgar in the price of Roubles, the transmission to India of these notes shows a considerable increase as compared with that made in 1898-99. The present value in Kashgar of a Rouble = Tael 0·637.
Raw silk	80	...	...	20	Fair profits were realized in India on the silk despatched in 1898-99. The quantity exported during the year under report will probably show an increase as compared with that of the previous twelve months. Raw silk also exported to Russia.
Wool (pashm)	15	40	25	20	Pashm is largely exported to Russia.
Chakmas (red coarse native cotton cloth).	...	...	...	100	Quantity imported estimated at 36 maunds. Exclusively for Ladakh.
Mules	...	70	...	30	About 120 mules were despatched to Ladakh in 1899-1900.
Namdahs	10	80	...	10	The export will probably show a decline as compared with that of the previous year. Namdahs largely despatched to Russia.
Pistachio nuts	...	...	...	...	These are from Badakhshan. Export from Yarkand estimated at 18 maunds.

Capital outlay.

4. The aggregate outlay charged off to "Construction" stood at the end of each of the last five years as follows :—

	£	Increase. £
To end of 1895	44,931,753	326,128
„ 1896	45,261,618	329,865

„ 1889	46,737,027	783,944
Increase in 5 years		2,131,402

5. The expenditure charged to "Construction" during and to end of the year, gives the following as the cost per mile of open line :—

Railway.	Construction expenditure per open mile. During 1899.	To end of 1899.	Remarks.
	R	R
Madras	1,557·39	1,43,722·09

Great Indian Peninsula	3,388·03	2,18,485·98
Average outlay per mile open	4,175·67	1,99,366·03

Except as regards the transactions of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, from 1st July 1899 and those of the Madras and Great Indian Peninsula Railway Extensions to which the "prescribed rate" of exchange has been applied the cost expressed in rupees is, as regards payments in England, at the old contract rates of exchange, which for many years have been higher than the actual rates, and consequently the cost is understated by the difference between the contract rate of exchange and the actual rate prevailing.

Capital locked up in stores.

6. The subjoined table shows the fluctuations in the value of stores in stock during the past five years :—

7. The increase in 1899 in the amount of Capital locked up in stores on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to heavy purchases of teak timber and steam coal. The reduction on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was owing chiefly to large issues of permanent-way material and of wheels and axles required to replace Cammel's axles which have been condemned.

8. On 31st December 1899, the value of the stores in stock on Guaranteed Railways compared with the limits provisionally assigned for Capital to be locked up in stores was as follows :—

MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 11th January 1901.

No. 46-I.—His Excellency the Grand Master of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India and the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire will hold an Investiture of both Orders in the grounds of Government House on Tuesday, the 26th February 1901, at 9-30 P.M.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India will at the same Darbar present the Kaisar-i-Hind Medals of the First Class.

Admission to Government House on the occasion will be by tickets only.

Members of the above-mentioned Orders and members of the Consular body will be invited by the Secretary in the Foreign Department, and Kaisar-i-Hind Medallists of the First Class will be invited by the Secretary in the Home Department. All other persons desirous of attending are requested to apply for tickets to the undersigned not later than the 14th February 1901, after which date no applications will be received. Tickets will be issued on or after the 21st February 1901.

Applications for tickets should have the word "Investiture" written on the outside of the envelope.

Gentlemen attending the ceremony who are entitled to wear uniform will appear in Full Dress, Military Officers in Review Order, and those not entitled to wear uniform in Evening Dress.

The carriages of those having the private entrée will enter the Government House grounds by the south-west gate, set down opposite the private entrance in front of the gun, and will be passed out by the south gate.

The carriages of those not having the private entrée will enter by the north-east gate, and set down before reaching the grand stairs.

The gates of Government House will be closed at 9-15 P.M., after which no carriages will be allowed into the Government House grounds until the ceremony is over.

By Command,

E. BARING, Lt.-Colonel,
Military Secretary to the Viceroy.

The number of persons to be selected at this Examination will be announced hereafter.

No person will be admitted to compete from whom the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, has not received on or before the 1st July, 1901, an application on the prescribed form, accompanied by a list of the subjects in which the Candidate desires to be examined.

The Order for admission to the Examination will be posted on the 15th July, 1901, to the address given on the Form of Application. It will contain instructions as to the time and place at which candidates will be required to attend, and as to the manner in which the fee (£6) is to be paid.

Civil Service Commission,
December, 1900.

REGULATIONS.

 The following Regulations, made by the Secretary of State for India in Council, are liable to alteration from year to year.*

1. An Examination for admission to the Civil Service of India, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London in August of each year. The date of the Examination and the number of appointments to be made for each Province will be announced beforehand by the Civil Service Commissioners.

2. No person will be deemed qualified who shall not satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners—

(i) That he is a natural-born subject of Her Majesty.

(ii) That he had attained the age of twenty-one, and had not attained the age of twenty-three, on the first day of the year in which the Examination is held.

[N.B.—In the case of Natives of India it will be necessary for a Candidate to obtain a certificate of age and nationality issued under Notification of the Government of India, No. 2252, dated 21st August, 1888, as amended by Notification No. 404, dated 19th May, 1898, and signed, should he be a resident in British India, by the Secretary to Government of the Province, or the Commissioner of the Division within which his family resides, or should he reside in a Native State, by the highest Political Officer accredited to the State in which his family resides.]

(iii) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him for the Civil Service of India.

(iv) That he is of good moral character.

3. Should the evidence upon the above points be primâ facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee, will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries, in the case of any Candidate, should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

4. The Open Competitive Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge:—

	Marks.
English Composition	500
Sanskrit Language and Literature	500
Arabic Language and Literature	500
Greek Language and Literature	750

Political Science (including Analytical Jurisprudence, the Early History of Institutions, and Theory of Legislation)	500
Roman Law	500
English Law. Under the head of "English Law" shall be included the following subjects, viz.:—(1) Law of Contract; (2) Law of Evidence; (3) Law of the Constitution; (4) Criminal Law; (5) Law of Real Property; and of these five subjects Candidates shall be at liberty to offer any four, but not more than four	500

Candidates are at liberty to name any or all of these branches of knowledge (a). None is obligatory.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks; and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (b) in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the branches in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above-mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates, will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case, the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate. A Candidate entitled to be deemed a selected Candidate, but declining to accept the nomination as such, which may be offered to him, will be disqualified for any subsequent competition.

9. Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will be examined, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (c) :—

[N.B.—Some changes may possibly be made in this Regulation before the Competitive Examination of 1901 is held.]

	Marks.
Compulsory—
1. Indian Penal Code	250
2. Code of Criminal Procedure	250
3. The Indian Evidence Act	250

For Burma	Burmese.
For Bombay	Marathi.
For Madras	Tamil or Telugu } At the option of
For the Lower Provinces of Bengal	Hindustani or Bengali } the Candidate.

In Hindustani the Candidate will be required to be acquainted with both the Persian and the Nagari character; and in the case of the last two Provinces mentioned above, a Candidate whose Vernacular Language is either of the languages shown against his Province, must offer the other for examination.

(a) Syllabus, defining the character of the Examination in the various subjects, may be obtained on application to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission.

(b) No deduction will be made from the marks assigned to Candidates in Mathematics or English Composition.

(c) Instructions, showing the extent of the Examination, will be issued to the successful Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.

	Marks.
Optional. [Not more than two of the following subjects.]
1. The Code of Civil Procedure and the Indian Contract Act	400

5. Persian	400
6. History of British India	350
7. Chinese (for Candidates assigned to the Province of Burma only)	400

* These subjects may not be offered by any Candidate who has offered them at the Open Competition.

In this Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination.

10. The selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in riding will be held, as follows:—

(1) Shortly after the result of the Open Competitive Examination has been declared, or at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary year.

(2) Again, at the time of the Final Examination, Candidates who may fully satisfy the Commissioners of their ability to ride well and to perform journeys on horseback, shall receive a Certificate which shall entitle them to be credited with 200 or 100 marks, according to the degree of proficiency displayed, to be added to their marks in the Final Examination.

(3) Candidates who fail to obtain this Certificate, but who gain a Certificate of minimum proficiency in riding, will be allowed to proceed to India, but will be subjected on their arrival to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of that Government. A Candidate who fails at the end of the year of probation to gain at least the Certificate of minimum proficiency in riding, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of Selected Candidates.

11. The selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates, must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, S. W.," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. The Forms must be returned so as to be received at the office of the Civil Service Commissioners on or before the 1st July (or, if that date should fall upon a Sunday or public holiday, then on or before the first day thereafter on which their office is open), in the year in which the Examination is to be held.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:—

(i) Selected Candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) An allowance amounting to £100 will be given to all Candidates who pass their probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrews, and Aberdeen; Victoria University, Manchester; University College, London; and King's College, London; provided such Candidates shall have passed the Final Examination to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, have conducted themselves well and complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of Selected Candidates. The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

(iii) The allowance of £100 will not be paid to any Selected Candidate until he has been certified by the Civil Service Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India; and every Certificated Candidate must, before receiving his allowance, give a written undertaking to refund the amount in the event of his failing to proceed to India.

(iv) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as, under the rules and regulations for the time being in force, they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(v) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Selected Candidates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.

(vi) Selected Candidates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificate of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(vii) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination held in any year will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

N.B.—A Manual of Rules and Regulations applicable to members of the covenanted Civil Service of India has been compiled by permission of the Government of India, and may now be procured either from Messrs. A. Constable & Co., 2, Whitehall Gardens, S.W., or from Mr. E. A. Arnold, 37, Bedford Street, Covent Garden. Price 2*s.* 6*d.*

The Commissioners have been requested by the Secretary of State for India to draw the attention of Selected Candidates to the prefatory note attached to this manual, as it is considered important that it should be clearly understood that this compilation is not to be regarded in any other light than that of a collection, made for facility of reference, of certain information and rules, that it is by no means exhaustive, and that it is liable to such modifications as may from time to time be sanctioned by competent authority.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 22nd May, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR THE TROOPS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

No. 9.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

Until further notice, State and Private telegrams in plain language addressed to persons serving with the Field Force in South Africa will be accepted at Sender's risk, and charged for at the rate of Re1-8 per word from offices in India or Burma. Telegrams in Code or Cypher cannot be accepted at this reduced rate. The address should consist of the following :—

(1) The name, or number, or both of the person to whom the telegram is addressed (in the case of officers the rank may be omitted, and in the case of telegrams for Non-Commissioned Officers and men the name may, in like manner, be omitted if the number is given. Such omissions, however, add to the risk of the telegram going astray, more especially when addressed to Non-Commissioned Officers and men), and

(2) The Regiment (this will be counted and charged for as one word irrespective of the number of words used).

These telegrams should be addressed "Bombay for South Africa" (words will be signalled free), and not to any Telegraph Office in South Africa. The Bombay Telegraph Office will forward them to the Officer Commanding at Capetown, who will deliver them to the Addressees at whatever place in South Africa they may be stationed.

Senders of telegrams should accurately describe the Regiment, Battalion, Battery or Corps, to which the Addressees are attached, as it appears in the "Army List." For example: the address of an Officer or Private in the "Rifles" should give the number of the Battalion, and make it quite clear whether it is a Battalion of the "Rifle Brigade," the "King's Royal Rifle Corps," the "Royal Irish Rifles," or the "Scottish Rifles (Cameronians)."

The reduced rate will also apply to telegrams addressed to members of the Nursing Staff serving in South Africa, and any telegrams addressed to a Nurse will be treated in the same way as those intended for soldiers and sailors.

Telegrams for officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men in South Africa who are known to be suffering from wounds or sickness may be addressed to them as if they were with their regiment or corps. Such telegrams, on arrival at the place where the regiment or corps is stationed, will be redirected to the proper hospital.

When, however, the name of the hospital is known to the sender of the message, he may address the telegram direct to that hospital, e.g., "Field Hospital, 1st Cavalry Brigade," or to "No. 2 General Hospital" or to "Mooi River Hospital."

In any case, the telegram should, as already stated, be addressed by the sender to "Bombay for South Africa," which words will not be charged for.

The following are given as examples of addresses and counting :—

"Captain Armstrong, 64th Royal Field Artillery, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "Captain Armstrong, Wynberg Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303 Murphy, 2nd Battalion Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303, Mooi River Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (two words).

II. Notification No. 5, dated the 8th May 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 22nd November, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE BRITISH AND INDIAN FORCES IN CHINA.

No. 34.—The following revised Notification is issued for general information :—

Until further notice, private telegrams, in plain language, for members of the British or Indian Military and Naval Forces in China, from their friends in India or Burma will be accepted at sender's risk and at the reduced rates mentioned below to the three following stations only, viâ Madras :—

1. To Shanghai at Re 0-15-0 per word.
2. „ Weihaiwei „ 1-3-0 „
3. „ Taku „ 1-4-0 „

In the official instructions the words "Reduced Rates" should be inserted, and will be signalled free.

Telegrams intended for Military or Naval members stationed at Hongkong should be addressed to Shanghai, and those for members stationed at Tientsin or Pekin should be addressed to Taku. These reduced rates will also apply to telegrams for Civilians in Military or Naval employ in China.

II. Notification No. 32, dated the 6th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 5th December, 1900.

No. 37.—The British Government announce that the transmission of Private telegrams for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal viâ Cape Colony and Natal, is now suspended.

Telegrams for Pretoria, Johannesburg, Vereeniging, Germiston, Middelburg, Heidelberg, and Standerton are, meanwhile, being accepted for transmission, viâ Lourenco Marques, at the usual rates. These telegrams should be written in plain English, and will be accepted only at the risk of the sender. They are also subject to censorship and to delay in transmission.

Calcutta, the 13th December, 1900.

No. 39.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

The Post Master General, London, announces that the British Government have decided to suspend at Aden and the Cape of Good

Hope the transmission of all telegrams in code or cipher, whether of foreign Governments or private persons, to or from British Central Africa, St. Helena and Ascension. Telegrams in plain language are subject to censorship, and can only be accepted at the risk of the sender.

Code messages for the following places, viz., Cape Colony, Natal, Rhodesia, Zanzibar, Seychelles, Mauritius, Madagascar, British and German East Africa, Mozambique and Lourenço Marques may, however, be accepted, if the words used are in one, or other, of the following Code Books, which have been deposited with the authorities at Aden, viz. :—

(1) A B C (4th edition).
(2) A Z.
(3) Scott's (9th edition).
(4) A 1.
(5) Telegraphenschlüessel of W. Staudt and O. Hundius (published by Julius Springer at Berlin).

(12) International Mercantile Telegraph Code (Meyer), 1880.
(13) The General, Commercial and Mining Telegram Code, 1897, by C. A. Moreing and F. C. McCutcheon.

Telegrams should be endorsed to the effect that the words used actually represent the corresponding expressions given in the above-Code Books.

elays occur at Aden in consequence of ficulty of determining which code has mployed, senders of telegrams to the amed places in East Africa should write message draft the name of the code ed. For instance A B C; A Z; Scott's; Staudt; Mercuur; Broomhall's; Direc- tlantic, 1898; Atlantic, 1900; Watkins; ; or McCutcheon. This information will uded in the "Official Instructions" and itted free of charge.

... Notification No. 36, dated the 29th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

No. 39-A.—In the event of the establishment in British India of a censorship over telegrams, the first twelve Code Books mentioned in Notification No. 39, dated the 13th of December, 1900, will be used in India for purposes similar to that for which they are employed in Aden.

The public are recommended to provide themselves with such of the codes as may appear suited to their requirements.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 29th December, 1900.

Conditions were slightly disturbed on Sunday in Baluchistan and Upper India due to the approach of a disturbance from Persia which entered Rajputana on Monday and was accompanied by a secondary depression in the Punjab. Pressure was in considerable to large defect in both depression areas and rain was general in the plains of Upper India, and rain and snow in the hills—Roorkee, Rawalpindi, Mussooree, Chakrata, Dras and Cherat—each received about one inch. By Tuesday morning the depression in the Punjab had nearly filled up and the depression in Rajputana had advanced eastwards into the south-eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces. Light to moderately heavy rain and snow had fallen in the Upper India hills and rain in the Sub-montane and East Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, the eastern states of Central India and Bihar. Chakrata received 2·12 inches, Simla 1·55 inches, Mussoorce 1·53 inches, Sutna 1·50 inches, Benares 1·29 inches, Cherat 1·24 inches, Mainpuri 1·09 inches, Dehra Dun 1·02 inches and Ludhiana 0·99 inch. The depression in the Punjab had disappeared completely on Wednesday and the depression in the North-Western Provinces had advanced into North Bengal, but it had almost filled up and was of very little importance. It had given a few light showers in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, North Bengal and Assam.

The barometer fell briskly in the Central Provinces on Tuesday, and a low pressure area was formed in this area which continued till Saturday when it filled up. It had very little effect upon the weather except giving cloud in the Central Provinces and light showers on Friday at Jubbulpore, Seoni, Chaïbassa, Ranchi, Hazaribagh and Burdwan.

On Saturday pressure gave way slightly to briskly in Baluchistan, the West Punjab, Sind, Gujarat and the Bombay Coast, due probably to the approach of another depression from Persia which had given a light shower at Bushire. Pressure was in moderate to considerable defect in South Kathiawar and Bombay and gradients were unusually steep over Gujarat.

Winds have been light and unsteady on the Madras Coast during the greater part of the week, and very little rain has been received in the south of the Peninsula.

Rain.—The rain received during the week has been due chiefly to the depression which entered Rajputana on Monday and the secondary depression which formed over the Punjab. The average rainfall of the division has exceeded one inch in the Punjab Hills (2·46 inches), the North-Western Provinces Hills (1·99 inches), and West Submontane divisions (1·24 inches) and the North Punjab (1·09 inches). It has been in excess of the normal fall, which is very small at this time of the year, in the Brahmaputra valley, Deltaic and Central Bengal, the Bengal Hills, Chota Nagpur, Bihar, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, the central and east divisions of the Central Provinces, Sind, Baluchistan, Central India and Rajputana. A few showers have fallen in South Madras, but the amounts received have been in defect in all divisions.

	Inches.
North-Western Provinces—Chakrata	3·31
Punjab—Dasuya (Hoshiarpur)	4·09
Murree	3·00

As will be seen from the three last columns of the table at the end the rainfall of the period October 14th to December 29th has been practically normal or in excess in Tenasserim, South Oudh, the Central, West, West Submontane and Hills divisions of the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, Baluchistan, West Rajputana and South Madras. South Madras is the only division in the Peninsula which has received practically normal rainfall.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 5th January, 1901.

Madras.—The rainfall was light in the Circars, Madura and the Nilgiris. Water-supplies are diminishing generally. Agricultural operations are in progress. Standing crops are generally in fair condition, except where supplies in irrigation sources are low. Harvesting of early crops continues with moderate outturn. Pasture is becoming scanty and fodder dear in parts. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are stationary or slightly easier. Prospects generally are fair. Relief of weavers was started in Cuddapah. Numbers relieved, 378 men and 298 women.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Sindh and the Panch Mahals. Rain is urgently wanted for the late sown autumn crops and for the spring crops throughout Gujarat, the Deccan and the Karnatak. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly completed in Satara and is progressing in parts of Sindh, the Karnatak, Surat and Kanara. Threshing is in progress in parts of Sindh, Surat, Ahmednagar, Kolaba, Nasik and Poona. Agricultural prospects are good in Sindh, fair to good in the Konkan and in parts of Surat, Broach, Khandesh, Nasik and Poona, and are generally moderate to poor elsewhere. Young spring crops have been damaged by locusts or other insects in parts of Sindh, Ahmedabad and Poona, and by disease in parts of Ahmednagar and Poona, and are suffering from want of rain generally, except in irrigated tracts. The water-supply is scanty in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona and the Karnatak. The fodder-supply is generally sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition, but is deteriorating in parts of the Karnatak. Prices have fallen in eight districts, risen in three districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is slightly over the normal, but is easier than in the corresponding week of 1900 in most districts. The price of bajri is below the normal in Gujarat, over the normal in the Deccan, and nearly double the normal in the Konkan and the Karnatak and, compared with 1900, is much lower in Gujarat, about the same in the Konkan and is easier in the Deccan and the Karnatak. The price of juar is about the normal in Gujarat, and about double the normal elsewhere and, compared with 1900, is considerably lower in Gujarat and about the same elsewhere. The price of wheat is over the normal in Gujarat and the Konkan, and is about double the normal elsewhere, and is about the same as in 1900.

Daily average numbers on relief—British Districts—on test works, 6,017; on relief works, 124,011; dependants, 27,744; total on works, 157,772. In poor-houses, 3,984; on village relief, 33,041; total on gratuitous relief, 37,025. Figures for Ahmedabad and Nasik are incomplete. Native States—on relief works, 11,628; dependants, 4,139; total on relief works 15,767. In poor-houses, 1,512; on village relief, 904; total on gratuitous relief, 2,416. Grand total 212,980.

Bengal.—There has been a general rainfall during the week throughout the province, except in Chittagong. The spring crop in Hooghly and Shahabad, poppy in Gaya, and some crops in Howrah, 24-Parganas and Khulna, are said to have suffered to some extent by the rain, but it has improved the prospects of standing crops elsewhere. Harvesting of paddy and pressing of sugarcane are approaching completion. Fodder is sufficient. The price of common rice has fallen in 7 districts, risen in 17, and is stationary in the rest (22).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—There was general rain during the week in the provinces, except in Ghazipur. The rainfall was good in the south-eastern Himalayan, Lower Doab and western submontane districts, and moderate to light elsewhere. A slight shower of hail fell in parts of Allahabad, Hamirpur and Banda, but no damage to crops was done, except in one tahsil of the Hamirpur district, where the tobacco crop is reported to have suffered. Clear weather is now wanted. Wheat and barley are in ear and peas in pod in some places, and pulse and gram are flowering. Prospects are very favourable. Lands are being prepared for extra crops in Bulandshahr and for new sugarcane in Shahjahanpur. Ploughings for next autmun crops are in progress in Kheri and Gonda. Supplies and fodder are sufficient. Prices remain practically stationary.

Punjab.—Rain has fallen in all districts, except in Ferozepore, Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. Prices of food-grains are rising, except in Jullundur. Ferozepere and Sialkot report that prices are high. Wheat is selling from 9 1/16 to 12 seers, gram 9 7/8 to 12, great millet 15 to 25 and maize 15 to 21 1/2 seers per rupee. Barley is being sold at the rate of 14 seers per rupee in Jullundur. Sugarcane is being pressed in Jullundur, Lahore and Amritsar. Cotton-picking, sugarcane pressing and threshing of rice, etc., continue. Sowings of spring crops are still going on in Sialkot and Peshawar. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are said to be excellent. Sunshine is needed for the standing crops in Umballa. The Sidhnai canal in Mooltan and the Kalapani stream in Dera Ismail Khan are flowing. The outturn is expected to be above normal in Sialkot. It is said to be good in Peshawar if more rain falls at the proper time. The recent rain has greatly benefited the standing crops in Sialkot. Cotton has been partially damaged by insects in Mooltan. Cattle are generally in good condition. Pasturage fodder is sufficient in all districts, except in parts of Mooltan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Reaping is approaching completion in five districts. Threshing continues. UPPER BURMA.—Reaping of paddy and other wet weather crops is nearly completed. Ploughing for dry weather paddy and cultivation on alluvial lands are in progress. Crop prospects are unchanged. Some upland crops in parts of Mandalay have failed for want of rain. Partial failure of crops is reported from parts of Upper Chindwin. Prices—The price of paddy has fallen in Amherst, Mandalay and two other districts, slightly in Rangoon, and very rapidly in Meiktila. It has risen in three districts.

Central Provinces.—The weather is cold, damp and cloudy. Rain has fallen all over the provinces. Seoni received 1 1/2, Bilaspur 1 1/4 inches and Chhindwara and Balaghat one inch each. Elsewhere the falls have been moderate to light. The prospects of the standing crops have improved by rain, but clear dry weather is now required, especially in the north of the provinces. Insects continue to cause damage to pulse and linseed. Hail fell in Seoni and Narsinghpur causing some damage in one tahsil of the latter district. Cotton-picking, threshing of rice and reaping of juar continue. Owing apparently to apprehension of damage from cloudy weather, prices have risen somewhat in the northern districts, Betul and Bilaspur. The cheapest prices are—wheat 12 1/2, gram 15, rice 15 1/2 and juar 23 seers per rupee. The dearest prices are—wheat 8, gram 8, rice 8 1/4 and juar 15 seers per rupee. Famine relief operations have been closed in Chanda. In Saugor there are 21 persons on relief in poor-houses.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Harvesting of late rice is nearly finished. Gathering of pulses, pressing of sugarcane and pruning of tea are in progress. Prospects of sugarcane generally are fair. The outturn of late rice and the prospects of pulses and mustard are fair in Sibsagar and Lakhimpur and bad in other districts. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is scarce in Cachar, Khasi and Jaintia Hills and in parts of Sylhet. Water is insufficient in Khasi and Jaintia Hills, and in parts of Sylhet. Prices—common rice—Silchar 10 to 11, Sylhet 12 1/2, Dhubri 10, Gauhati 14, Tezpur 13, Sibsagar 12 and Nowgong and Dibrugarh 11 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—No rain fell in the Civil and Military Station. The standing crops are in good condition throughout except in parts of Mysore, Hassan, Chittaldrug and Shimoga. Prospects are good in Bangalore, Mysore, Tumkur, Kolar and favourable in Hassan. Paddy, ragi, jola and horse gram are being sown in parts, while paddy, ragi and horse gram are being harvested in others. Prices have slightly fallen in Bangalore, Tumkur, Kolar, Hassan, Chittaldrug and Shimoga, and have slightly risen in Mysore and other parts of Bangalore, Tumkur and Hassan. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available, except in the town of Dodballapur, Mysore district, where want of water is being felt.

COORG.—Rice harvest and coffee-picking continue. Prices of food-grains are falling. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather is cloudy and cool. Reaping of juar is approaching completion. Picking of cotton continues. Winter crops require more rain to improve their condition. Fodder and water are ample. Prices—Akola 17½, Amraoti 17½, Basim 15½, Buldana 15, Ellichpore 19, Wun 18½ seers per rupee.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. In parts the standing spring crop badly needs rain, but the cloudy weather is likely to benefit agricultural prospects. Winter rice sowing continues. It is reported that the castor plant is being destroyed by insects. Grain prices have fallen slightly. Total persons on relief works, including dependants, 1,956; gratuitously relieved, 716. Prices—wheat 5, coarse rice 6⅞ and juar 10¾ seers per halli rupee.

Rajputana.—The average rainfall in cents was, Jodhpur 29, Tonk 26, Kotah 3, Jhalrapatan 26, Jaipur 42, Alwar 51, Bharatpur 38, Karauli 35, Dholpur 24 and Ajmer-Merwara 18. Agricultural operations are in progress. Standing crops are in good condition, but slight damage is reported from Jaisalmer owing to the presence of locusts, and in Marwar and Haraoti and Tonk, owing to insects. Agricultural live-stock is in good condition. Pasturage and fodder are sufficient. Cheapest prices range between 16 and 32 seers per rupee. Numbers on relief—Native States—on works, nil; on gratuitous relief, 446, against 47 and 507 last week.

Central India.—The rainfall at the Gwalior Residency was 33 cents, and at Bundelkhund 1 inch 27 cents; none elsewhere. Agricultural operations are in progress everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition, and the probable outturn promises to be good. The crops have been damaged in parts of Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock and pasturage are in good condition. The price of food-grains is steady in Gwalior, normal in Bundelkhund, above average in Baghelkhand, falling slightly in Indore, and high in Malwa. The condition of opium is good in Gwalior, sown in Indore, being sown in Malwa, and watering continues in Bhopawar. Average prices—Gwalior 16 to 24, Indore 7 to 18, Bundelkhund 11 to 14¾, Malwa 16½, and Bhopawar 14 to 17 seers per rupee. On gratuitous relief—Jaora, 29. The report from Bhopal has not been received.

Baroda.—The sowing is completed. The standing crops are in fair condition, and the condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Prices—bajri 32, juar 31, wheat 19, rice, superior, 13, inferior, 19 pounds per British rupee. Average numbers on relief works—Baroda territory—8,768 and on gratuitous relief, 5,384.

Kashmir.—No snow fell. The weather is mostly bright. Prices are normal, rice being 26 seers per rupee. JUMMU PROVINCE.—Slight rain fell. The price of wheat is rising, but that of maize is falling slightly. Wheat sells for 11 to 16, and maize 18 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient.

Nepal.—The rainfall was slight. The weather is very cold and cloudy. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee.

Return of the number of persons in receipt of relief in districts affected by scarcity.

NOTE.—The figures are compiled from returns obtained from Local Governments and Political Officers, and give the corrected District details of (rincial totals published weekly in the Crop and Weather Summary of the Gazette of India.
Non-labouring children and other dependants of relief workers are classed as on relief works when distinguished in the local returns from pers uitously relieved in poor-houses or at their homes. Weavers relieved in their own trade are shown under "Gratuitous Relief."
The dates at the head of the table are the dates of the Gazette of India in which the Provincial totals were published. The figures, however, actua the numbers on relief in each preceding week.

No. 96-E.B.—The following Order of Her Majesty in Council, which was published in the London Gazette of the 27th November, 1900, is republished for general information:—

At the Court at Windsor, the 26th day of November, 1900.

PRESENT.

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.
Lord Chamberlain.
Earl of Kintore.

Whereas by Treaty, capitulation, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means, Her Majesty has jurisdiction within the territories of the King of Siam;

Now, therefore:—

1. In this Order the expression "British subject" includes a person who, by virtue of section fifteen of "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," or otherwise, enjoys Her Majesty's protection in Siam.

2. A register of British subjects shall be kept in the office of every Consulate in Siam.

3. Every British subject, resident or arriving in Siam, being of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, or being married, or a widower or widow, though under that age, may, subject to the provisions of this Order, be registered in a Consular register.

4. The registration of a man shall comprise the registration of his wife, or wives, if living with him; and the registration of the head of a family shall comprise the registration of all females and minors, being his relatives, in whatever degree, living under the same roof with him at the time of his registration.

5. A British subject resident in Siam shall not be registered elsewhere than in the register of the Consular district in which he resides; but a person arriving in Siam may be registered either in the register of the Consular district in which he first arrives or in that of the district in which he goes to reside.

6. A person arriving in Siam and not already registered must apply for registration within one month after arrival; a person resident in Siam must apply for registration in January in every year: Provided that a person who fails to obtain registration within the time so limited may be registered at any time if he excuses his failure to the satisfaction of the Consular officer.

7. A person registered in any register of British subjects established under "The Siam Order in Council, 1889," shall be registered under the provisions of this Order, unless the Consular officer is satisfied, after inquiry, that the previous registration was erroneous, or that such person is not entitled to registration under the provisions of this Order.

8. The Consular officer shall on every registration give to the person registered a certificate of registration signed by him, and sealed with his Consular seal.

9. The name of a wife, if her registration is under the provisions of this Order, comprised in her husband's, shall be indorsed on the husband's certificate.

10. The names and descriptions of females and minors, whose registration is under the provisions of this Order comprised in that of the head of a family, shall be indorsed on the certificate of the head of the family.

11. Every person applying to be registered under this Order shall, unless excused by the Consular officer, attend personally for that purpose at the Consulate on each occasion of registration.

12. Every person shall, on every registration of himself, pay a fee of two shillings and six pence, or such other fee as the Secretary of State from time to time appoints. The amount of the fee may be uniform for all persons, or may vary according to the position and circumstances of different classes if the Secretary of State from time to time so directs, but may not in any case exceed five shillings.

13. If any British subject fails to obtain registration under the provisions of this Order, he shall not be entitled to be recognised or protected as a British subject in Siam, but he shall, although not registered, be subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Consular Courts in Siam Provisions affecting particular Classes of British Subjects.

14. A person, not of Asiatic descent, arriving in Siam and applying to be registered as a British subject shall be so registered if the Consular officer is satisfied, after such enquiry as he may deem fit, that he is entitled to the status of a British subject.

15. A person of Asiatic descent, arriving in Siam and applying to be registered as a British subject, shall be so registered if he (a) produces a passport as a British subject from British India or a British possession; or (b) files an affidavit or sworn declaration showing that he was born within Her Majesty's dominions or within the territory of any Prince or State in India under the suzerainty or in alliance with Her Majesty, or that he has been naturalised in the United Kingdom; and (c) in either case gives satisfactory evidence of his identity.

16. A person born in Siam, being the child of a person of Asiatic descent who arrived in Siam, may be registered as a British subject if it is proved that the father (a) was registered as a British subject at the time of the child's birth; or (b) being entitled was prevented from being so registered by causes for which he was not responsible.

Any child of a person registered under the provisions of this Article shall not be entitled to be registered as a British subject by reason only that his father and grandfather were so registered.

17 A person of Asiatic descent, being a native of Upper Burmah or of the British Shan States, shall not be registered as a British subject if it appears that he arrived in Siam before the first January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and has become domiciled there.

18. A woman, being the widow of a person of Asiatic descent, who was in his lifetime registered as a British subject, shall be registered as a British subject if her name appears on the last certificate given to her husband before his death, but not otherwise.

19. The Consular officer may, without fee, register any British subjects, being minors, living in the houses of foreigners or Siamese subjects.

20. Article ninety-four of "The Siam Order in Council, 1889," is hereby repealed, provided all registers kept under that Order shall continue in force until superseded by registers kept under this Order.

21. This Order may be cited as "The Siam (Registration) Order in Council, 1900."

A. W. FitzRoy.

H. S. BARNES,
Secretary to the Government of India.

The sum of R100 for each of the above inventions.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to Act V (the Inventions and Designs Act) of 1888 should be addressed to the "Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA."

The Office of the Secretary under the Act is open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy respectively.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October, 1895, in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitor's room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified; or, if the tenth day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

S. C. HILL,
Offg. Secy. under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888.

IN THE COURT OF THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE—CIVIL SIDE.

RULE OF PRACTICE.

Bangalore, the 10th January, 1901.

No. 3.—With a view to simplifying the present procedure in regard to the recovery of decree debts by the attachment of a moiety of the pay of military and other public officers, the Hon'ble the Resident is pleased to make and issue the following rules, under section 652 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882), for regulating the practice of the Subordinate Courts in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

1. If the amount attached be not paid into Court by the disbursing officer within a reasonable time after the pay shall have become due to the judgment-debtor, the Court shall, of its own motion and without requiring the judgment-creditor to make a formal stamped application for that purpose, write to the disbursing officer asking him to forward the amount to Court.

2. The amount attached shall be received when sent by the disbursing officer without further formalities, and no stamped application asking the Court to receive it shall be required.

By Order of the Court

H. CHENNAYA,
Acting Registrar.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 22nd May, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR THE TROOPS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

No. 9.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

Until further notice, State and Private telegrams in plain language addressed to persons serving with the Field Force in South Africa will be accepted at Sender's risk, and charged for at the rate of R1-8 per word from offices in India or Burma. Telegrams in Code or Cypher cannot be accepted at this reduced rate. The address should consist of the following :—

(1) The name, or number, or both of the person to whom the telegram is addressed (in the case of officers the rank may be omitted, and in the case of telegrams for Non-Commissioned Officers and men the name may, in like manner, be omitted if the number is given. Such omissions, however, add to the risk of the telegram going astray, more especially when addressed to Non-Commissioned Officers and men), and

(2) The Regiment (this will be counted and charged for as one word irrespective of the number of words used).

These telegrams should be addressed "Bombay for South Africa" (which words will be signalled free), and not to any particular Telegraph Office in South Africa. The Bombay Telegraph Office will forward them to the Officer Commanding at Capetown, who will deliver them to the Addressees at whatever place in South Africa they may be stationed.

Senders of telegrams should accurately describe the Regiment, Battalion, Battery or Corps, to which the Addressees are attached, as it appears in the "Army List." For example: the address of an Officer or Private in the "Rifles" should give the number of the Battalion, and make it quite clear whether it is a Battalion of the "Rifle Brigade," the "King's Royal Rifle Corps," the "Royal Irish Rifles," or the "Scottish Rifles (Cameronians)."

The reduced rate will also apply to telegrams addressed to members of the Nursing Staff serving in South Africa, and any telegrams addressed to a Nurse will be treated in the same way as those intended for soldiers and sailors.

Telegrams for officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men in South Africa who are known to be suffering from wounds or sickness may be addressed to them as if they were with their regiment or corps. Such telegrams, on arrival at the place where the regiment or corps is stationed, will be redirected to the proper hospital.

When, however, the name of the hospital is known to the sender of the message, he may address the telegram direct to that hospital, e.g., "Field Hospital, 1st Cavalry Brigade," or to "No. 2 General Hospital" or to "Mooi River Hospital."

In any case, the telegram should, as already stated, be addressed by the sender to "Bombay for South Africa," which words will not be charged for.

The following are given as examples of addresses and counting :—

"Captain Armstrong, 64th Royal Field Artillery, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "Captain Armstrong, Wynberg Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303 Murphy, 2nd Battalion, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303, Mooi River Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (two words).

II. Notification No. 5, dated the 8th May, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 22nd November, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE BRITISH AND INDIAN FORCES IN CHINA.

No. 34.—The following revised Notification is issued for general information :—

Until further notice, private telegrams, in plain language, for members of the British or Indian Military and Naval Forces in China, from their friends in India or Burma will be accepted at sender's risk and at the reduced rates mentioned below to the three following stations only, vid Madras :—

1. To Shanghai at R 0-15-0 per word.
2. „ Weihaiwei „ 1-3-0 „
3. „ Taku „ 1-4-0 „

In the official instructions the words "Reduced Rates" should be inserted, and will be signalled free.

Telegrams intended for Military or Naval members stationed at Hongkong should be addressed to Shanghai, and those for members stationed at Tientsin or Pekin should be addressed to Taku. These reduced rates will also apply to telegrams for Civilians in Military or Naval employ in China.

II. Notification No. 32, dated the 6th of November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 5th December, 1900.

No. 37.—The British Government announces that the transmission of Private telegrams for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, vid Cape Colony and Natal, is now suspended.

Telegrams for Pretoria, Johannesburg, Vereeniging, Germiston, Middelburg, Heidelberg, and Standerton are, meanwhile, being accepted for transmission, vid Lourenco Marques, at the usual rates. These telegrams should be written in plain English, and will be accepted only at the risk of the sender. They are also subject to censorship and to delay in transmission.

Calcutta, the 13th December, 1900.

No. 39.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

The Post Master General, London, announces that the British Government have decided to suspend at Aden and the Cape of Good

Hope the transmission of all telegrams in code or cipher, whether of foreign Governments or private persons, to or from British Central Africa, St. Helena and Ascension. Telegrams in plain language are subject to censorship, and can only be accepted at the risk of the sender.

Code messages for the following places, viz., Cape Colony, Natal, Rhodesia, Zanzibar, Seychelles, Mauritius, Madagascar, British and German East Africa, Mozambique and Lourenço Marques may, however, be accepted, if the words used are in one, or other, of the following Code Books, which have been deposited with the authorities at Aden, viz. :—

(1) A B C (4th edition).
(2) A Z.
(3) Scott's (9th edition).
(4) A 1.
(5) Telegraphenschlüessel of W. Staudt and O. Hundius (published by Julius Springer at Berlin).
(6) The Mercuur Code (2nd edition), enlarged and revised, with the First Supplement.
(7) Broomhall's Comprehensive Cipher Code.
(8) Western Union Telegraphic Code and International Cable Directory, Universal Edition, 1900.
(9) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1898.
(10) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1900.
(11) Watkins' Telegraphic Code with Appendix (7th edition), 1900.
(12) International Mercantile Telegraph Code (Meyer), 1880.
(13) The General, Commercial and Mining Telegram Code, 1897, by C. A. Moreing and F. C. McCutcheon.

Telegrams should be endorsed to the effect that the words used actually represent the corresponding expressions given in the abovenamed Code Books.

As delays occur at Aden in consequence of the difficulty of determining which code has been employed, senders of telegrams to the abovenamed places in East Africa should write on the message draft the name of the code employed. For instance A B C; A Z; Scott's; A 1; Staudt; Mercuur; Broomhall's; Directory; Atlantic, 1898; Atlantic, 1900; Watkins; Meyer; or McCutcheon. This information will be included in the "Official Instructions" and transmitted free of charge.

II. Notification No. 36, dated the 29th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

No. 39-A.—In the event of the establishment in British India of a censorship over telegrams, the first twelve Code Books mentioned in Notification No. 39, dated the 13th of December, 1900, will be used in India for purposes similar to that for which they are employed in Aden.

The public are recommended to provide themselves with such of the codes as may appear suited to their requirements.

H. A. KIRK,
Director, Traffic Branch.

THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 11th January, 1901.

No. 164.—The following rules, which have been approved by the Government of India, regarding the use of text-books in aided schools in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, are published for general information.

The text-book committee for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore shall be the text-book committee appointed by the Government of Madras for the Presidency of Fort St. George.

2. The functions of the text-book committee in respect to the Civil and Military Station shall be limited to advising the Resident regarding the selection of books for use in the schools in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. The committee will have no concern with the text-books of schools under the Code of Regulations for European schools, unless they are specially referred to the committee for opinion by the Resident.

3. Text-books shall be divided into two classes as follows :—

(1) Text-books the use of which is authorised by the Resident.

(2) Text-books the use of which is specifically prescribed by the Governor General in Council or by the Resident.

4. In the case of schools receiving grants-in-aid, whether from Government or from the Municipal Commission, text-books shall not ordinarily be specifically prescribed; but the managers of aided schools shall, as a condition of receiving grants-in-aid, be required not to use any text-book which has not been authorised by the Resident. The Governor General in Council and the Resident, however, retain the right to require that any book specifically prescribed by them shall be used in aided schools.

5. If the manager of an aided school wishes to adopt a text-book which is not included in the authorised list, the Resident will give every facility to have the book referred to the text-book committee, with a view to its inclusion under the orders of the Resident in the list of authorised text-books, should it be found a suitable work.

6. If in any unaided school text-books are in use which have been disapproved by Government, no pupil who has received instruction at such school shall be permitted to appear as a candidate at any public examination for passing which a certificate is given, or to compete for a Government scholarship.

7. A list of all unaided schools in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore shall be maintained by the Inspector of Schools, who shall inform the managers of all such schools that pupils receiving instruction under them will not be permitted to appear at any public examination or to compete for any Government scholarship unless a list of the books used at such schools is submitted to him on the 1st

April in each year for the information of the Resident.

8. A list of text-books shall be published in the first issue of Part II of the Government of India Gazette for April every year. This list shall be of text-books which have been authorised by the Resident for use in aided schools and of the books (if any) specifically prescribed for use in aided schools by the Governor General in Council or the Resident. A second list of books which have been specifically disapproved by the Governor General in Council or the Resident shall be maintained in the office of the Director of Public Instruction and of the Resident, but shall not be published in the Gazette of India.

9. The Director of Public Instruction shall in his annual report describe the manner in which these rules have been carried out in practice during the preceding year.

By order,

H. R. C. DOBBS,

First Assistant Resident.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876 :—

PART V.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th January, 1901 :—

NO. 2 OF 1901.

A Bill further to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in the Central Provinces.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Central Provinces Civil Courts (Amendment) Act, 1901; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

1885.

Amendment of certain references to "Commissioner" and "Judicial Assistant to the Commissioner" in Act XVI of 1885.

2. In the Central Provinces Civil Courts Act, 1885, for the word "Commissioner" wherever it occurs, except where it is immediately preceded by the word "Chief" or "Judicial" or "Deputy" or "Assistant," and for the words "Judicial Assistant to the Commissioner" wherever they occur, the words "Divisional Judge" and "Additional Divisional Judge" shall be respectively substituted.

Substitution of new section for section 6, Act XVI of 1885.

3. For section 6 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :-

Courts of Divisional Judges and Deputy Commissioners.

"6. (1) For the purposes of this Act, the Chief Commissioner shall divide the territories under his administration into civil divisions, and may from time to time alter the limits or the number of such divisions :

Provided that every civil division shall be a district of the revenue-administration or shall consist of such districts.

(2) The local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of the Divisional Judge shall be those of the civil division to which he is appointed.

(3) The local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of the Deputy Commissioner shall be those of the district of the revenue-administration of which he is in charge."

Addition of proviso to section 8, Act XVI of 1885.

4. To section 8 of the said Act the following proviso shall be added, namely :—

"Provided that for the purposes of the Indian Divorce Act the Court of the Divisional Judge shall be deemed to be the District Court for all the districts or parts of districts comprised in the civil division."

Amendment of section 12, Act XVI of 885.

5. (1) In section 12, sub-section (1), of the said Act, after the word "generally" the following shall be added, namely :—

"Any powers so conferred may, by order in writing, be withdrawn."

(b) In sub-section (3) of the same section, for the words "Courts of Commissioners" the words "Courts of Divisional Judges" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 14, Act XVI of 1885.

6. In section 14, sub-section (2), of the said Act, before the word "division" the word "civil" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 17, Act XVI of 1885.

7. (1) To section 17, sub-section (1), of the said Act the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to empower a Civil Judge to hear an appeal from a decree made by another Civil Judge."

(2) In sub-sections (2) and (3) of the same section, for the words "a Judicial Assistant to the Commissioner," wherever they occur, the words "an Additional Divisional Judge" shall be substituted.

Partial repeal of section 3, sub-section (2), Act IV of 1869.

8. So much of section 3, clause (2), of the Indian Divorce Act as IV of 1869 defines "District Judge" to mean in the Central Provinces a Commissioner of a Division is hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SINCE the appointment in 1891 of Judicial Assistants to Commissioners in the Central Provinces, Commissioners of Divisions there have been relieved of all civil work and their places as civil judges have been taken by the so-called Judicial Assistants. The object of the present Bill is to amend the Central Provinces Civil Courts Act, 1885 (XVI of 1885), so as formally to withdraw from Commissioners the powers which they still possess but never exercise, to abolish the title of Judicial Assistant, which has, in the circumstances stated above, become obviously inappropriate, and to confer on the officers now known by that title an independent status enabling them effectively to take a share in controlling the subordinate Courts. The clauses of the Bill have been drawn accordingly, and no explanation of their details seems to be necessary.

T. RALEIGH.

The 9th January, 1901.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th January, 1901 :—

NO. 3 OF 1901.

A Bill further to amend the Administrator General's Act, 1874.

WHEREAS Hindus, Muhammadans, Parsis and Buddhists are exempted from the operation of certain provisions of the Administrator General's 1874 Act, 1874, and it is expedient that Native Christians should be exempted from the operation of the said provisions to the same extent as Hindus, Muhammadans, Parsis and Buddhists; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Administrator General's Act (Amendment) Act, 1901; and

Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. In this Act, the expression "Native Christian" means a native of India who is or in good faith claims to be of unmixed Asiatic descent and who professes any form of the Christian religion.

Definition.

3. In sections 16, 17, 18, 37 and 64 respectively of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, before the word "Hindu" wherever it occurs, the word "Native Christian" shall be inserted.

Further amendment of certain sections of Act II of 1874. II of

4. Nothing herein contained shall affect any probate, letters of administration or certificate granted or vested under the said Act.

Saving.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SEVERAL representations have been received by the Government on the subject of the grievances from which Native Christians suffer through the unequal operation of the law in India, relating to probate and administration, to be found in the Indian Succession Act, 1865 (X of 1865), the Hindu Wills Act, 1870 (XXI of 1870), the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (II of 1874), and the Probate and Administration Act, 1881 (V of 1881).

2. By sections 187 and 190 of the Act of 1865 it is provided that no right under a will or to the property of an intestate can be established in any Court unless probate or administration has been granted, and such a grant is further rendered necessary by certain provisions of the Act of 1874, under which the omission to obtain a grant entails the intervention of the Administrator General if the value of the assets of the estate concerned exceeds Rs. 1,000. These provisions govern Native Christians, but not Hindus, Muhammadans or Buddhists save in the Lower Provinces of Bengal and the towns of Madras and Bombay, where, owing to the provisions of the Hindu Wills Act, 1870, which incorporates section 187 of the Act of 1865, probate of the wills of Hindus, Jains, Sikhs and Buddhists has been rendered compulsory. Elsewhere Hindus, Muhammadans and Buddhists are only subject to the Act of 1881, which, while it enables a person governed by it to take out a grant if he finds it expedient to do so, contains no compulsory provisions similar to those of sections 187 and 190 of the Act of 1865. This concession was deliberately made with a view to save Natives of India unnecessary trouble and expense, in uncontested cases, and it is clear that by reason of it Native Christians are in a less favourable position than other Natives who differ from them only in respect of their religious belief.

3. The Government of India are of opinion that the considerations which prompted the granting of the concession above explained to the vast majority of Natives of India, have equal force when applied to the case of such as are Christians. The Act of 1865 was originally designed for Europeans and other persons with a foreign domicile resident in India, and it is due only to the fact that Natives on their conversion to Christianity ipso facto cease to be governed by the Indian laws of succession, that, though Asiatics domiciled in the country, they fall within the purview of that Act.

4. To remove these grievances more than one course has been proposed, but that which commends itself to the Government, is the exemption of Native Christians from the provisions of sections 16, 17, 18, 37 and 64 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874. This will do for them precisely what was done for Parsis by the amending Act IX of 1881 ; i.e., it will relieve them from the interference of the Administrator General in certain cases, and will enable them to avoid taking out probate, and, therefore, to escape payment of probate duty, in cases where the assets can be amicably distributed. Such action, though it will not place Native Christians on terms of absolute equality with other natives of India, will, it is thought, be an adequate recognition of their grievances. The present Bill has been prepared accordingly.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 5th January, 1901.

Very unsettled weather has prevailed in Northern and Central India during the past week. On Sunday morning a fairly well marked depression was lying over Kathiawar and the Gulf of Cambay and skies were moderately to thickly clouded in North-West India. No rain had fallen in India, but another depression advancing from Persia had given moderate to heavy rain in Baluchistan, Quetta reporting a fall of 1·38 inches. On Monday the depression in Kathiawar had advanced into the west of the Central Provinces where pressure was nearly two-tenths of an inch in defect, while the second depression affecting Baluchistan on Sunday had apparently advanced into South-East Rajputana. It was a very ill defined disturbance and was accompanied by another feeble and ill defined depression in the Punjab which filled up by Wednesday morning. On Monday light to moderate general rain was reported from Baluchistan, the Punjab, Rajputana, Sind, the east of Central India and the North-Western Provinces; and rain and snow from the Upper India hills. On Tuesday the depression in the Central Provinces had moved slowly eastward and continued in practically the same position during the next 48 hours. The feeble depression in Rajputana advanced into the south-east of the North-Western Provinces on Tuesday, into Bengal on Wednesday, and Upper Burma on Thursday. On Tuesday the observations received showed that snow and rain had continued in the North-West Himalayas, light to heavy general rain had fallen in the East and Submontane Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, Chota Nagpur, Bihar and the east of Central India, and showers had been received in Bengal and the Central Provinces. Gaya reported 2·60 inches, an unusually heavy fall for this time of the year, Benares 1·72 inches, Chakrata 1·64 inches, Allahabad 1·62 inches, Mussooree 1·51 inches, and Patna 1·48 inches. Rain decreased on Wednesday, but light to moderately heavy showers had been general in Bihar, Chota Nagpur and North Bengal, and light showers had been received in Lower Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and the Simla and Mussooree hills; on Thursday another feeble depression entered North-West India from Persia and was apparently lying over East Rajputana. Advancing eastward during the day it coalesced with the depression in the Central Provinces which had also moved eastwards and was on Friday morning lying over the east of the Central Provinces and the adjacent districts of Chota Nagpur, Orissa and the Circars. Showers had fallen in the North-Western and Central Provinces, Chota Nagpur and Bengal, and snow had fallen in the Simla and Mussooree hills. An unusually heavy fall of 2·96 inches was received at Chaibassa and 1·53 inches at Simla. On Saturday the depression from the east of the Central Provinces was apparently lying over the head of the Bay, but had nearly filled up. Light showers had fallen in North-East India, Orissa, the Circars, Upper Burma, the Simla and Mussooree hills, and adjacent submontane districts.

Rain.—Practically no rain has fallen in the Bombay and Malabar Coast districts and Madras, except in the East Coast (North) where showers were received as the depression from the Central Provinces passed out into the Bay. On the other hand, with the exception of Gujarat and Kathiawar, all divisions in the Central Provinces, Central India, and Northern India have received rain, the amounts received being in all cases in excess of the normal, except in Eastern Bengal and the Surma Valley. The average fall of the division has been unusually heavy for this time of the year, and has exceeded two inches in Chota Nagpur, South Bihar, the Eastern Division of the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab Hills and Baluchistan and one inch in Orissa, North Bihar, all the remaining divisions of the North-Western Provinces except the West Division, and the Submontane Punjab. In the Peninsula the rainfall of the week has exceeded the normal in the Central Provinces and the East Coast (North). In Burma it has been equal to or in excess of the small normal fall in Central and Upper Burma and Arakan. As this week commences a new rainfall period, the variations from the normal of the period are the same as those of the week.

The largest amounts received at individual stations are:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 12th January, 1901.

Madras.—The rainfall was good in Tinnevelly and the Nilgiris. Moderate in parts of the Circars, South Arcot, Madura and Malabar; light or scattered showers occurred elsewhere. Water supplies have been slightly improved by the recent rainfall. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue where irrigation is available. Standing crops are generally fair, but need rain in parts of the Deccan, the Carnatic and in the central districts. Harvests continue with moderate yield. Pasture is scanty and fodder is dear in parts. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are stationary or slightly easier, though they are still high. Prospects generally are fair. Weavers relieved—Cuddapah—estimated numbers, 1,320 men and 1,037 women.

Bombay.—Moderate rain fell during the week in parts of Karachi, and there was a slight fall in parts of Shikarpur, Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, the Deccan, Bijapur Dharwar and Thana. More rain is urgently wanted for the spring crops throughout Gujarat, the Deccan and the Karnatak. The harvesting of autumn crops is over in Broach and Belgaum and is progressing in Satara, Dharwar, Upper Sindh Frontier, and Thar and Parkar. Threshing is in progress in parts of Hyderabad, Surat, Poona, Nasik and Kolaba. Agricultural prospects are good in Sindh, fair to good in the Konkan and parts of Surat, Broach, Khandesh, Nasik and Poona, and generally moderate to poor elsewhere. Young spring crops have been damaged by locusts or other insects in parts of Sindh, and by insects in parts of Poona, and are suffering from want of rain generally, except in irrigated lands. The fodder-supply is generally sufficient, but is getting scanty in parts of Sholapur and Belgaum. Agricultural stock is in good condition, but is deteriorating in parts of the Karnatak. Prices have fallen in seven districts, risen in three districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is over normal, but is slightly easier than in the corresponding week of 1900. The price of bajri is below normal in Gujarat, about double normal in the Konkan and the Karnatak, and considerably over normal in the Deccan and, compared with 1900, is about the same. The price of juar is about normal in Gujarat, and about double normal elsewhere, and is considerably easier than in 1900 in Gujarat and the Deccan, and about the same in the Konkan and the Karnatak. The price of wheat is over normal in Gujarat, and about double normal elsewhere, but is slightly easier than in 1900 in Gujarat, and about the same elsewhere.

Daily average numbers on relief—British Districts—on test works, 5,518; on relief works, 126,416; dependants, 25,544; total on works, 157,478. In poor-houses, 4,277; on village relief, 34,331; total on gratuitous relief, 38,608. Figures for Nasik are incomplete. Native States—on relief works, 11,884; dependants, 4,422; total on relief works, 16,306. In poor-houses, 1,339; on village relief, 866; total on gratuitous relief, 2,205. Figures for Aundh and Phaltan are incomplete. Grand total 214,597.

Bengal.—Light and scattered showers fell during the week. The rain has been generally beneficial to the standing crops. Spring crops are doing well. Harvesting of paddy is nearly finished. Pressing of sugarcane is still going on. Prospects are good on the whole. Fodder is sufficient. The price of common rice has fallen in eight districts, risen in ten, and is stationary in the rest.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather is cloudy and rain has fallen throughout the provinces. Sunshine is now wanted. Injury to the standing crops is apprehended if rain and cloudy weather continue. The poppy crop is flourishing, except in the Partabgarh district where it has been damaged slightly by rain. A slight shower of hail fell in some villages in the Cawnpore district, but no appreciable damage was done. Sugarcane pressing continues and lands are being prepared for extra crops and for sugarcane sowing. Supplies and fodder are sufficient and markets are well stocked. Prices generally are stationary.

Punjab.—Rain has fallen in all districts except Karnal, Jullundur and Mooltan. Prices of food grains are generally unsettled. The price of wheat is rising in Delhi, Karnal, Mooltan, Lahore and Peshawar, falling in Umballa, Amritsar and Rawalpindi, unchanged elsewhere. In Ferozepore and Sialkot the prices are generally high. Wheat is selling from $9\frac{1}{16}$ to $12\frac{1}{4}$ seers, gram 10 to 12, barley 14 to 17, bulrush millet $15\frac{5}{16}$ to 26 and maize 15 to 22 seers per rupee. Pressing of sugarcane continues in some districts. Owing to the recent rainfall, further sowings of wheat and barley are being made in Sialkot and Peshawar. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally reported to be good. The outturn is expected to be excellent. The recent rain has been very beneficial to the standing crops. The condition of the irrigated crops in Dera Ismail Khan is normal, and that of unirrigated below the average. The Sidhnai canal in Mooltan and the Kalapani Stream in Dera Ismail Khan are flowing. The turnip crop has been somewhat damaged by insects in parts of Mooltan. Cattle are generally in good condition. Pasturage fodder is said to be sufficient in all districts except in parts of Mooltan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Reaping is nearly completed in five districts and progressing in Akyab, Hanthawaddy, Pegu, Myaungmya, Toungoo and Thaton; threshing and winnowing are progressing. UPPER BURMA: Reaping of wet weather paddy is approaching completion and sowing of dry weather paddy is progressing. Cultivation on alluvial lands continues. Juar, sesamum and millet are being reaped in Myingyan. Miscellaneous crops promise well, but sesamum in the Yeu, Sub-divisional, Shwebo, is suffering from want of rain. The price of paddy has risen slightly in three districts and has fallen slightly in four districts, and considerably in Yamethin.

Central Provinces.—The rainfall of the week has again been general. Betul received four inches; Saugor $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches; Damoh, Jubbulpore, Hoshangabad, Chhindwara and Nimar over an inch; elsewhere the fall ranges between $\frac{1}{4}$ and $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch. The south of the Provinces has received good showers. The recent rain has been beneficial to the standing crops, but clear dry weather is now required. Hail fell in Hoshangabad and Betul without causing material damage. Insects continue to cause damage to pulse and linseed in places, but in most districts the rain has washed them out. Cotton picking, threshing of rice and reaping of juar are reaching completion. Prices are easier in Jubbulpore and Wardha, steady in Nimar, Seoni, Nagpur and Chhindwara, elsewhere there is a decided tendency to rise. The cheapest prices are—wheat 12, gram 13, rice 16, and juar 23 seers per rupee. The dearest prices are—wheat $7\frac{1}{2}$, gram 8, rice $7\frac{1}{2}$, and juar $13\frac{2}{3}$ seers per rupee. There are 20 persons still on relief in the Saugor poor-house.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Harvesting of late rice is nearly finished. Gathering of pulses and mustard, pressing of sugarcane and pruning of tea are in progress. Prospects of sugarcane are generally fair. The outturn of late rice and the prospects of pulses and mustard are fair in Sibsagar and Lakhimpur, and bad in other districts. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is scarce in Cachar, Khasi and Jaintia Hills, and in parts of Sylhet. Water is insufficient in Khasi and Jaintia Hills, and in parts of Sylhet. Prices—common rice—Silchar 10 to 11, Sylhet and Sibsagar 12, Dubri 10, Gauhati and Tezpur 13, Nowgong $11\frac{1}{2}$ and Dibrugarh 11 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—No rain fell in the Civil and Military Station. The rainfall was good in Mysore, Hassan and Chittaldrug. Standing crops are in good condition throughout, except in parts of Mysore, Chickmagalur, Hassan, Chittaldrug and Shimoga. Paddy and horse gram are being harvested in parts, and paddy, Bengal gram, sugarcane and jola are being sown. Prospects are good in Bangalore, Mysore and Chickmagalur, and are favourable in Hassan. Prices have fallen slightly in Bangalore, Mysore, Kolar, Chickmagalur, Hassan and Tumkur, and slightly risen in Shimoga and other parts of Chickmagalur, Hassan and Tumkur. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient.

COORG.—The rainfall was 12 cents only. The rice harvest and coffee picking continue. Prices of food grains are falling. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather generally was cloudy with light showers of rain Cutting of juar and picking of cotton are well advanced. Some damage is reported to winter crops in parts of Akola and Ellichpur owing to hailstorms. The fodder and water supply are adequate to wants. Prices are almost stationary. Communication of district prices has been discontinued as no distress now prevails in the province.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week amounted to 20 cents only. Agricultural prospects are more or less improved by the week's rainfall. Winter rice sowing continues. The spring crop is being harvested in parts. Grain prices have fallen slightly. Total number of persons on relief works, including dependents, 1,918; gratuitously relieved 722. Prices—wheat 5, coarse rice 7, and juar 11 seers per halli rupee.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was general, averaging from 7 cents in Sirohi to 1·40 in Kishengarh. Agricultural operations are progressing. The condition of crops is good, and also of the cattle. Pasturage and fodder are sufficient. Cheapest prices range between 12 seers and 9 chittaks, and 32 seers per rupee. Numbers on relief—Native States—on gratuitous relief, 256. Reports from Haraoti and Tonk have not been received.

Central India.—The rain at the Gwalior Residency amounted to one inch and eleven cents, and Bundelkhand to one inch and seven cents and there were general showers in Bhopal, Baghelkhand and parts of Malwa. Agricultural operations are in progress everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition and the probable outturn is expected to be good. Crops have been damaged in parts of Malwa. Agricultural stock and pasturage are in good condition. Prices of food grains are rising in Gwalior, are high in Bhopal and Malwa, are normal in Bundelkhand, above the average in Baghelkhand and falling in Indore. The condition of opium is good in Gwalior, Bhopal and Malwa, and is being sown in Indore. Average prices—Gwalior 10 to 19, Indore 7 to 18¼, Baghelkhand 13 to 15½, and Malwa 16½ seers per rupee. On gratuitous relief, Jaora, 28. Report from Bhopawar has not been received.

Baroda.—Standing spring crops are in fair condition and that of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Prices—bajri 32, juar 31, wheat 19, rice superior 13, inferior 19 pounds per British rupee. Average number on relief works,—Baroda territory—8,228, and on gratuitous relief, 4,985.

Kashmir.—There was rain, storm and snow during the middle and latter part of the week. Prices are normal, rice being 25 seers the rupee. JUMMU PROVINCE.—Good rain fell. Prices are stationary; wheat selling from 10 to 16, and maize 18 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient.

Nepal.—No rain fell. The weather is frosty and very cold. A fall of snow is reported from the interior. The price of rice is 8½ seers per rupee.

Return of the number of persons in receipt of relief in districts affected by scarcity.

OTE.—The figures are compiled from returns obtained from Local Governments and Political Officers, and give the corrected District details of the cial totals published weekly in the Crop and Weather Summary of the Gazette of India.
on-labouring children and other dependants of relief workers are classed as on relief works when distinguished in the local returns from persons ously relieved in poor-houses or at their homes. Weavers relieved in their own trade are shown under "Gratuitous Relief."
he dates at the head of the table are the dates of the Gazette of India in which the Provincial totals were published. The figures, however, actually he numbers on relief in each preceding week.

INDIAN PORTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill further to amend the ndian Ports Act, 1889, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Charles Rivaz, the Hon'ble Sir Edward Law, the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur P. Ananda Charlu, the Hon'ble Sir Allan Arthur and the mover.

The motion was put and agreed to.

CENTRAL PROVINCES CIVIL COURTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved for leave to introduce a Bill further o amend the law relating to Civil Courts in the Central Provinces. He aid:—"By the Central Provinces Civil Courts Act, 1885, section 12, the Chief Commissioner is empowered to invest any person with all or any of he judicial powers of a Commissioner, and the person so invested is lesignated Judicial Assistant to the Commissioner. The title is no longer ppropriate, for the Commissioner has ceased to take judicial work on he civil side. The Chief Commissioner proposes that the Judicial Assistants hould in future be called Divisional Judges, and that he should himself be mpowered to fix the limits of the divisions to which they are assigned. I now sk leave to introduce a Bill to give effect to this proposal. I ought perhaps o say that other amendments in the Civil Courts Act are in contemplation, and hat we may before long ask the Council to repeal and re-enact it. In the neantime, we propose to make the textual amendments set forth in the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects nd Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the Central Provinces Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Administration thinks fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL'S ACT (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved for leave to introduce a Bill urther to amend the Administrator General's Act, 1874. He said:—"The uestion of affording relief to the Native Christian community in India in espect of the disadvantages to which they are at present subjected through he unequal operation of the law relating to probate and administration, has for ome time past engaged the attention of the Government of India. The position f Native Christians in this matter is explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill which I have asked leave to introduce, and I need ot repeat what is said therein. When the Court-fees Amendment Act was nder discussion in this Council two years ago, the grievances of the Native Christian community in regard to their liability to payment of succession-duties ere noticed by several Hon'ble Members, and a promise was made on behalf f the Government of India that the representations then made should receive areful consideration. The Local Governments were accordingly consulted.

"In the course of the consideration of the subject, three proposals were put orward for achieving the end in view. The first of these was to exempt Native Christians from the operation of sections 187, 190 and 239 of the Indian Succession Act. The objection to adopting this suggestion was that, owing to the rovisions of the Succession Certificate Act of 1889 and of the Hindu Wills Act, the position of the Native Christian community relatively to other nembers of their race would be affected in a somewhat anomalous way. Another uggestion was that the limit of exemption from payment of duty on probates nd letters of administration should be raised from its present figure Rs. 1,000 o Rs. 5,000. Such action, however, while sacrificing a certain amount of evenue, would leave the grievance in question entirely untouched in so far as it affects well-to-do members of the Native Christian community, and would only partially improve the position of the remainder. The third proposal, which was put forward by the Madras Government, was to exempt Native Christians from the provisions of certain sections of the Administrator General's Act. This has been accepted by the Government of India as seeming to be the simplest and most effective method of dealing with the question, and it has accordingly been embodied in the present Bill. The exemption thus proposed will do for Native Christians what was done for Parsis by Act IX of 1881 ; it will relieve the community from the interference of the Administrator General in certain cases, and will enable them to avoid taking out probate, and therefore to escape payment of probate-duty, in cases where an estate is amicably distributed. The action thus proposed will not, I must admit, owing to the complex character of our scattered legislation on the subject of probate and administration, place Native Christians on terms of absolute equality in every respect with other Natives of India, but the Government of India consider that it will be a substantial and adequate recognition of the grievance which they are pledged to, as far as possible, redress."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said :—" My hon'ble colleague has remarked upon the scattered nature of our legislation. With Your Lordship's permission I will endeavour to put together a few of the fragments, and to give some further explanation of the measure now to be introduced.

" We had before us several projects for the amendment of the law. It was proposed to raise the limit below which probate-duty is not leviable. The proposal had some attractions for my Department, because it would only have been necessary to alter a figure in the schedule to the Court-fees Act. But we felt, as the Council will probably feel, that this would not have been a direct answer to the memorials which were before Government. We should have given the petitioners relief, not because they were Christians following Native usages, but simply because they were poor.

" We turned to the proposal which we now recommend for adoption. The payment of probate-duty is in many cases compulsory, because, if the parties do not take out probate or letters of administration, the Administrator General is authorised and required to intervene. Payment is rendered optional, in a large class of cases, if the parties are exempted from the provisions of the Administrator General's Act. This concession has been made to Hindus, Muhammadans and Buddhists, and finally to Parsis. We propose now to extend it to Native Christians.

" If the proposal is adopted the effect will be to relieve the parties from paying duty in all cases where an estate is amicably got together and distributed. Even in this litigious country, one may express the hope that the great majority of Christian estates are and will continue to be distributed without litigation.

" It will still be necessary to take out probate or administration in all cases where an executor, legatee or next of kin has to prove his right in a Court of Justice. We do not ask the Council to accede to the proposal that Native Christians should be exempted from sections 187 and 190 of the Indian Succession Act. We recognise that it may be considered oppressive if we say, as the law now says, to members of a Native community, 'Even if you are distributing an estate amicably, and in accordance with your own usages, we shall bring in the Administrator General and make you pay the duty.' But there is no obvious injustice in saying, 'If you cannot collect and distribute your estates without invoking the aid of our Courts, you must comply with our law of administration.'

" There is also a special reason which would make it difficult to exempt the memorialists from section 187. That section has been incorporated in the Hindu Wills Act, which applies to Lower Bengal and to all Presidency-towns—that is, to those parts of India in which a Native, whether Hindu or Christian, is most likely to die testate and leaving property. We cannot well exempt the Christian in cases where the Hindu is made to pay. If then we gave a general exemption from section 187, we should have to qualify it by excluding all cases analogous to the cases which are governed by the Hindu Wills Act. The form of our legislation would be rather confusing ; its practical result would be to some extent illusory. We should give a concession with one hand, and take away a valuable part of it with the other.

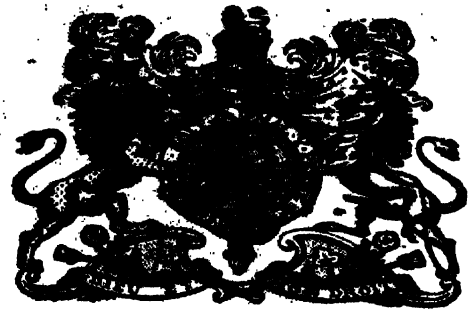
"Complaint has been made in regard to the power given by section 239 of the Indian Succession Act to the District Judge to intervene and to retain possession of property until probate or administration is taken out. But the power is to be exercised only on the application of a person interested, or when the Judge himself thinks it necessary to intervene. The words 'for the protection of the property' are sufficient to give the Judge a discretion. If there be any class of cases in which the intervention of the Judge involves hardship to any party, an exemption from this particular section may be given by the Executive Government under section 332.

"The Bill which my hon'ble colleague has asked leave to introduce will not simplify the law, nor will it place the members of all religious communities on a footing of perfect equality. We can only do that by making persons of all religions pay the same duties; but to take this course would involve the withdrawal of privileges long enjoyed and not unsuited to our administrative traditions. The Bill now to be introduced will give, as we contend, an appreciable measure of relief and will give it in those cases which are best entitled to our favourable consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ introduced the Bill.



The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The following despatch, which has been telegraphed by the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information :—

"MY LORD. It is my painful duty to announce to Your Excellency in Council the melancholy intelligence of the demise of our late Sovereign Lady Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Empress of India, which sad event occurred at Osborne Castle at 6-30 P.M. on the 22nd January 1901, to the deep distress and sorrow of all classes of Her Majesty's subjects. The Lords of the Privy Council and others, according to the custom, will at once assemble and give orders for proclaiming His present Majesty King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India. A copy of their proclamation will, in due course, be transmitted to Your Excellency's Government. His Majesty will subsequently issue a Royal Proclamation continuing all public officers in the United Kingdom, India, and all Foreign Possessions in their several offices. I have not yet received intimation as to the date fixed for the funeral of the late Queen-Empress or the duration of general mourning enjoined upon His Majesty's subjects. But I leave it to Your Excellency to issue such directions as you consider proper pending the receipt of further particulars. I am convinced that the distressing intelligence which I have conveyed to you will be received with universal sorrow by the Ruling Chiefs of India and by all classes of the community alike in British India and in the Native States to whom Her late Imperial Majesty of blessed and glorious memory was endeared by the gracious interest in their welfare which she at all times manifested.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's Most Obedient humble Servant,

GEORGE HAMILTON."

No. 354-I.A.—Whereas the imposition and levy of certain duties on cotton goods produced in mills in British India, under the Cotton Duties Act, 1896 (II of 1896), renders it expedient to impose and levy similar duties on all cotton goods produced in any mill which has been, or may hereafter be, established in the Civil Station of Wadhwan:

In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879 (XXI of 1879), and all other powers enabling him in this behalf, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following law:—

PRELIMINARY.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This law may be called the Cotton Duties Law, 1900.

(2) It extends to the Wadhwan Civil Station, and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

2. In this law, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context:

Definitions.

(1) "Cotton yarn" or "yarn" means yarn wholly or partly composed of cotton fibres;

(2) "Cotton goods" or "goods" include all tissues and other articles (except yarn and thread) woven, knitted or otherwise manufactured wholly or partly from cotton yarn;

(3) "Mill" means any building or place where cotton goods are woven, knitted or otherwise manufactured by machinery moved otherwise than by manual labour, and includes every part of such building or place; and

(4) "Warehouse" means a place licensed for the storage of goods under this law;

(5) "Political Agent" means the chief political authority in Kathiawar and "Assistant Political Agent" means the Political Officer in charge of the division in which the Wadhwan Civil Station is situated.

DUTY.

Imposition of duty on cotton goods.

3. There shall be levied and collected at every mill to which this law applies upon all cotton goods produced in such mill, a duty at the rate of 3½ per centum on the value of such goods.

Explanation.—Goods are said to be produced within the meaning of this section when they are issued out of the premises of the mill. But, in the case of any mill in which the goods are chiefly or largely made up and sold otherwise than as piece-goods, the Governor of Bombay in Council may direct that goods shall be reckoned as produced when they are issued out of the weaving section or sections of the mill.

Power to fix tarif values of such goods.

4. (1) The Governor of Bombay in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Kathiawar Agency Gazette, fix, for the purpose of levying the said duties, tariff values of all such goods as aforesaid or of any particular description or descriptions thereof, and alter any tariff values for the time being in force.

(2) Such tariff value shall, for the purposes of this law, be deemed to be the "real value" of the goods to which it applies, but, save as aforesaid, all goods shall be assessed under this law at their real value.

(3) For the purposes of this law, the real value shall be deemed to be—

(a) the wholesale cash price, less trade discount for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold or are capable of being sold at the time and place of production, without any abatement or deduction whatever, except of the amount of the duties payable on the production thereof;

(b) where such price is not ascertainable, the cost at which goods of the like kind and quality could be delivered at such place, without any abatement or deduction, except as aforesaid.

Delivery of monthly returns of goods produced by mill-owners.

5. (1) The owner of every mill shall prepare and deliver, or cause to be prepared and delivered, to the Assistant Political Agent each month a return of all the cotton goods produced at his mill during the preceding month; and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such return at the foot thereof.

(2) Unless otherwise prescribed by any rules under this law, every such return shall state for each description of goods the quantity produced during the period to which the return relates and the real value of such goods.

(3) Every such return shall also contain such further information and be in such form and be subject to such conditions as to verification and otherwise as may be prescribed by any rules under this law.

(4) Each return shall be delivered to the Assistant Political Agent or posted to his address within three working days, and at most within ten days, of the period to which it relates; and the first of such returns shall be made for the month following that in which the law may be introduced, and shall include all goods produced since the commencement of this law.

Explanation.—"Working day" in this sub-section means every day except such as the Political Agent may from time to time declare, by general or special notification in the Kathiawar Agency Gazette, to be a public holiday.

Assessment of duty and notice requiring payment.

6. (1) The Assistant Political Agent shall assess the duties payable in respect of the period to which the return relates, and, unless the amount thereof is immediately tendered, shall cause a notice, in such form as may be prescribed by any rules under this law, to be served on the owner requiring him to make payment of the amount assessed within ten days of the date of service of the said notice.

(2) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill by delivering or tendering to him or his agent at his ordinary place of business a copy of the notice, or, if this cannot be conveniently done, by fixing a copy of the notice on one of the outer doors of the mill.

Recovery of unpaid duty.

7. (1) If any duty payable under this law is not paid within the time fixed by any such notice as aforesaid for the payment thereof, the Assistant Political Agent may, in lieu thereof, recover any sum not exceeding double the amount of duty so unpaid, which he shall, in his discretion, think it reasonable to require.

(2) All sums recoverable under sub-section (1) may be recovered by the attachment and sale of any property of the defaulter.

WAREHOUSING.

Licensing of warehouse for storage of goods and fees for same.

8. (1) The Political Agent may from time to time license any room or place as a warehouse for the storage of cotton goods, and for the purposes of this law every such room or place shall be deemed to be a warehouse.

(2) There shall be payable in respect of every such warehouse such and the like licensing fees and other payments as may for the time being be payable in British India, with respect to a private warehouse licensed under the Sea Customs Act, 1878:

Provided that the Political Agent may remit the whole or any part of such fees or other payments in respect of any particular warehouse.

Permission to deposit goods in warehouse.

9. (1) The owner of any mill may apply for leave to deposit in a warehouse any goods in respect of which duty has become leviable under section 3, but has not yet been assessed under section 6.

(2) Such application shall be in writing signed by the applicant, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Political Agent.

Exemption from assessment of goods deposited.

10. When any goods have been deposited in a warehouse, the quantity and particulars thereof shall be specified as so deposited in the return made under section 5 for the period in which the goods were produced, or in a separate return for that same period, and the said goods shall be deducted in the assessment and collection of duty.

INSPECTION.

Power to Assistant Political Agent to inspect mills and take copies of records and accounts.

11. (1) The Assistant Political Agent, or any officer duly appointed by the Political Agent in that behalf, shall have free access at all reasonable times during working hours to any mill and, subject to any order of the Political Agent in this behalf, to any part of any mill.

(2) Any such officer may at any time, with or without notice to the owner, examine the working records, sale records and accounts of any mill, and take copies of, or extracts from, all or any of the said records or accounts, for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return, or of informing himself as to any particulars regarding which information is required for the purpose of this law or any rules thereunder.

(3) Any mill-owner may object to submitting to any officer under the rank of an Assistant Political Agent any record or account containing the description or formulæ of any trade process.

But if he objects to the inspection of any record or account by such an officer on the ground of its containing such description or formulæ, he must submit his objection in writing to the officer for transmission to the Assistant Political Agent, and the officer may then and there seal up the record or accouut pending the orders of the Assistant Political Agent.

Information acquired to be deemed official secrets.

12. (1) All such copies and extracts and all other information acquired by any such officer on the inspection of any mill or warehouse shall be regarded as strictly confidential, and shall be deemed to be official secrets.

(2) If any such officer under the rank of an Assistant Political Agent shall disclose to any person other than a superior officer any such official secret as aforesaid without the previous consent in writing of the Political Agent, he shall be guilty of a breach of official trust, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

13. The offences mentioned in the first column of the following schedule shall be punishable to the extent mentioned in the second column thereof with reference to such offences, respectively:—

1. Contravening any rule made under this law.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.
2. Concealing or attempting to conceal, or knowingly permitting or procuring to be concealed, any goods liable to duty under this law with intent to evade payment of the duty or any part thereof.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation, and every person convicted of the offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of the goods.

3. Omitting to make any return required by section 5 or refusing to sign or complete the same.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
4. Making and delivering any such return containing any statement not true to the best of the information and belief of the person making the same.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 199, for making false statement in a declaration.
5. Altering or falsifying any record or book of account kept in the mill with the intention of defrauding the revenue.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 465, for the commission of forgery.
6. Omitting without reasonable cause to keep samples as provided in section 15.	A penalty for each offence not exceeding two hundred rupees.
7. Omitting to keep such proper records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rule under this law.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees and a further penalty of twenty rupees for every day after the date of the conviction during which the offence is continued.
8. Omitting to make and deliver any return which by any rule under this law ought to have been made and delivered.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
9. Intentionally obstructing the Assistant Political Agent or any other officer in the exercise of any powers given under this law.	Imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or both.
10. If any goods are found concealed in any place, box or closed receptacle in any mill and are not duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the Assistant Political Agent.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation.
11. If any goods are found in any mill in excess of the quantity entered in the return or not corresponding with the statement therein contained.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation or to be charged with such increased duty as the Political Agent may direct.
12. If, when any cotton goods are passed by tale or by package, any omission or misdescription thereof tending to injure the revenue be discovered.	The person guilty of such omission or misdescription shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten times the amount of duty which might have been lost to the revenues of the Wadhwan Civil Station by such omission or misdescription, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the Assistant Political Agent or his Deputy Assistant that the variance was accidental.
13. If any officer under the rank of an Assistant Political Agent appointed under section 11 does any act or is guilty of any omission in contravention of this law or of any rule or order made thereunder; or with intent to cause injury or annoyance to any person, vexatiously or unnecessarily makes use of any power conferred upon him under this law.	Such officer shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding 500 rupees.

Magistrates having jurisdiction.

14. All offences against this law may be tried summarily by the Assistant Political Agent or his Deputy Assistant.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Samples of certain goods to be taken by millowners at times of manufacture and to be available for inspection.

15. (1) The owner of every mill shall, in the case of any goods other than those for which tariff values have been fixed under section 4, take a sample or samples of such goods at the time of manufacturing the same, and shall preserve such samples for reference for at least six months after the said goods are produced.

(2) Such samples shall be at all times available for inspection by the Assistant Political Agent or by any officer appointed under section 11; and an examination thereof shall, if the goods themselves cannot conveniently be examined, be deemed to be an examination of the goods.

(3) The Political Agent may define by rule what shall in any specified case be sufficient sample for the purposes of this section.

Power to take samples.

16. (1) The Assistant Political Agent or any officer appointed under section 11 may at any time take samples of any goods for examination or for ascertaining the value thereof or for any other necessary purpose.

(2) The owner may, when required to deliver any sample to an officer under section 11, seal up such sample in a cover addressed to the Assistant Political Agent; and in such case the said officer shall deliver such cover intact to the Assistant Political Agent.

(3) Every sample shall, if practicable, be restored to the owner, or, at his option, sold under the orders of the Assistant Political Agent, and the proceeds accounted for to the owner.

Record and accounts to be kept by millowners.

17. The owner of every mill shall keep such records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rules under this law.

Mill-owners to make periodical returns of cotton yarn spun by machinery.

18. The owner of every mill or place where cotton yarn is spun by machinery moved otherwise than by manual labour shall make periodical returns to the Assistant Political Agent of the quantity and description of all such yarns, in such form, with such particulars, and at such intervals, as may be prescribed by any rule under this law.

Power to Local Government to reverse or modify orders under these rules.

19. The Governor of Bombay in Council may, on the application of any person aggrieved by any decision or order passed under this law, reverse or modify such decision or order.

20. The Governor of Bombay in Council may from time to time make rules under this law,—

(1) prescribing the form of any return required by or under this law and the particulars to be contained therein respectively; and the manner in which the same is to be verified, and all such other conditions in respect thereof as may be necessary;

(2) requiring returns of yarns spun;

(3) prescribing the form of the notice to be issued by the Assistant Political Agent under section 6;

(4) regulating the inspection of mills, and the powers and duties of the Assistant Political Agent and other officers in respect thereof;

(5) regulating the provision of warehouses under this law, and the deposit and discharge of goods therein and therefrom, and the powers and duties of the Political Agent in respect thereof;

(6) prescribing the records and books of account to be kept by owners of mills under this law; and

(7) generally, for carrying into effect the provisions of this law.

No. 355-I. B.—Whereas the Rulers of the States mentioned in the second column of the schedule hereto annexed have ceded to the British Government full and exclusive power and jurisdiction of every kind within those portions of land which lie within their respective States and are occupied, or may hereafter be occupied, by the sections of the Jodhpur-Bikaner Railway mentioned opposite their names respectively in the first column of the schedule (including the lands occupied by stations, by out-buildings, and for other railway purposes) and over all persons and things whatsoever within the said lands:

In exercise of such jurisdiction and of the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879 (XXI of 1879), and of all other powers enabling him in this behalf, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to provide as follows for the administration of criminal justice within the aforesaid portions of land:—

(1) The provisions, so far as they may be suitable, and as amended from time to time by subsequent enactments, of the Acts mentioned below, are hereby applied to the aforesaid lands namely:—

Number and year.	Subject.
Act XLV of 1860	Penal Code.
„ V of 1861	Police.
„ VI of 1864	Whipping.
„ I of 1871	Cattle-trespass.
„ III of 1888	Police.
„ V of 1898	The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Provided that for the purpose of facilitating the application of the provisions of the enactments hereby applied, any Court within the aforesaid lands may construe them with such alterations, not affecting the substance, as may be necessary or proper to adapt them to the matter before the Court: Provided also that the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall be subject to the following modifications, namely:—

(a) that trials before the Court of Session may, in the discretion of the Judge, be without the aid of jury or assessors;

(b) that, notwithstanding anything in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898), or the Police Act, 1861 (V of 1861), or in any other enactment or rule for the time being in force, the Governor-General in Council may confer on any police officer all or any of the powers conferred or conferable by or under the Code on any Magistrate in regard to particular cases, or to a particular class or particular classes of cases, or to cases generally.

(2) There shall be a Railway Magistrate, who shall be the Superintendent of the Rajputana-Malwa Railway Police.

(3) Every officer mentioned in the third, fourth or fifth column of the schedule hereto annexed shall exercise, within such sections of the Jodhpur-Bikaner Railway mentioned opposite his name in the first column of the schedule as are situate within the territories of the State or States mentioned opposite his name in the second column of the schedule, the powers described in section 30 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the powers of a Magistrate of the 1st class, and the powers of a District Magistrate, as described in that Code, respectively, provided that, in any case in which the complainant (if any) and all the accused persons are not British subjects, it shall be in the discretion of the said officers, respectively, to decline to exercise the powers hereby conferred upon them.

(4) Every officer mentioned in the sixth or seventh column of the schedule hereto annexed shall exercise, within such sections of the Jodhpur-Bikaner Railway mentioned opposite his name in the first column of the schedule as are situate within the territories of the State or States mentioned opposite his name in the second column of the schedule, the powers of a Court of Session or a High Court, as the case may be, in respect of all offences over which jurisdiction is exercised by any officer mentioned opposite his name in the third, fourth, or fifth column of the schedule.

(5) In the exercise of the jurisdiction of a Court of Session conferred upon the Residents at Bikaner and in the Western Rajputana States, as mentioned in the sixth column of the schedule hereto annexed, the said officers may take cognizance of an offence as a Court of original criminal jurisdiction without the accused person being committed to him by a Magistrate, and shall, when so taking cognizance of an offence, follow the procedure laid down by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the trial of warrant cases by Magistrates.

(6) The provisions of the last four foregoing clauses of this notification apply to all proceedings except—

(a) proceedings against European British subjects or persons jointly charged with European British subjects; and

(b) proceedings pending at the date of this notification, which shall be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to Act V (the Inventions and Designs Act) of 1888 should be addressed to the "Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA."

The Office of the Secretary under the Act is open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy respectively.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October, 1895, in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitor's room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified; or, if the tenth day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

S. C. HILL,
Offg. Secy. under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 22nd May, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR THE TROOPS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

No. 9.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

Until further notice, State and Private telegrams in plain language addressed to persons serving with the Field Force in South Africa will be accepted at Sender's risk, and charged for at the rate of Rr-8 per word from offices in India or Burma. Telegrams in Code or Cypher cannot be accepted at this reduced rate. The address should consist of the following :—

(1) The name, or number, or both of the person to whom the telegram is addressed (in the case of officers the rank may be omitted, and in the case of telegrams for Non-Commissioned Officers and men the name may, in like manner, be omitted if the number is given. Such omissions, however, add to the risk of the telegram going astray, more especially when addressed to Non-Commissioned Officers and men), and

(2) The Regiment (this will be counted and charged for as one word irrespective of the number of words used).

These telegrams should be addressed "Bombay for South Africa" (which words will be signalled free), and not to any particular Telegraph Office in South Africa. The Bombay Telegraph Office will forward them to the Officer Commanding at Capetown, who will deliver them to the Addressees at whatever place in South Africa they may be stationed.

Senders of telegrams should accurately describe the Regiment, Battalion, Battery or Corps, to which the Addressees are attached, as it appears in the "Army List." For example: the address of an Officer or Private in the "Rifles" should give the number of the Battalion, and make it quite clear whether it is a Battalion of the "Rifle Brigade," the "King's Royal Rifle Corps," the "Royal Irish Rifles," or the "Scottish Rifles (Cameronians)."

The reduced rate will also apply to telegrams addressed to members of the Nursing Staff serving in South Africa, and any telegrams addressed to a Nurse will be treated in the same way as those intended for soldiers and sailors.

Telegrams for officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men in South Africa who are known to be suffering from wounds or sickness may be addressed to them as if they were with their regiment or corps. Such telegrams, on arrival at the place where the regiment or corps is stationed, will be redirected to the proper hospital.

When, however, the name of the hospital is known to the sender of the message, he may address the telegram direct to that hospital, e.g., "Field Hospital, 1st Cavalry Brigade," or to "No. 2 General Hospital" or to "Mooi River Hospital."

In any case, the telegram should, as already stated, be addressed by the sender to "Bombay for South Africa," which words will not be charged for.

The following are given as examples of addresses and counting :—

"Captain Armstrong, 64th Royal Field Artillery, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "Captain Armstrong, Wynberg Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303 Murphy, 2nd Battalion, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303, Mooi River Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (two words).

II. Notification No. 5, dated the 8th May, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 22nd November, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE BRITISH AND INDIAN FORCES IN CHINA.

No. 34.—The following revised Notification is issued for general information :—

Until further notice, private telegrams, in plain language, for members of the British or Indian Military and Naval Forces in China, from their friends in India or Burma will be accepted at sender's risk and at the reduced rates mentioned below to the three following stations only, vid Madras :—

1. To Shanghai at R 0-15-0 per word.
2. „ Weihaiwei „ 1-3-0 „
3. „ Taku „ 1-4-0 „

In the official instructions the words "Reduced Rates" should be inserted, and will be signalled free.

Telegrams intended for Military or Naval members stationed at Hongkong should be addressed to Shanghai, and those for members stationed at Tientsin or Pekin should be addressed to Taku. These reduced rates will also apply to telegrams for Civilians in Military or Naval employ in China.

II. Notification No. 32, dated the 6th of November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 5th December, 1900.

No. 37.—The British Government announces that the transmission of Private telegrams for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, vid Cape Colony and Natal, is now suspended.

Telegrams for Pretoria, Johannesburg, Vereeniging, Germiston, Middelburg, Heidelberg, and Standerton are, meanwhile, being accepted for transmission, vid Lourenco Marques, at the usual rates. These telegrams should be written in plain English, and will be accepted only at the risk of the sender. They are also subject to censorship and to delay in transmission.

Calcutta, the 13th December, 1900.

No. 39.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

The Post Master General, London, announces that the British Government have decided to suspend at Aden and the Cape of Good

Hope the transmission of all telegrams in code or cipher, whether of foreign Governments or private persons, to or from British Central Africa, St. Helena and Ascension. Telegrams in plain language are subject to censorship, and can only be accepted at the risk of the sender.

Code messages for the following places, viz., Cape Colony, Natal, Rhodesia, Zanzibar, Seychelles, Mauritius, Madagascar, British and German East Africa, Mozambique and Lourenço Marques may, however, be accepted, if the words used are in one, or other, of the following Code Books, which have been deposited with the authorities at Aden, viz. :—

(1) A B C (4th edition).
(2) A Z.
(3) Scott's (9th edition).
(4) A 1.
(5) Telegraphenschlüessel of W. Staudt and O. Hundius (published by Julius Springer at Berlin).
(6) The Mercuur Code (2nd edition), enlarged and revised, with the First Supplement.
(7) Broomhall's Comprehensive Cipher Code.
(8) Western Union Telegraphic Code and International Cable Directory, Universal Edition, 1900.
(9) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1898.
(10) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1900.
(11) Watkins' Telegraphic Code with Appendix (7th edition), 1900.
(12) International Mercantile Telegraph Code (Meyer), 1880.
(13) The General, Commercial and Mining Telegram Code, 1897, by C. A. Moreing and F. C. McCutcheon.

Telegrams should be endorsed to the effect that the words used actually represent the corresponding expressions given in the abovenamed Code Books.

As delays occur at Aden in consequence of the difficulty of determining which code has been employed, senders of telegrams to the abovenamed places in East Africa should write on the message draft the name of the code employed. For instance A B C; A Z; Scott's; A 1; Staudt; Mercuur; Broomhall's; Directory; Atlantic, 1898; Atlantic, 1900; Watkins; Meyer; or McCutcheon. This information will be included in the "Official Instructions" and transmitted free of charge.

II. Notification No. 36, dated the 29th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

No. 39-A.—In the event of the establishment in British India of a censorship over telegrams, the first twelve Code Books mentioned in Notification No. 39, dated the 13th of December, 1900, will be used in India for purposes similar to that for which they are employed in Aden.

The public are recommended to provide themselves with such of the codes as may appear suited to their requirements.

H. A. KIRK,
Director, Traffic Branch.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 12th January, 1901.

Weather was fine and settled over the whole of India on Sunday the 6th January except in the Circars and parts of Upper Burma where a few showers had been given by the residual depression passing across the head of the Bay at the close of the previous week. The barometer had, however, fallen briskly in the Persian Gulf and slightly to briskly in Lower Sind and Gujarat and a feeble depression was advancing eastwards which entered Kathiawar on Monday. No rain was reported on Monday but on Tuesday morning the depression extended into South-East Rajputana and light showers were fairly general in Rajputana, Central India and the Central Provinces. As it advanced eastwards the depression commenced filling up and on Wednesday it was represented by a very feeble and ill defined disturbance lying over the eastern districts of the Central Provinces but it had given general light rain in East Rajputana, the North-Western and Central Provinces and the eastern states of Central India. By Thursday morning the depression had practically filled up. A few very light showers had been received in the east of the Central Provinces and in North-East India but Sambalpur was the only station at which the amount received exceeded a tenth of an inch. As the depression filled up anti-cyclonic conditions were established in Rajputana and Central India which were very pronounced on Friday pressure being in considerable excess in this area and temperature in very large defect. Weather was again disturbed in Persia on Friday and the barometer fell briskly to rapidly in Baluchistan, the Punjab, Sind, Rajputana and Gujarat on Saturday. Pressure was in considerable defect in Sind and a depression was entering that province, and had given rain and snow in Baluchistan and the Western Himalayas and rain in the plains of the North-West Punjab.

Showers fell in the south of the Peninsula during the latter part of week and were fairly general on Friday. On Saturday Vizagapatam reported continuous rain amounting 2·05 inches, an unusually heavy fall for the North Circars in January. Heavy rain has also fallen in the Nilgiris and other parts of South India.

Rain.—No rain has fallen in Burma except a few drops on Sunday, but nearly all the divisions in India have received showers the amounts received in Nothern India, however, being much less than those recorded during the previous week. The normal rainfall of the week has been equalled or exceeded in the Brahmaputra Valley, Orissa, South Oudh, the Central, West and West Submontane divisions of the North-Western Provinces, the South-East, North and West Punjab, Baluchistan, Central India, East Rajputana, Berar, the Central Provinces, the Bombay and Malabar Coast districts and Madras.

The following gives the largest amounts received at individual stations during the week :—

Punjab—Nawashahr	.	2·04 inches
Berar—Lallegaon	. .	2·79 ,,
Mysore—Heggaddevankote		2·58 ,,
East Coast—Vizagapatam		3·33 ,,
	Polavaram	3·25 ,,
	Venkatagiri	2·60 ,,
South India—Mettupalaiyam		3·12 ,,
	Kotagiri .	10·54 ,,
	Ootacamund	5·79 ,,
	Ambasamudram	2·77 ,,
	Periyakulam	5·79 ,,

The last three columns of the table at the end show that the rainfall of the period December 30th to January 12th was normal or in excess in Central and Upper Burma, and Arakan ; the whole of Northern India, except East Bengal, the Assam Hills, the Surma Valley and Gujarat ; and also in the Peninsula, except in Coorg, the Bombay Deccan and Khandesh. The largest absolute excess occurs in the Baluchistan Hills, the Punjab Hills, the East division of the North-Western Provinces, South Bihar and Chota Nagpur.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 19th January, 1901.

Madras.—There was no rain except some light scattered showers in the Circars, the Carnatic, the Nilgiris and in parts of the southern districts. Water supplies are insufficient in parts of the Deccan, the Carnatic and the central districts. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting are in progress in parts where there is irrigation. Harvests continue with fair to normal outturn. Pasture is scanty and fodder dear in parts. The condition of cattle is generally normal. Prices are almost stationary or slightly easier, but rice continues above the scarcity rate in Kistna, and dry staples in North Arcot, Salem and parts of the Deccan. Prospects are generally fair but are not encouraging in Cuddapah, North Arcot, Chingleput and Salem. Estimated number of weavers relieved in Cuddapah 1,587 men and 1,249 women.

Bombay.—Moderate rain fell during the week in parts of Ahmednagar Poona, Satara and Sholapur and there was a slight fall in parts of Sindh, the Konkan, the Karnatak, Panch Mahals and Surat. The rain was beneficial to the late sown spring crops but is likely to injure the early crops. The harvesting of autumn crops is completed in the Upper Sindh Frontier district, and is progressing in parts of Thar and Parkar, Broach, Surat and Belgaum. Threshing is completed in Poona, nearly over in Dharwar, and is in progress in parts of Hyderabad, Surat, Nasik and Kolaba. Agricultural prospects are good in Sindh, fair to good in the Konkan and parts of Surat, Broach, Khandesh, Nasik and Poona, and are generally moderate to poor elsewhere. The young spring crops have been damaged by locusts or other insects in parts of Sindh and Ahmedabad and are generally suffering from want of moisture except in irrigated lands. The fodder supply is generally sufficient but is getting scanty in parts of Sholapur, Belgaum and Dharwar. Agricultural stock is in good condition but is deteriorating in parts of Bijapur. Prices have fallen in four districts, risen in three districts and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is slightly over the normal and, compared with the corresponding week of 1900, is easier in Gujarat, the Konkan and the Karnatak, and higher in the Deccan. The price of bajri is slightly below normal in Gujarat and is considerably over normal in the Konkan, the Karnatak and the Deccan, and is much easier than in 1900. The price of juar is normal in Gujarat and is about double normal elsewhere and, compared with 1900, is considerably easier in Gujarat and slightly easier in the Deccan, the Konkan and the Karnatak. The price of wheat is over normal in Gujarat and the Konkan and is about normal in the Deccan and the Karnatak, but is slightly easier than in 1900 in Gujarat, and about the same elsewhere.

Daily average numbers on relief—British Districts—on test works, 581; on relief works, 120,492; dependants, 23,205; total on works, 144,278. In poor houses, 4,133; on village relief, 34,488; total on gratuitous relief, 38,621. Figures for Ahmedabad, Nasik and Satara are incomplete. Native States—on relief works, 10,729; dependants, 3,709; total on relief works, 14,438. In poor-houses, 1,419; on village relief, 927; total on gratuitous relief, 2,346. Grand total 199,683.

Bengal.—Rain fell during the week in all districts except in Bogra and Chittagong. Prospects of the spring crops are generally good. Harvesting of winter rice is almost finished. Pressing of sugarcane is still going on. Fodder is sufficient. The price of common rice has fallen in ten Districts, risen in twenty-three, and is stationary in the rest.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—There was general rain in the provinces except in Naini-Tal and Ghazipur. Clear weather is much needed. Standing crops are doing well so far, but injury is apprehended from the continuance of rain and cloudy weather. In Partabgarh caterpillars have slightly damaged the poppy crop, and in lowlying tracts the crops have been seriously damaged by recent rains. Slight showers of hail fell in parts of the Hardoi, Barabanki, Banda and Fatehpur districts with little or no damage. Prospects continue favourable. Supplies and fodder are ample. Markets are well supplied. Prices are almost stationary.

Punjab.—Rain has fallen throughout the province. The price of wheat is rising in Amritsar, Shahpur, Rawalpindi and Dera Ismail Khan, has fallen in Multan, and is unchanged elsewhere. Wheat is selling from $9\frac{1}{16}$ to 12, gram 10 to $12\frac{1}{2}$, barley 14, bulrush millet $15\frac{15}{16}$ to $21\frac{1}{2}$, and maize 15 to $22\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. In Ferozepore and Sialkot prices are generally high. Sowing of spring crops is nearly completed. Sugarcane pressing continues in some districts. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally reported to be good and the outturn is expected to be above average. The outturn of sugarcane is also said to be above average in Sialkot. Recent rain has been very beneficial to the standing crops. Good sunshine is now needed for the standing crops in Umballa. Some hail fell in parts of Multan, but did no damage. Cattle are generally in good condition. Pasturage and fodder are sufficient in all districts, except in parts of Multan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Reaping is nearly completed. The paddy crop is reported to be lighter than last year in parts of Amherst. UPPER BURMA.—Reaping of wet weather paddy and sowing of dry weather paddy are completed in some districts and are in progress in others. Reaping of juar continues in parts. The standing crops are in good condition. Sesamum in the Yeu subdivision of Shwebo is now reported to be good. The price of paddy has fallen in Myaungmya and Kyaukse and has risen in Pakokku and Shwebo. Elsewhere the variations are slight.

Central Provinces.—The weather which was somewhat unsettled at the beginning of the week with light falls of rain in Jubbulpore, Mandla, Bhandara, Balaghat and Sambalpur has now set clear and cold. The recent rain has been beneficial to the standing crops which are generally in fair to good condition. Insects continue to cause damage to pulses and linseed in parts. Cotton picking, threshing of rice and reaping of juar are almost completed. Fodder and water are ample. Prices are steady in Seoni, Nimar, Bhandara and Balaghat; elsewhere there are slight local fluctuations. The cheapest prices are—wheat $12\frac{1}{4}$, gram 14, rice 14, and juar 20 seers per rupee. The dearest prices are—wheat 8, gram 8, rice 8, and juar $13\frac{3}{4}$ seers per rupee. There are 19 persons still on relief in the Saugor poor-house.

Assam.—Rain has fallen in all districts except in the Garo Hills. Harvesting of late rice is nearly finished. Gathering of pulses and mustard, pressing of sugarcane and pruning of tea are in progress. Land is being ploughed for early rice. The prospects of sugarcane are generally fair. The outturn of late rice and the prospects of pulses and mustard are fair in Sibsagar and Lakhimpur and bad in other districts. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is scarce in Cachar, the Khasi and Jaintia Hills and in parts of Sylhet and Kamrup. Water is insufficient in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills and in parts of Sylhet. Prices—common rice, Silchar 10 to 11, Sylhet and Sibsagar 12, Dhubri 10, Gauhati 13, Tezpur $10\frac{1}{2}$, Nowgong 12, and Dibrugarh 11 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—No rain fell in the Civil and Military Station. Standing crops are in good condition throughout, except in parts of Mysore, Chitaldrug and Kadur. Cotton, ragi and horse gram are being harvested in parts. Paddy has been sown in parts, and reaping of paddy, sugarcane and horse gram has commenced in parts. Prospects are good in Bangalore, Mysore, Tumkur, Kolar and Kadur and are favourable in Hassan. Prices have fallen slightly throughout except in Chitaldrug where they are stationary, and in some parts of Kadur and Kolar where they have slightly risen. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient.

COORG.—The rice harvest and coffee picking continue. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar.—The rainfall during the week was 1 inch 64 cents. The weather is cloudy and cool. Picking of cotton and cutting of juar are nearing completion. The winter crops have slightly improved owing to recent rain. Fodder and water are adequate. Prices are almost stationary.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week amounted to four cents only, the total from 1st January being 24 cents. The standing spring crops are in fairly good condition and are being harvested in parts. Winter rice sowing continues. Agricultural prospects show signs of improvement. Prices are almost stationary. Total number of persons on relief works, including dependents, 1,836; gratuitously relieved, 722. Prices—wheat $5\frac{1}{8}$, coarse rice $6\frac{7}{8}$ and juar $11\frac{1}{8}$ seers per halli sicca rupee.

Rajputana.—The average rainfall in cents was in Marwar 31, Deoli 18, Tonk 17, Jaipur 57, Alwar 35, Bharatpur 32, Dholpur 26, Ajmere-Merwara 27. Agricultural operations are progressing. The condition of crops and cattle are good. Pasturage and fodder are sufficient. The cheapest prices range between 12 and 32 seers the rupee. Numbers on relief—Native States—on gratuitous relief, 506.

Central India.—The rainfall was 63 cents in Bundelkhand, none elsewhere. Agricultural operations have been completed in Bundelkhand and are in progress in other places. Standing crops are in good condition and the probable outturn is expected to be also good. Crops have been damaged in parts of Malwa and Bhopal. The condition of agricultural stock is good and pasturage is sufficient. Prices of food grains are rising in Gwalior, are high in Bhopal, above average in Baghelkhand, normal in Bundelkhand, and steady in Malwa and Indore. The condition of opium is good in Gwalior, Bhopal and Malwa and the crop has been sown in Indore. Average prices—Gwalior 16 to 19, Indore 8 to 17, Bundelkhand $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $15\frac{1}{2}$, Malwa $16\frac{1}{4}$ seers per rupee. On gratuitous relief, Jaora 44. The report from Bhopawar has not been received.

Baroda.—Standing spring crops are in fair condition and the condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Prices—bajri 31, juar 34, wheat 19, rice, superior, 13, inferior, 19 pounds per British rupee. Average number on relief works—Baroda territory—8,678, and on gratuitous relief, 4,383.

Kashmir.—The weather is snowy and very cold. Prices are normal, rice being 25 seers the rupee. JUMMU PROVINCE.—Good rain fell. Prices are stationary; wheat is selling from 10 to 16, and 18 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good.

Nepal.—The rainfall was slight. The weather is cloudy, foggy and very cold. The standing crops are in good condition. The price of rice is $7\frac{7}{8}$ seers per rupee.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each Province is shown in the following table :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

MEASURES TO REDUCE THE FREQUENCY OF TRANSFERS OF CIVIL OFFICERS.

Nos. 224-240.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Public), under date Calcutta, the 25th January 1901.

Despatch to the Secretary of State, No. 64, dated the 25th October 1900.
Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 6, dated the 4th January 1901.

RESOLUTION.

The Governor General in Council has had for some time under his consideration the question of the frequent transfer from one charge to another of officers employed in the different branches of the Civil administration. The extent to which the members of the different Civil departments have been transferred in recent years is universally recognized to be detrimental to the proper discharge of public duties in every branch of the administration. The evil effects of frequent transfers are, however, especially manifest in the case of the chief civil officer of the district, who is the direct representative of the Government in the eye of the community. Continuity in the charge is most essential to the proper administration of a district in India, since a district officer's influence must in the main depend upon the extent to which he is known and trusted by the people.

2. It is an inherent condition of the different services in India that transfers of officers should be more frequent than is desirable in the interests of the administration. The number of European officers in the administrative services is limited to strict working requirements. Every time that leave is given, on every occasion on which a promotion is made, and in every instance in which an officer retires, a vacancy is created. It is impossible, therefore, to prevent transfers; the utmost that can be done is to reduce their frequency as much as possible.

The question of such a reduction does not come before the Government of India for the first time. It was the subject of correspondence between the Secretary of State and Lord Ripon's Government in 1882. It had been asserted that the change in the furlough rules of 1868, whereby officers absent on leave retain a lien on their appointments, had resulted in a largely increased number of acting appointments, and in frequent transfers or changes in the personnel of the administrative staff, to the detriment of the public interests. The Government of India made an inquiry from the Local Governments and Administrations as to whether the change in the rules had caused practical inconvenience. The replies to this inquiry disclosed a very general opinion among the local authorities that the supposed effect of the rule in question had been much exaggerated and misunderstood, and that the statistics from the different provinces did not, when carefully analyzed, justify the withdrawal of the rule whereby an officer on furlough retains a lien on his substantive appointment or on a substantive appointment of like character and not less pay. Lord Ripon's Government were nevertheless of opinion that changes among the administrative, and especially among the district staff, had been too frequent in some provinces. This result appeared to be in some measure due to the Local Governments being too ready to defer to the personal wishes and inclinations of officers returning from leave. The Government of India therefore directed that, unless some special circumstances rendered it desirable to replace an acting officer by a returning incumbent, an officer in the regular line of district administration should, on return from furlough, be posted to such actually vacant office as might be suited to his rank and pay, and that, in determining where he should be posted, the only consideration which should be allowed to weigh should be the question how his services could best be utilized with the least possible disturbance of existing arrangements. The Local Governments were also directed to pay more attention to regulating the time of an officer's return to duty with reference to the convenience of the public service. Directions upon these two points were issued in the Home Department Resolution No. $\frac{\text{88 Public}}{1345-1354}$ of 7th September 1882.

3. The Governor General in Council agrees with the decision come to by Lord Ripon's Government regarding the concession made in 1868, but is of opinion that the number of transfers has been greatly increased by the custom, which has grown more frequent as communication with Europe has become more rapid, of taking accumulated privilege leave followed, after a short interval of duty, by furlough—a practice not contemplated at the time when the furlough rules, which were designed to enable officers to visit England at reasonable intervals, and not oftener, were framed. Under article 891 of the Civil Service Regulations, an officer applying for privilege leave is required to record a declaration that he has no intention of taking leave of any other kind for three months after his return to duty. An officer under the European leave rules, who has accumulated three months' privilege leave, can enjoy it during one hot season, revert to duty during the cold weather, and then apply for furlough in the ensuing hot season. So long as the aggregate number of furloughs is not exceeded, it is difficult to refuse his request except on special grounds, since he has rendered more than the continuous service required under article 340 of the Civil Service Regulations before furlough can be granted to him. His two periods of leave, which may have commenced within a period of just over six months, involve three changes,—a result which is most prejudicial to the proper conduct of any office in the civil administration.

4. The Government of India have been in communication with the Local Governments and Administrations and the Secretary of State as to the best means of checking the evils which result from frequent absences due to the enjoyment of leave under these conditions. They are of opinion that the right to accumulate privilege leave as such should be retained, but that, in the interests of the administration, it is essential to put an end to the practice of taking accumulated privilege leave and furlough separately without the interposition of a sufficient interval. The Government of India have therefore determined, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, to require that an officer shall, after return from accumulated privilege leave of over six weeks in duration, render eighteen months active service between the return to duty and departure on ordinary furlough. As a compensation for the restriction on the present conditions under which leave can be taken, the Governor General in Council has recommended to the Secretary of State, who has approved the proposal, that an officer who has earned privilege leave shall be permitted to take it up to the maximum of three months in combination with any other leave. To this concession will be attached a limitation of the total period of the combined leave, so that it shall not exceed two years when furlough is taken, or six months when special leave is taken, and, on the other hand, that it shall not be less than six months. His Excellency in Council is therefore pleased to announce that, with effect from January 21st, 1901, the date of the receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction, the rules in Chapter XIII (leave rules for European services) and XIV (leave rules for Indian services) will be modified in respect of all the officers to whom these rules respectively apply, in the following particulars :—

(i) privilege leave to the amount due will be allowed to be taken as privilege leave either (a) by itself or (b) combined as privilege leave with furlough, leave on medical certificate, special leave, leave on urgent private affairs and extraordinary leave, the maximum period in each case, for which full salary can be drawn, being three months ;

(ii) when privilege leave of over six weeks in duration is taken by itself, an interval of eighteen months must elapse between the return to duty and departure on furlough other than furlough on medical certificate ;

(iii) the restriction defined in (ii) will not apply to leave on medical certificate, furlough on medical certificate, special leave on urgent private affairs, leave on private affairs, or extraordinary leave;

(iv) when privilege leave is combined with furlough, the amount of the combined leave must not exceed two years;

(v) when privilege leave is combined with special leave on urgent private affairs, or with leave on private affairs, the amount of the combined leave must not exceed six months;

(vi) when privilege leave is combined with any other kind of leave, the combined leave must be for not less than six months;

(vii) the periods mentioned in (iv), (v) and (vi) will count from the beginning of the privilege leave to the end (under the ordinary rules) of the leave with which it is combined;

(viii) officers to whom privilege leave under the ordinary rules and conditions is inadmissible under article 306, Civil Service Regulations, will be allowed to combine vacations with long leave (either at the beginning or end thereof) on the same conditions as those on which other officers are allowed to combine privilege leave.

(ix) the rule that privilege leave allowances are not payable out of India will apply in the case of privilege leave combined with other leave.

The effect of these changes will be, the Governor General in Council anticipates, to cause a material reduction in the number of transfers, and His Excellency in Council trusts that the manner in which it has been determined to give compensation for the imposition of the restriction on the taking of furlough after the enjoyment of accumulated privilege leave will be appreciated by the members of the different services. The concessions now sanctioned in regard to privilege leave are of an important character, and the Governor General in Council notifies that, should it at any time be found undesirable to continue them, they may be withdrawn without claims to compensation being recognized. It is unlikely that the introduction of the new rules will affect many members of the services injuriously, but, should a Local Government or Administration consider that the restriction that furlough may not be taken until the expiry of eighteen months after return to duty will operate with hardship or with inconvenience to the public interests in respect of any particular officer who takes accumulated privilege leave by itself before October 1, 1901, the Governor General in Council will be prepared to consider a proposal to relax the restriction in the individual case.

6. While the Government of India consider that these changes in the leave rules must operate to reduce the number of transfers which at present take place, they are convinced, as Lord Ripon's Government were in 1882, that many unnecessary transfers are caused by the manner in which the rules regarding the grant of leave are worked. The Governor General in Council therefore desires to supplement the announcement regarding the changes in the leave rules by directions to the Local Governments and Administrations as to other methods of reducing transfers. The Governor General in Council has already referred to the instructions in the Resolution of 7th September 1882, which have not, His Excellency in Council regrets, been always fully regarded. In accordance with the decision come to in 1882, it was provided in article 220 (b) of the Civil Service Regulations that the Local Government may refuse to grant the full amount of leave applied for in any case, and should, by the exercise of this power, so regulate the date of an officer's return from leave as to cause as little change as possible in administrative arrangements. In the opinion of the Government of India, unnecessary transfers can be reduced if Local Governments and Administrations generally will show less hesitation, whenever they anticipate difficulty in providing an officer with a suitable appointment on return from the full amount of leave for which he asks, in requiring him to return after the interval which may best suit the interests of the public service. The provision of the rules that no [illegible] returning from ordinary furlough or special leave retains a lien, not on the actual appointment held by him before departure on leave, but on an appointment of like character and not less pay, and that he retains no lien on an acting appointment (article 240, Civil Service Regulations), should also be steadily kept in view.

7. The Governor General in Council also considers it essential that Local Governments and Administrations should follow more fully in practice the principle that transfers must not be made to meet the private wishes of officers. The removal of an officer from one charge to another at his own request should only be allowed when it can be made with the certainty that the public interest will not suffer therefrom.

8. Another cause, in the opinion of the Government of India, of increase in the number of transfers is the rigid and unjustifiable adherence to the principle that every vacancy, for however short a time, must be given to the next senior officer unless he is unfit for promotion. The application of this rule multiplies transfers in several ways. An officer is often brought from a long distance to the exclusion of one on the spot who may be only his junior by a short period of service. Again, the supposed claim of a senior officer holding a less eligible appointment of similar duties to be transferred to a more eligible charge in place of a junior is constantly recognized, with the result that two transfers are made when one only is necessary. A third way in which this practice increases transfers is by the appointment (which is not in accordance with the principle laid down in article 240, Civil Service Regulations) of an officer to act in a higher appointment on return from leave in place of a competent junior appointed to officiate in that appointment when he himself was absent on leave. The Government of India cannot approve of transfers made in circumstances such as these, and trust that no countenance will be given to them in future.

9. Article 119, Civil Service Regulations, provides that, as a general rule, the duties of an officer absent on privilege leave should be discharged by another officer in the same station, and that the transfer of an officer from another station to act in consequence of the absence of an officer on privilege leave will only be allowed in exceptional cases. This article is constantly disregarded in practice, owing to the difficulty of making adequate local arrangements when the amount of privilege leave taken amounts to three months or nearly three months. As a measure supplementary to the above instructions, the Government of India will amend this article so as to make the requirement as regards the appointment of an officer, who is serving in the same station, to officiate in a vacancy caused by the departure of an officer on privilege leave of not more than six weeks stricter than it is at present. The Governor General in Council is of opinion that, except in the case of offices for which special qualifications are required, such as those of Heads of Departments, the Secretariat and the higher Judicial offices and certain Medical appointments, it should rarely be necessary to appoint an officer to officiate, during a privilege leave vacancy of not more than six weeks, who is not already serving in the same district either at headquarters or at some sub-divisional outpost. In the case of appointments held by members of the Indian Civil Service or of a Commission, if a member of that Service or Commission is not available, an officer of the Provincial Service on the spot can hold charge for this short period, in accordance with the rules published under Home Department Notification No. 2159, dated the 2nd November 1892. To ensure compliance with this regulation, His Excellency in Council directs that quarterly lists showing and explaining all cases in which the above principle has not been followed in respect of absences on privilege leave of not more than six weeks shall in future be submitted to the appropriate Department of the Government of India. The Government of India further direct that, when a vacancy is caused by the absence of an officer on privilege leave of more than six weeks, his place should also, if possible, as the rule already provides, be filled by an officer serving in the same district. The Government of India admit that this is not always feasible, but it should be done oftener than has hitherto been the case. By these means the Governor General in Council hopes that transfers on account of vacancies due to privilege leave will be substantially reduced, and that it will become a general practice for members of the Indian Civil Service and the better paid officers under the European Service Leave Rules to accumulate their privilege leave and combine it with furlough. By this process the vacancies in important offices should gradually cease to be for less than six months.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Departments of the Government of India; and to Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

(FAMINE.)

Return of the number of persons in receipt of relief in districts affected by scarcity.

OTE.—The figures are compiled from returns obtained from Local Governments and Political Officers, and give the corrected District details of the ıcial totals published weekly in the Crop and Weather Summary of the Gazette of India.
on-labouring children and other dependants of relief workers are classed as on relief works when distinguished in the local returns from persons ously relieved in poor-houses or at their homes. Weavers relieved in their own trade are shown under "Gratuitous Relief."
he dates at the head of the table are the dates of the Gazette of India in which the Provincial totals were published. The figures, however, actually he numbers on relief in each preceding week.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 22nd May, 1900.

TELEGRAMS FOR THE TROOPS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

No. 9.—The following revised notification is published for general information :—

Until further notice, State and Private telegrams in plain language addressed to persons serving with the Field Force in South Africa will be accepted at Sender's risk, and charged for at the rate of Rs 1-8 per word from offices in India or Burma. Telegrams in Code or Cypher cannot be accepted at this reduced rate. The address should consist of the following :—

(1) The name, or number, or both of the person to whom the telegram is addressed (in the case of officers the rank may be omitted, and in the case of telegrams for Non-Commissioned Officers and men the name may, in like manner, be omitted if the number is given. Such [illegible] however, add to the risk [illegible] going astray, more [illegible] essed to Non- of the telegram [illegible] and men), especially when addre[illegible] Commissioned Officers [illegible] respe[illegible] and

(2) The Regiment (this will be counted and charged for as one word irrespective of the number of words used).

These telegrams should be addressed "Bombay for South Africa" (which words will be signalled free), and not to any particular Telegraph Office in South Africa. The Bombay Telegraph Office will forward them to the Officer Commanding at Capetown, who will deliver them to the Addressees at whatever place in South Africa they may be stationed.

Senders of telegrams should accurately describe the Regiment, Battalion, Battery or Corps, to which the Addressees are attached, as it appears in the "Army List." For example: the address of an Officer or Private in the "Rifles" should give the number of the Battalion, and make it quite clear whether it is a Battalion of the "Rifle Brigade," the "King's Royal Rifle Corps," the "Royal Irish Rifles," or the "Scottish Rifles (Cameronians)."

The reduced rate will also apply to telegrams addressed to members of the Nursing Staff serving in South Africa, and any telegrams addressed to a Nurse will be treated in the same way as those intended for soldiers and sailors.

Telegrams for officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men in South Africa who are known to be suffering from wounds or sickness may be addressed to them as if they were with their regiment or corps. Such telegrams, on arrival at the place where the regiment or corps is stationed, will be redirected to the proper hospital.

When, however, the name of the hospital is known to the sender of the message, he may address the telegram direct to that hospital, e.g., "Field Hospital, 1st Cavalry Brigade," or to "No. 2 General Hospital" or to "Mooi Hospital."

In any case, the telegram should, as already stated, be addressed by the sender to "Bombay for South Africa," which words will not be charged for.

The following are given as examples of addresses and counting :—

"Captain Armstrong, 64th Royal Field Artillery, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "Captain Armstrong, Wynberg Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303 Murphy, 2nd Battalion, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Bombay for South Africa" (three words); "7303, Mooi River Hospital, Bombay for South Africa" (two words).

II. Notification No. 5, dated the 8th May, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

The 5th December, 1900.

No. 37.—The British Government announces that the transmission of Private telegrams for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, viâ Cape Colony and Natal, is now suspended.

Telegrams for Pretoria, Johannesburg, Vereeniging, Germiston, Middelburg, Heidelberg, and Standerton are, meanwhile, being accepted for transmission, viâ Lourenco Marques, at the usual rates. These telegrams should be written in plain English and will be accepted only at the risk of the sender. They are also subject to censorship and to delay in transmission.

[illegible] the 13th December, 1900.

Calcutta [illegible] revised notification is

No. 39.—The following [illegible] published for general information :—

The Post Master General, London, announces that the British Government have decided to suspend at Aden and the Cape of Good Hope the transmission of all telegrams in code or cipher, whether of foreign Governments or private persons, to or from British Central Africa, St. Helena and Ascension. Telegrams in plain language are subject to censorship, and can only be accepted at the risk of the sender.

Code messages for the following places, viz., Cape Colony, Natal, Rhodesia, Zanzibar, Seychelles, Mauritius, Madagascar, British and German East Africa, Mozambique and Lourenço Marques may, however, be accepted, if the words used are in one, or other, of the following Code Books, which have been deposited with the authorities at Aden, viz. :—

(1) A B C (4th edition).
(2) A Z.
(3) Scott's (9th edition).
(4) A 1.
(5) Telegraphenschlüssel of W. Staudt and O. Hundius (published by Julius Springer at Berlin).
(6) The Mercuat Code (2nd edition), enlarged and revised, with the First Supplement.
(7) Broomhall's Comprehensive Cipher Code.
(8) Western Union Telegraphic Code and International Cable Directory, Universal Edition, 1900.
(9) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1898.
(10) Atlantic Cable Directory of registered addresses and Directory Code, 1900.
(11) Watkins' Telegraphic Code with Appendix (7th edition), 1900.

(12) International Mercantile Telegraph Code (Meyer), 1880.

(13) The General, Commercial and Mining Telegram Code, 1897, by C. A. Moreing and F. C. McCutcheon.

Telegrams should be endorsed to the effect that the words used actually represent the corresponding expressions given in the above-named Code Books.

As delays occur at Aden in consequence of the difficulty of determining which code has been employed, senders of telegrams to the abovenamed places in East Africa should write on the message draft the name of the code employed. For instance A B C; A Z; Scott's; A 1; Staudt; Mercuur; Broomhall's; Directory; Atlantic, 1898; Atlantic, 1900; Watkins; Meyer; or McCutcheon. This information will be included in the "Official Instructions" and transmitted free of charge.

II. Notification No. 36, dated the 29th November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

No. 39-A.—In the event of the establishment in British India of a censorship over telegrams, the first twelve Code Books mentioned in Notification No. 39, dated the 13th of December, 1900, will be used in India for purposes similar to that for which they are employed in Aden.

The public are recommended to provide themselves with such of the codes as may appear suited to their requirements.

The 31st January, 1901.

TELEGRAMS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE BRITISH AND INDIAN FORCES IN CHINA.

No. 43.—The following revised Notification is issued for general information:—

Until further notice, private telegrams, in plain language, for members of the British or Indian Military and Naval Forces in China, from their friends in India or Burma will be accepted at sender's risk and at the reduced rates mentioned below to the three following stations only, vid Madras:—

1. To Shanghai at R 0-15-0 per word.
2. „ Weihaiwei „ 1-3-0 „
3. „ Taku - - „ 1-4-0 „

In the Official Instructions the words "Reduced Rates" should be inserted, and will be signalled free.

Telegrams intended for Military or Naval members stationed at Hongkong should be addressed to Shanghai, and those for members stationed at Tientsin or Pekin should be addressed to Taku. These reduced rates will also apply to telegrams for Civilians in Military or Naval employ in China.

In the address the name and number of the Regiment, Battalion, Battery, or Corps will be counted and charged for as one word, irrespective of the number of words used. For instance, in a telegram addressed to "Capt. Brown, 23rd Field Battery, Royal Artillery, Shanghai," the number of words to be charged for will be four only, instead of eight words, as usual.

II. Notification No. 34, dated the 22nd November, 1900, is hereby cancelled.

Note.—(1) All Sundays in the year.

(2) In English and Vernacular Offices where there are no arrears of work, the last Saturday in every month may be observed as a holiday.

(3) The last day of every month will be observed as a holiday in the Treasury Office, Ajmer, instead of the last Saturday.

(4) Mahomedan holidays depend on the moon's being visible and fall on the day following that event.

(5) With regard to Hindu holidays on account of eclipses of the sun or the moon, those for the former are granted for the day on which the eclipse occurs and those for the latter for the day following. This year there will be two eclipses of the moon on the 3rd May, 1901, Friday, and on the 27th October, 1901, Sunday, and one solar eclipse, on the 11th November, 1901, Monday. The resulting holidays will be observed on the 4th May, 1901, the 28th October, 1901, and the 11th November, 1901, respectively.

(6) Local holidays may be granted for great festivals or fairs at the discretion of the Commissioner, when there are no arrears of work.

(7) The Civil Court vacation commences on the 1st of August, 1901, and ends on the 30th September 1901. No fresh suits shall during that period be instituted unless they be of an urgent character, but the Court will be open for the purpose of clearing up cases instituted before the 15th July and for disposal of any urgent work.

By order,

E. H. BLAKESLEY,

First Assistant to the Agent to the Governor General, Rajputana and Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 5th January, 1901.

In exercise of the powers conferred under section 102 (c) of the Bangalore Municipal Law of 1897, the Municipal Commission for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore have made the following Bye-law, and the same having been confirmed by the Honourable the Resident in Mysore as required by section 139, it is hereby notified for public information under section 180 (3) of the said law:—

Chapter III—continued.

Sanitation and other purposes.

Bye-Law Transport of Carcasses from Municipal. Slaughter-houses.

Bangalore Municipal Law, section 102 (c).

1. All mutton and beef carcasses shall be conveyed from the slaughter-houses to the markets and to different retail shops in the Municipal carts, or private carts of the approved Municipal pattern.

2. There shall be separate carts for beef and mutton carcasses.

3. A fee of 3 pies for each sheep carcass and 9 pies for each beef carcass shall be charged for each conveyance in carts belonging to the Municipal Commission.

4. The fee for conveying carcasses shall be paid to the Veterinary Inspector immediately after the arrivals are examined and passed by him.

5. The owner or his servant shall be present at the slaughter-houses at 5-30 A.M., and shall hand over the carcasses to the Veterinary Inspector, who shall give him a receipt for the same. The owner or his servant shall be present to receive the carcasses at the place of delivery, and shall return to the driver of the cart the receipt given to him at the slaughter-house.

6. The owner shall take the responsibility for miscarriage or injury to any carcass or carcasses.

7. All carts for the conveyance of meat shall be present at the slaughter-house daily at 5-30 A.M., and all meat shall be delivered at the markets before 7 A.M., and at the retail shops before 7-30 A.M.

8. All carts for conveying meat shall be washed and cleansed once every day.

9. Whoever fails to comply with the above Bye-law shall be liable, on conviction, before a Magistrate, to a fine not exceeding ₹20.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876 :—

Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta. Remittances to be forwarded to the Accountant and Treasurer, Bengal Secretariat, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta.

All the wanting parts of the INDIAN LAW REPORTS (complete series) having now been reprinted, the complete Reports from 1876 to 1893 may be purchased for all the years, or for any particular year, on application to the Officer in charge of the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt.

The subscription, R22-8 per annum, should be remitted in advance to the Accountant and Treasurer, Bengal Secretariat.

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that subscriptions to the complete series of the Indian Law Reports should be registered during the first three months of each calendar year. Subscribers are therefore requested to send in their subscriptions of the complete series before the 31st March in each year. Those who register their names after that date will understand that copies will be supplied only if available.

DEATH OF HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN-EMPRESS.

Hon'ble Members having taken their seats, His Excellency THE PRESIDENT addressed them as follows:—

"Here, at this table, where we are met to exercise the legislative powers, for the benefit of the people of India, that have been devolved upon us by the Crown of Great Britain, we ought not, I think, to meet today without paying such tribute of humble respect as is open to us to the memory of the great and good Sovereign who has worn that Crown for nearly two-thirds of a century, and now, in the fulness of years and honour, has passed away. The British Empire has had no such Queen, gracious, wise, dignified, symbolising all that was most enlightened and progressive in her time, of pure and stainless life. India, in its long cycles, has had no such Empress, tender-hearted, large-minded, just, humane, the loving parent of her subjects of every race and clime. All the Princes of India have been proud to own their fealty to so noble an example of sovereignty, and the hearts of all the Indian peoples have been drawn together by this singular and beautiful combination of mother, woman, and queen. Those of us who, in any official capacity, either here or elsewhere, have served Her Majesty have felt it to be our proudest distinction that it was her warrant that we acknowledged, her Empire that we were engaged in safeguarding, her example that inspired us. Whether we are young or old, we shall none of us ever forget that we were honoured by wearing the uniform of Queen Victoria.

"It would be easy for me to say much about the mark that this marvellous reign has left upon the history of India, and to indicate, at many points, the sagacious hand and influence of the deceased Sovereign. But perhaps the present occasion is not the best for such a purpose, while, after all, are not all her reign and character, in their relation to this country, summed up in the famous Proclamation of 1858, the Magna Carta of India, the golden guide to our conduct and aspirations?

"It has been the fashion in history to designate some Sovereigns by the distinguishing attributes of their personality or reign. Thus we have read of the Great, the Conqueror, the Just, the Lion-hearted, the Saintly, the Strong. Should it ever be desired to find such an appellation for the late Queen, it would be admitted by all that she deserves pre-eminently to be called by the title which she herself, I believe, gave to her own husband, namely, the Good. It is the virtue of her character, and the benignity of her influence, that her people have admired, quite as much as, if not more than, the splendour of the Victorian Era, or the unequalled glory of her reign. If blame or reproach ever fell upon her country, no shadow of it touched herself. She was above all, as well as over all. She set an example not merely to Courts and nations, but to every human hearth; and at every hearthstone in the Empire is the feeling not merely that a great monarch is dead, but that a bright and beautiful ray has been extinguished.

"Nowhere, I am convinced, in the wide orbit of the British Empire is there a more genuine sorrow, or a more profound sense of loss, than in India today. We are truly a nation in mourning. During the past ten days, many hundreds of telegrams and letters have poured in upon me testifying to the grief of communities and individuals. The newspapers have been full of similar evidence. All these records tell the same tale. They speak of the simple emotions that spring from the heart, of the sadness with which, even when it is a throne that is left vacant, men gaze upon the parting sail 'that sinks with all we love below the verge.'

"And yet the occasion is not one for lamentation only. We may mingle a sense of pride and of gratitude with our tears. For the Queen's life was extended far beyond the normal span. It had covered four-fifths of one century, and had crossed the threshold of another. Nature seemed for a while to have relaxed its inexorable laws in her favour, and in extreme old age, even to the end, she retained the freshness, the warmth of affections, and the energy of youth. In her more than eighty years of life, she had represented, as no other living man or woman, the higher aspects of the spirit of the age. She had shared in its trials—indeed had borne more than her portion of them—had steadied its impulses, and had sympathised with its struggles and hopes. There was left to her no public or private duty undone, no glory unattained. It may be said of her that she turned Great Britain into a world-wide Empire, with India as its corner-stone. If a part of the result is to be attributed to the statesmen who met at her Council, and part also to the movement of those unseen forces which are beyond human control, it yet remains true that her ministers were as often guided by her as she was by them, and that it was her personality and character, and the devotion which they excited that gave to those forces the direction which they assumed. And so, having summed up in her own career the aims and achievements of the Nineteenth Century, she has now, in the very hour of the dawn of its successor, been relieved of the burden, and has handed on the trust to others. The British Empire, and the entire world, may count themselves fortunate if the new century produces any figure at all comparable with the central and shining figure of the old.

"I propose, as a mark of respect, that this Council should not proceed further with its business this morning, but should stand adjourned until this day week."

The Council accordingly adjourned to Friday, the 8th February, 1901.

CALCUTTA;
The 1st February, 1901.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India,
Legislative Department.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 19th January, 1901.

Weather conditions were very disturbed in North-West and Central India during the first-half of the week, due to a depression which entered Sind on the last day of the previous week and advanced into Rajputana on Sunday. The primary depression was accompanied by a secondary in the Punjab in which pressure was in large defect. Unusually heavy rain and snow was received in the North-West Himalayas and rain in the plains of the North-West Punjab. Cherat reported a very heavy fall of 4·21 inches, Murree of 3·50 inches, and Rawalpindi of 2·75 inches, while falls of about one inch had been recorded at Peshawar, Khushab and Minimarg. Showers had also fallen in Sind, Central India and parts of the North-Western Provinces. In addition to the depressions in Rajputana and the Punjab a low pressure area was shown lying over the Gulf of Cambay on Saturday which drifted into Berar and the adjacent districts on Sunday, giving showers in Bombay and the Central Provinces, the most important falls being 1·13 inches at Hoshangabad and 1·01 inches at Saugor. The depressions travelled slowly eastwards during the next 24 hours and gave general rain in the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, the west and central districts of the Central Provinces, Berar, the Bombay Deccan, Rajputana and Central India, and rain and snow continued in the North-West Himalayas. The precipitation was again unusually heavy for this time of the year, Chakrata reporting 2·84 inches, Mussooree 2·25 inches, Simla 1·71 inches, and Bahraich, Meerut, Roorkee, Dehra Dun, Lahore, Sialkot, Ranikhet, Murree, Ahmednagar, Amraoti and Pachmarhi amounts ranging from one to one and a half inches. The depression in the Punjab broke up in the Simla and Mussooree hills during the day and a rapid to very rapid rise of the barometer occurred in North-West India, the rise exceeding three-tenths of an inch at several stations in the Punjab. The depression passing through Rajputana had advanced to the south-east of the North-Western Provinces, and the depression in the Central Provinces was shown lying over the eastern districts, but both depressions had partly filled up and were no longer of any importance. Rain and snow had again fallen in the Upper India hills during the previous 24 hours and rain had been general in the East Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, West Bengal, the east of Central India and the western and central districts of the Central Provinces, the most important falls reported being 2·16 inches at Chakrata, 1·63 inches at Ranikhet and Mussooree, 1·13 inches at Dehra Dun and Benares and 1·11 inches at Gorakhpur but with the filling up of the depressions in the North-Western and Central Provinces skies cleared and fine weather set in over nearly the whole of Northern and Central India and only a few light showers were reported on Wednesday from stations in North Bengal and Bihar.

On Wednesday the barometer fell briskly in Gujarat and another depression was shown over the Gulf of Cambay which drifted in an easterly direction into Berar and the adjoining districts of the Central Provinces on Thrusday, but it gave no rain till next day when it advanced into the east of the Central Provinces and Ganjam and intensified slightly. Showers were reported on Friday from the east of the Central Provinces, Chota Nagpur, Orissa and Lower Bengal, Chaibassa receiving 1·25 inches, Balasore 1·13 inches, and False Point 1·10 inches, and light showers on Saturday from Bengal, Assam, Orissa, Ganjam and Upper Burma. These showers were partly due to unsettled conditions introduced by a fall of the barometer and the formation of a low pressure area along the Eastern Himalayas.

On Saturday the barometer fell briskly to rapidly in Baluchistan, the Punjab and Sind, and a shallow depression was entering Sind from Baluchistan.

Rain.—Rain has been fairly general over the whole country and has been heaviest in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab. The only divisions in which no rain has fallen are Tenasserim, Lower and Central Burma, Arakan, Malabar Coast, Kathiawar, Hyderabad (south) and Central Madras The average fall of the division has exceeded two inches in the hills division of the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab Hills and the North Punjab.

The largest amounts received at individual stations during the week are: —

		inches.
N.-W. Provinces	Najibabad	5·43
	Chakrata	4·61
Punjab	Nawashahr	4·60
	Una	4·37
	Murree	7·60
	Abbottabad	4·73
Berar	Pimpalgaon Raja	4·56

The last three columns of the table at the end show that the rainfall of the period, December 30th to January 19th, was equal to or in excess of the normal over the whole country, except in Lower, Central and Upper Burma, and Coorg. No rain has fallen in Tenasserim and Kathiawar, but the normal rainfall of the period of these divisions is also nil.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 26th January, 1901.

Madras.—The rainfall was moderate in Tinnevelly, Coimbatore and the Nilgiris, light in parts of the Carnatic and the southern districts, and none elsewhere. Water supplies are insufficient for irrigation in parts of the Deccan, the Carnatic and the central districts. Ploughing, sowing, transplanting and weeding are in progress. Standing crops are generally fair, but are fading in parts of Cuddapah, the Carnatic, North Arcot and Salem. Pasture and fodder are generally available. Cattle are in normal condition. Prices are stationary or slightly easier, though rice continues above scarcity rates in Kistna, and dry staples in Cuddapah, North Arcot and Salem. Prospects are generally fair but are not encouraging in Cuddapah, North Arcot and Salem. Weavers relieved—Cuddapah—1,651 men and 1,301 women.

Bombay.—Very slight rain fell in parts of Karachi during the week. Harvesting of autumn crops is still progressing in parts of Thar and Parkar, Broach, Surat, Khandesh and the Karnatak. Threshing is nearly over in Kolaba and is in progress in parts of Sindh. Agricultural prospects are good in Sindh, fair to good in the Konkan, and parts of Surat, Broach, Khandesh, Nasik, Poona and Belgaum, and generally moderate to poor elsewhere. Young spring crops have been damaged by locusts or other insects in parts of Sindh, and are generally suffering from want of moisture, except in irrigated lands. Preparation of lands for next season has been commenced in parts of Nasik, Poona and Belgaum. The fodder supply is generally sufficient, but is scanty in parts of Sholapur and the Karnatak. Agricultural stock is in good condition but is deteriorating in parts of Bijapur. The water supply is getting scanty in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Belgaum and Dharwar. Prices have fallen in seven districts, risen in three districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is slightly over normal and, compared with the corresponding week of 1900, is easier. The price of bajri is below normal in Gujarat, and considerably over normal in the Konkan, the Karnatak and the Deccan, though much easier than in 1900. The price of juar is about normal in Gujarat, and considerably over normal elsewhere, and, compared with 1900, is considerably easier in Gujarat, and slightly easier elsewhere. The price of wheat is over normal in Gujarat, and the Konkan, and about double normal elsewhere, but is slightly easier than in 1900 in Gujarat, and about the same in the Deccan, the Konkan and the Karnatak.

Daily average numbers on relief—British Districts—on test works, 392; on relief works, 119,866; dependants, 23,730; total on works, 143,988. In poor-houses, 2,960; on village relief, 28,124; total on gratuitous relief, 31,084. Figures for Nasik are incomplete. Native States—on relief works, 9,640; dependants, 3,427; total on relief works, 13,067. In poor-houses, 1,052; on village relief, 903; total on gratuitous relief, 1,955. Figures for Daphlapur and Mudhol are incomplete. Grand total, 190,094.

Bengal.—Practically no rain has fallen during the week, except light showers in Murshidabad, Darjeeling, Mymensingh, Sonthal Parganas and Angul. The winter rice is nearly all harvested and is now being threshed. The pressing of sugarcane still continues. The prospects of spring crops, poppy and other cold weather crops are generally good. Rain is wanted in Nadia, Bogra, Faridpur and Noakhali. There is no want of fodder anywhere. The price of common rice has fallen in 10 districts, risen in 19 and is stationary in the rest (17).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather is generally clear. Spring crops are flourishing, but wheat has been slightly damaged by rust in a few districts. Sugarcane pressing and preparation of land for extra crops are progressing. Poppy is being weeded. Prospects are good, markets well stocked, fodder ample, and prices almost stationary.

Punjab.—Rain has fallen in Umballa, Jullundur, Multan and parts of Karnal, Shahpur and Rawalpindi. A slight fall is also reported from one tahsil in Hissar and in the Lahore District. Prices of wheat are generally stationary; they are rising in Amritsar and Rawalpindi, and are falling in Multan and Dera Ismail Khan. The prices of other food staples are unsettled. Sugarcane pressing continues in Jullundur, Lahore, Amritsar and Sialkot. Extra spring crops are being sown in Umballa and Shahpur. The condition and prospects of standing crops are said to be satisfactory. The outturn of sugarcane is reported above average in Sialkot. Sunshine is needed for standing crops in Umballa. The Sidhnai Canal in Multan is still flowing. The wheat crop on light soils in one tahsil of Umballa has been attacked with rust, and the grain crop in the same district has also suffered from stagnant rain water. Cattle are generally in good condition. Pasturage is said to be sufficient in all districts, except parts of Multan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Reaping is approaching completion and threshing and winnowing are progressing. The estimated average outturn is normal. UPPER BURMA.—Reaping of wet weather paddy is nearly completed and sowing of dry weather paddy in most places continues. Cultivation of miscellaneous crops on islands is progressing, while reaping of juar and sesamum still continues in parts. Portions of the crops in the Taungdwin and Myothit townships of the Magwe district have been damaged by floods and rats, and in the Yeu Sub-division of the Shwebo district sesamum is suffering from want of rain. The condition of crops, on the whole, though, is good. The price of paddy is unchanged except in Meiktila, where it has largely gone up.

Central Provinces.—The weather is occasionally cloudy and is cool. Crop prospects are generally good. Insects continue to cause damage to pulse and linseed in parts. Cotton picking, threshing of rice and reaping of juar are reaching completion. Reaping of wheat has been commenced in parts of Bhandara. Sowing of the second rice crop is completed in the Sirongha tahsil of the Chanda district. Reaping of tur has been commenced in Nimar. Pressing of sugarcane is in progress in Bhandara and Sambalpur. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices on the whole show a tendency to rise. The cheapest prices are wheat 12¼, gram 14, rice 14½ and juar 20 seers per rupee. Juar is selling at 21¾ seers per rupee in the Multai tahsil of the Betul district. The dearest prices are wheat 7½, gram 8, rice 8½ and juar 13⅔ seers per rupee. There are 18 persons still on relief in the Saugor poor-house.
